A Jew Reading the Bible at Midnight.

Who is it communes with the pure spirit-book
By dreamy taper flame, in forlorn nook,
Like wizard worn at ghostly watch of night,
Conjuring lorn shadow-realms with muttering rite,
By magic light?
And what mean those deep trenches on his brow?
Furrows of grief are they, which God's love-plough,
That joy of harvest sows,
Did cross, bruise, break and channel,
then sowed therein
Sweet thoughts, of charm to numb the world's gray sin?
What! A new crucifixion?
Or, are those hollows on his night-touched front,
Dark caves that hint of Fagin's fearful haunt,
Or Shylock's hoarded affliction?
O, riddle dark! O, wonder great!
O, human heart well versed in hate!
(The Devil's book,
That envy-green doth look.)
How long wilt thou not understand?
How long suspect and shun, outlaw,
And crucify your truest friend?
Oh, how long foul the fount whence drink you draw?
Vain man, enough! Cease, shadow-life to fire
Thy scanty breath in raging Hatred's fire.
Cease, Babel tongues, wild Discord's brood,
To read God's Single, Eternal Mind, and Good,
In many a mortal-tortured Jargon mood.
Go satisfy your eyes with Heaven's blue
And do the pleasant things God bids you do.
Go, Power, whet thy victor sword
And triumph (know there waits reward),
Triumph in the strong cause of the just and powerless;
Go, Honor, thy white crown of pride adorn,
Adorn with saved souls of the honorless,
Indifferent men, and those that sowed to scorn.
Go, all deck ye with Love's, Love's primal beauty,
Such as the lilies waking to sweet duty,
At the young hope of morn.

In The Jewish World.

There are in Germany fifty lodges of the Order of B'nai Berith.

The Jewish Aid Society of Claire, Wis., about 50 in number, held their annual picnic at Lake Hallie last week.

Mrs. Nettie McCormick, of Chicago, has given $30,000, to be used in endowing a fellowship for the highest scholarship in Hebrew.

Rev. Dr. Stolnetz, of Los Angeles, Cal., has been elected Rabbi at Orange, N. J., to succeed Rev. George Bergman, resigned.

The annual outing of the Helping Hand Home for destitute Jewish children of Boston, Mass., was held at Oak Island Grove last week.

"The Jewish Surgical Hospital Bed" is to be endowed at the Knowlton Hospital, 830 Sycamore street, by the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Milwaukee.

A movement is recently inaugurated towards the reorganization of the United Brothers of Holyoke, Mass. The eventual result of this revival, will be, it is expected, the purchase next Fall of a suitable site for the proposed synagogue, which will be erected subsequently and the transfer of the cemetery about which there has been some legal trouble.

Under the title of "The Biggest school on Earth," the New Penny Magazine for August contains an interesting illustrated account of the Jews' Free School, Ball Lane, Spitalfields.

The Columbian Council School of Pittsburgh, a charitable Hebrew organization, took out two hundred children from the tenement district on the hill to Monongahela City on board the steamer Elizabeth.

A summer school for instruction in Hebrew and religion has recently been opened in Harrisburgh, Pa. The school is in charge of a well-known pedagogue and a large number of pupils are in attendance.

The Government will hereafter limit the number of Jewish students in Russian universities to 8 per cent. of the total number of students, except in the University of Moscow, where they are entirely prohibited.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association recently organized at Plainfield, N. J., have made application for a charter. Steps have also been taken toward the furnishing of the room and the installation of a library.

Leon Salzedo, a youth of sixteen, son of the director of the choir at the Portuguese Synagogue in Paris, has carried off a double prize at the Conservatoire of Music, viz: the first prize for harp, and the first prize for piano.

The late German Chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, was always intent upon doing justice to the Jews. At the Berlin Congress in 1878, in which he took part as a delegate, he intervened in favor of the Jews in the Balkan principalities.

Roumania would appear the most illiterate country in Europe. The last census shows that, in a population of 6,000,000 nearly 4,000,000 can neither read nor write, and that only a little over 1,000,000 have any education at all.

Two more promotions of Jews in the Legion of Honor, both to the grade of Officer, are announced. They are M. Naphtalie Polack, Secretary of the State Railways of France, and M. Salomon Halfon, Administrator of the General Transatlantic Steamship Company.

Managers of Jewish theatres in Chicago and New York are about to lock horns, and the prospects are bright for Yiddish actors in the coming season.

The actors are said to be holding out until the last minute, and have delayed signing contracts for the season, preferring to await the outcome of the managers' battle.

The work of tearing down the old Jewish temple of Pine Bluff, Ark., has been progressing steadily and the workmen are nearing the foundation. By Saturday morning at 9 o'clock they expect to be down as far as the cornerstone and it will be an interesting proceeding. The temple was one of the oldest buildings in town and the cornerstone, no doubt, contains some interesting bits of history.

M. Bauer, Professor of Philosophy at the College in Langres, and Dr. Rene Worms, Professor at the Faculty of Law at Caen, have received from the Academie des Sciences Morale et Politiques the Bordier prizes of 1,000 and 1,500 francs respectively, for their work on the methods, to be applied in the study of sociology.

The work of building the new synagogue of the Russian Jewish congregation at 22d street and Third avenue, Rock Island, Ill., has been begun. The building will cost about $7,000, and it is the purpose to have the structure finished in time for the approaching holidays. The building will be 30x70 feet in dimension.

A committee of Pittsburgh Hebrews recently called upon Recorder Brown, complaining that the Hebrews of the Ninth Ward are being harrassed and ill-treated by a gang of loafers and many of them are struck by thrown missiles and badly cut by stones and sticks thrown by a crowd of loafers.

At the elections in France for the Councils General several Jews were successful, among them M. Schwob, Mayor of Hericourt, and M. Edmond Halphen, re-elected, and M. Jean Javal, who takes the place of his father, Dr. Javal, M. Joseph Reinach, the ex-Deputy, did not seek re-election.

The Standard Club in Detroit, which has been a prominent Jewish social organization for three years, will probably disband about Sept. 1st. The reason given is simply a lack of interest and a matter of dollars and cents. The charter members numbered 90, but active membership has fallen to 47, and many of these show but little interest.

Herr Isaac Mautner, the founder and head of the firm bearing his name, one of the most important in textile fabrics in Bohemia, has died at Nachod at the age of seventy-eight. The firm, which was established in 1848, has more than 3,000 mechanical looms at work. In Hungary the house established the Hungarian Textile Company, which is one of the greatest in the country.

The trustees of the Division Street Synagogue, Troy, N. Y., are making preparations for a big fair to be given next January for the purpose of raising funds to build a school in connection with the temple. The school will in all probability be built as an addition to the synagogue which is situated on Division street, near River street. The Mayor will be invited to open the fair, there will be certain nights for each of the Jewish societies and synagogues.

The Madison (Ind.) Herald says: "Our Hebrew fellow-citizen, Mr. Raphael Sulzer, is to-day celebrating his 82d birthday anniversary. For fifty-one years he has been a merchant of this city and in all those years he has been a highly respected and esteemed citizen, whose children are among the leaders in business and professional circles, an honor as well to the community as to their gray-haired, kind-hearted, venerable sire."

Mrs. Samuel Lewis, of Grosvenor Square, has, in memory of her husband, made a munificent gift to the Royal Academy of Music. She has founded fifteen scholarships—open and free—for the encouragement of musical talent among British-born subjects.

Mrs. Samuel Lewis has also presented the site for the new extension of the Passmore Edwards Sailors' Palace, which, by permission of the Queen, is to be named the Alexandra Wing.

Dr. Ferdinand Gaspary, a distinguished mathematician, died in Berlin at the age of forty eight. It was the tragedy of his life that he was never appointed to a Chair at a German University, to which he was fully entitled by his great ability. He published important works in scientific journals, and in 1894 he took part in the scientific undertakings which were carried out by the well-known firm of Siemens and Halske.

The important lecture on the Jews of China, delivered by Mr. Marcus N. Adler, last session, at Jews' College of London, and printed in the Jewish Quarterly Review, was translated into Hebrew by Mr. Ephraim Segall for the Hamelitz of Wilna. This translation will now be published in pamphlet form. In an appendix appears the text of the letter which Haham Nieto addressed in 1760 to the Jews of China and which Mr. Adler copied from the original at the British Museum. Some specimens of the Chinese Ritual are also given in the appendix.

At the end of May the foundation stone was laid of a Ministerial School in the Jewish colony "Zelionye Polye," in the Marinopol District. The school is intended for a hundred pupils and is erected at a cost of 7,000 roubles granted by Ministry of Public Instruction. The building materials have to be brought to the spot by the colonists themselves. The celebration of the occasion was attended by the Director of Jewish Colonies, Mr. Kovalievsky, the district Rabbi and the colonists.

The "Annuaire des Archives Israelites" for the year 5662, contains useful information relative to the Jewish communities and institutions in France and Algeria. A comprehensive review of events affecting the Jews in various countries during the year 5660-5661, is contributed by the editor, M. H. Prague. The literary section of the "Annuaire" also contains an account of the Jews in the Department of the Gard from 1806-1808, a sketch of Sulzer, the famous Vienna, Chazan, by M. Moise Schwab, anecdotes of the Schnorrer, with some Alsatian types, by Rabbin Haguenaier, and a paper on the Life and Writings of Rashi.

The Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati received a dispatch from Scranton, Penn., saying that one-third of a million-dollar estate left by Simon

Rice of that city was bequeathed to that college. Though the college trustees have not been notified, they place full credence in the report. President Bernhard Bettman who wrote for full particulars, says:

"There is no doubt that we are one of the legatees named in Mr. Rice's will, though as to the amount we are not so sure. Such a sum would do wonders for the college and make it one of the foremost Jewish educational institutions in the country. For twenty-seven years we have been hampered for lack of funds."

Vandals entered the Keneseth Israel congregation's cemetery of Shenandoah, Pa., on Locust Mountain, last Saturday. The gates were found open, the locks smashed and almost every tombstone, headboard and footboard was subjected to violence.

Those that were not torn from their places were overturned and many of the headboards were driven down into graves until the tops were level with the surface. All marble and stone tombstones were toppled over on their sides.

The mounds on a number of graves were reduced to a level with the surrounding earth and many of the fences were torn from their fastenings and hurled some distance from their places.

The congregation has offered a reward of $200 for information as to the perpetrators of this vandalism.

M. Alexander Zeitlein, gold medalist of St. Petersburg and Vienna, one of the most rising sculptors of Paris, is staying for a few days in London, where he is making a bust of Sir L. Almo Tadema, R.A., in the studio of the eminent painter himself. M. Zeitlein was born at Tiflis, in the Caucasus of a Jewish family some time settled there. He is 29 years of age, and studied at St. Petersburg under Jensen, the distinguished sculptor (a celebrated member of the school of Thorwaldsen) who decorated the Hermitage Palace for the Czar. M. Zeitlein worked four years at Vienna, where he executed the bust of the Archduke Otto and of the Emperor Francis Joseph (during his jubilee), and about two hundred other portrait busts. Last year his bust of Jeanne Hatto won great success at the Exhibition of the Portraits of French Artists, held in the Gerges Pitt Gallery for the benefit of the sufferers by the burning of the Theatre Francais. This bust was executed after four short sittings of half an hour each, for M. Zeitlein is a very rapid worker. Among his other Parisian portrait busts is an excellent one of Emile Zola, others of Dr. Jules Oppert, Camille Flammarion, the astronomer, and Dr. Waller, the physiologist, of London. M. Zeitlein has the intention of paying annual visits to London for the practice of his art. In Russian sculpture the name of Antokolsky suggests itself, but M. Zeitlein's genre is that of portraiture by bust in which he has reached a remarkable facility of catching the expression and peculiar charm of his subject, whereas M. Antokolsky's admirable work is in the grand historical style. M. Zeitlein is however the author of a fine group, one day perhaps to be executed on a magnificent scale, representing the Deluge.

CITY NEWS.

Pike Street Religious Class.

The Pike Street Synagogue religious class, conducted by Mr. Albert Lucas, had its last outing of the season on Sunday last. The society that was recently formed from among the young people of the "Breadwinners' College," 302 Madison street, under the title, "Children's Friends," have supplied the aides on these occasions, and most of the children attended the classes in literature and culture conducted by this excellent society.

The outing on Sunday was combined to include all the children, and a most enjoyable day was spent in Bronx Park. We are requested to mention that Mr. Lucas will reopen his class in Pike Street Synagogue on Sunday, Sept. 1, at 1.30 p. m.

In Aid of the Lebanon Hospital.

An entertainment and country dance in aid of the Lebanon Hospital will be given at Manhattan Garden, Bay 13th street and Bath avenue, on Wednesday evening, Aug. 21. The proceeds will be specially devoted to the building of a steam heating plant and elevator in the hospital. Those most interested in the affair are Dr. Maxwell Benjamin, Mrs. Kaufman, Mandell, Mrs. Pauline B. Schein, Mr. Henry Flugelman, Mr. S. V. Koch, Mr. Davis S. Loeb and the Misses Loeb. Should the weather prove unfavorable the next pleasant evening will be selected.

Beth Israel Hospital.

An entertainment and package party for the benefit of the building fund of the Beth Israel Hospital was given at the Hunter House, Hunter, Greene county, last Saturday evening. In every way the affair was a decided success, and more than $300 was realized. The programme, arranged by Mrs. Jonas S. Scheff, consisted of the following numbers:

Instrumental selection, Flora Garbat; tambourine dance, Rose Rubenstein; recitation, "The Violin-Fantasy," Sylvia Aronson; vocal selection, "Rosita," Mrs. M. Simon; violin selection, "Lucia de Lammaro," Abraham Levy, accompanied by H. C. Paley; recitation, scene from "Leah, the Forsaken," Hannah V. Wineberg; Polish dance, Billa Levy.

Dancing followed the entertainment. Messrs. Jacob Kriger and Samuel Cohen acting as floor directors. Among those whose good work contributed to the successful result attained were Messrs. Israel Levy, M. Spark, H. Fishel, I. Tarshis, H. Zeltz, Mendel Levy and J. Krieger, and Mesdames J. S. Scheff, J. Fine, I. Livingston, J. M. Eneidal, A. Shapiro, A. Weberlowsky, J. Weinberg, S. ## Cherry Blossom Grove.

Business is still booming in the magnificent and delightfully cool Cherry Blossom Grove on the roof of the Sire Bros.' gigantic temple of amusement, the New York Theatre. To see an empty seat in the immense grove is a rarity. Nightly it is a case of capacity. This week's programme is one of the finest ever presented to the public at any house. It includes McIntyre and Heath, the funniest team in existence; Harry Bulger, the inimitable; Prof. Macart's Baboon, Dog and Monkey Circus; Hickey and Nelson; the Wonderful Luken Brothers; Ernest Hogan; Norma Whalley; Billy Gould and company in "The Lambeth Walk;" Mlle. Lotty, Madge Fox, the Anderson Sisters, "Love Me Lize;" the beautiful "North Star" ballet, with its hundred pretty girls; "Fun on the Beach," Hobart and Sloane's latest and funniest farce, and others.

The theatre, which opens Sept. 2, with "The King's Carnival," and the new farce, "Supper at Sherry's," by Messrs. Hobart and Sloane, is being redecorated, and will present a prettier appearance than ever.

The Albany Dental Association, under the management of F. L. Morhard, D. D., has become one of the largest establishments in this city, through the genuine good work it is doing all along. Their new method of extracting teeth and inserting new ones the same day is a feature of the establishment, as well as the manufacture of sets at a lower rate than anywhere else in the city. Their prices are very reasonable, as the following will show:

Extraction, 25 cents, and with painless method (no gas), 50 cents. Sets of gum teeth, $6.50. Full upper and lower sets, $12. Partial plates, from $1.50 to $6.50. Crown and bridge work a specialty. Gold crowns, $6.50. Porcelain crown on pivot teeth, $4. Open evenings until 9. Sundays from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. 291 Third avenue, between 22d and 23d streets.

Borough of Brooklyn.

Hebrew Free School Association No. 1.

The Hebrew Free School Association, of Brooklyn, will hold its thirteenth annual afternoon and evening picnic Wednesday, Aug. 21, in the Metropolitan Park, Brooklyn. About 150 children, pupils of the school, in care of the teachers and the Board of the Association, will enjoy a free ride on the cars, spend a day of pleasure in the park, with music and games to entertain them, and be given a free treat of ice cream and cakes.

All friends of the Hebrew Free School cause are invited to join in the picnic, as, besides the purpose of affording the children the pleasure of a day's outing, the object of the undertaking is to raise funds in support of the school.

The seventh annual picnic of the Brooklyn Hebrew Hospital Society, in conjunction with the Young Friends' League, which took place in Ulmer Park last Thursday, proved a success, socially as well as financially. Music was furnished by Gellert's orchestra, and dancing was the principal recreation. Frank Berg was floor manager, assisted by Miss Mollie Marks.

The proceeds of the day's entertainment, amounting to several hundred dollars, will be devoted to the building fund, which, it is hoped, will reach $100,000 by fall, so that the hospital structure which is to replace the present dispensary on Johnson avenue may be undertaken as soon as the application for a charter is passed on by the State authorities.

The present officers of the Young Friends' League are as follows: S. Brown, chairman; H. Samuels, vice-chairman; Miss A. Weinstein, financial secretary; Miss L. Slot, recording secretary; Miss S. Alexander, corresponding secretary; L. Gellert, treasurer; Mr. Norton, sergeant-at-arms, and Miss Rae Kempe, mistress-at-arms.

Those of the Brooklyn Hebrew Hospital Society are: R. Strahl, chairman; Mrs. Rosenzweig, vice-chairman; M. Katlowitz, treasurer; B. Mossesson, financial secretary; Miss M. Marks, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. G. Thorne, manager. Trustees—Mrs. A. Simon, Mrs. R. Crook, Mrs. M. Slefter, Mr. Barrett and Mrs. Butt.

Hebrew Orphan Asylum.

The Hebrew Orphan Asylum will benefit by an entertainment which was given at the Hotel Kaaterskill, in the Catskill Mountains, last Friday night, under the direction of several well-known Brooklynites. To Mrs. A. I. Namm, wife of the well-known Brooklyn merchant, much of the credit for the success of the entertainment is due. Mrs. Namm secured the co-operation of several well-known artists who are guests of the hotel, and with their aid an excellent programme was arranged.

Miss Lulu Glaser, Dave Warfield, Dick Barnard, the Misses Rose and Estelle Namm, Miss Stuart, Miss Altmayer and Benjamin F. Namm were among those who contributed songs and specialties to the entertainment's programme.

Terrace Garden.

The lively music rendered nightly by the orchestra at Terrace Garden is attracting more than ordinary attention. Lovers of good music have been accustomed to go to Terrace Garden ever since Theodore Thomas consecrated it. For the coming week, aside from the orchestral numbers, there have been engaged as soloists, Miss Alice Wallner, soprano; Mr. Armagh O'Donahy, the distinguished Irish baritone, and Miss Louise Satour. As a medley novelty, Hodges & Launchmere, the Australian nightingales, whose reputation has preceded them in piano recitations, yodel, march and cake walk songs, have also been engaged. The bill is changed nightly, and the Sunday concerts, with their many features are particularly refreshing.

Brith Milah.

Master Eli A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Kantowitz, was initiated into the Abrahamic covenant on Monday last, at the residence of his parents, No. 56 West 112th street.

Rev. B. Hast officiated as master of ceremonies, performing the rite with his usual scientific skill. A dejeuner a la fourchette followed the ceremonies.

Work on the Jewish Hospital on Delmar avenue, west of Union, is progressing rapidly, the second story having been reached this week. This is the pavilion institution of which Levy is the architect.

Borough of Richmond.

At the quarterly meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, of Staten Island, held in vestry of the Synagogue Sunday, Aug. 4, the following officers were elected: President, M. Uron; vice-president, M. Kutscher; secretary, D. Rabinovitz; treasurer, A. Gold. It was decided to hold a debate in October on the topic, "Resolved, That the further acquisition of territory will subserve the best interests of the United States."

May we be permitted to suggest to our young friends that perhaps topics of Jewish interest will not be amiss in their debates; for instance, "How to encourage attendance on Sabbath at services," "Why do the women keep away from the Synagogue service?"

We are told that different committees delegated to sell seats for the coming holy days are making splendid progress. The second sale of seats will be held Sunday, Aug. 25. All who desire seats should not fail to present themselves at that meeting.

Mrs. M. Lippmann is sojourning at Detroit, while in the West, after spending a week at Buffalo.

F. F. Proctor's Theatres.

With the opening of the Twenty-third Street and the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 17, Manager F. F. Proctor will resume his accustomed station of numerical and managerial prominence in New York City theatricals. On Saturday afternoon, Aug. 31, his Fifty-eighth Street Theatre will open its season, and Manager Proctor's practical monopoly of popular-priced amusements in the metropolis will be at full swing. Especially attractive programmes have been arranged for the Saturday afternoon opening at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street and the Twenty-third Street, Aug. 17, and the same bills will be continued during the week ensuing. At the Harlem house a newly organized branch of the F. F. Proctor Big Stock Company will introduce "Forbidden Fruit," one of the late Dion Boucicault's best comedies. Vaudeville numbers will be interlarded between acts in furtherance of the new policy which has met such popular favor at the Proctor houses. At the Twenty-third Street a triple bill, consisting of one-act plays, will be the inaugural attraction. The company which opens this house has been especially organized with a view to presenting one-act plays, after the style of entertainment made popular by the late Rosina Vokes several seasons ago. For the Saturday afternoon and evening bill, Aug. 17, and the week following, "Lincoln's Clemency," "A Woman's Wont" and "Gringoire" will be offered; all plays popular a few seasons ago and now revived by the Proctor Stock. Later in the season many new plays of one-act structure will be produced by this branch of Manager Proctor's big organization. The Fifth Avenue, which has been open all summer and the mecca for great crowds, will offer Mr. Bronson Howard's famous society comedy, "Young Mrs. Winthrop," during the week of Aug. 19-24, the play being preceded and followed by vaudeville. The Fifth Avenue will remain the only house in the Proctor list where the performance is continuous, the curtain going up at that stage at 1 p. m. and not descending until 10.30 p. m., the amusement, meanwhile, continuing uninterruptedly. At Manager Proctor's other houses the amusement is given in two divisions—afternoon and evening—the theatres closing for two hours following the termination of the afternoon performances.

Employees of Henry Frank &amp; Co.

The employees of Henry Frank & Co.'s Department Store, corner Eighty-fourth street and Avenue A, held their first annual trolley ride last Thursday night. The rendezvous was at Ninety-second street and East River. The employees, together with their various friends, proceeded in a body to Astoria, rode to Zehden's pavilion, College Point, L. I., where dancing, singing, etc., continued until 11 p. m., after which supper was served. The affair proved to be enjoyable in every particular.

The Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Society of the Twenty-sixth Ward will have an afternoon and evening picnic at Welden's Columbia Park, Willow street and Jamaica plank road, Richmond Hill, on Monday, Aug. 12.

We have been favored with a copy of The Interlude, which seems to be a sort of special edition of the Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier. The Interlude is a thirty-four page paper, the object of which is to augment the fund of the Woman's Department of the South Carolina Inter-State and West Indian Exposition, which is to be held in Charleston, S. C., Dec. 1, 1901-June 1, 1902.

The Interlude is the work of women only, every article in it being written by women, who are also its editors; among the latter being Mrs. Lee C. Harby, who has been a prominent contributor to newspapers, magazines and periodicals for about twenty years past.

The Interlude is one of the most interesting publications which has ever come to our notice and is replete with literary articles which are historically valuable, as well as with poems, short stories, etc., etc. Among other contributions by Jewesses and some of which are reproduced in this issue of the HEBREW STANDARD, are the following: "The Hebrew Orphan Society," "Sasell Street Synagogue," by Miss Isabel Cohen; "Carolina's Daughters" (a poem), by Mrs. Caroline C. Joachimsen; "A Woman's Trip in a Salt Mine," by Mrs. Gen. Collis (nee Levy); "A Sunset in Georgetown," "In the Confessional" (a poem); "The Old Exchange," and a number of other contributions by Lee C. Harby. An entire page, devoted to the little folks, is edited by Lily Lee Harby Isaacs (wife of Dr. A. S. Isaacs), and is especially interesting to the young people. Every article in the paper is signed with the name of its author. Taken altogether, a better publication could not have been gotten up and we learn that a great deal of credit is due to Mrs. Lee C. Harby, who personally read every word of proof in the thirty-four pages.

Among the Jewish ladies whose names appear in the list of the Board of Managers of the Woman's Department of the Exposition are: the Misses A. H. Solomons, Clara Solomons, Corinne Nathan Rita Falk, Zip Solomons, Dorothy Lillenthal, Isabel Tobias, V. R. Solomons, Mesdames J. D. Harby, B. F. Moise, Asher D. Cohen, L. L. Cohen, Ashley Tobias, L. S. Ehrich (for Georgetown County) and Agnes Bogin (nee Moise) for Sumter County. The price of the paper is ten cents a copy and as the issue is 50,000, it is expected that the Woman's Fund will be largely augmented by it.

Contrary to the universal custom, Congress declined to grant any appropriation for the Exposition, the Post Office Department refused to issue the special postage stamps that are always issued in commemoration of such events and

The Interlude had to go through the mails as ordinary printed matter and not at newspaper rates. Notwithstanding these obstacles, it is predicted that the Exposition will be a great success and that the Woman's Department will be one of the best features.

A New March.

A new composition, "The Grand Master's March," is soon to be issued by Mr. H. S. Mollner, son of the well-known boniface Samuel Mollner. "The Grand Master's March," which is dedicated to M. Samuel Stern, president of District No. 1, I. O. O. F. S. of I., and will be placed on sale at the coming picnic of the district, contains a stirring melody and is a very worthy composition.

Tannersville, N. Y.

Much activity has been displayed by our co-religionists in behalf of the Jewish Synagogue at this place. The edifice was erected last fall, but, owing to a lack of funds, the interior furnishings were not completed. This summer the native Jewish residents, aided by some of the summer colony, raised sufficient funds to purchase a "Sopher Torah," which was duly consecrated on Aug. 4, when the ceremony of "Haschola" was held, followed by the "Seeyum" on Aug. 7. The sum of $139.50 was realized from the sale of letters. Services were conducted by Mr. Abraham J. Goldman, of Brooklyn, and the congregation desires to tender him their thanks through these columns for his faithful attendance in this good work.

During the past week a fair was held in the Synagogue building, and the sum of $212 was realized. Among the participants were Mrs. S. Hess, Miss Hess, Miss Pachner, Mrs. E. Adelsdorfer, Miss Hass, and other guests of the Campbell House; Mrs. I. Polstein and several guests of the Maple Grove House; the Misses Tewles, of Paterson, N. J.; Mrs. Rosenberg and others. The flower booth was ably presided over by the Misses Kaliske and Gluck. Many valuable donations were received through the aid of Mrs. L. Frank, proprietress of the Blythewood, and Messrs. Ehrich Bros., of New York.

It is to be hoped that sufficient funds will be realized before the close of the season to complete the synagogue and free it from debt.

About Mineral Waters.

"Although there is a difference of opinion among physicians in regard to the value of bottled natural and artificial mineral waters, those well versed in chemistry prefer the artificial product to the natural, because the latter, by exposure to the atmosphere during the process of bottling, diffuses its carbonic acid gas, by which process some of its ingredients are rendered insoluble, while others become so from oxidation by the oxygen of the air. Thus some of the most valuable substances are found precipitated to the bottom of the bottle, and their efficiency destroyed. Natural mineral waters should be used at the springs, where they are fresh and in full strength, and, combined with a reasonable regimen and the exhilarating effects of the surroundings, they are apt to produce the most salutary effects.

"On this account many of the most prominent practitioners in this country and in Europe have declared in favor of the use of artificial waters at a distance from the springs, of whom we quote only the opinion of the celebrated clinician, Prof. D. Naunyn, of the University of Strassburg. Speaking of success obtained by the use of Carlsbad water for a cure at home, he advised the physicians assembled in convention at Dusseldorf, Germany, in September last: 'But use the artificial Carlsbad water, and by no means solutions of the Carlsbad Salt.'

"Such mineral waters, however, need be manufactured by a chemist, who understands the significance of purity of materials and the importance of the order in which chemicals ought to be mixed in order to obtain afterward their permanent solution by the aid of carbonic acid. Such waters, if prepared after the correct analysis of the springs, must at any time be equal in efficiency to the waters of the corresponding natural spring, provided the regimen, etc., will be in strict conformity."—From Pacific Medical Journal, San Francisco, Cal.

Do you really know what you drink? The taste and color of your wine and cognac might have been produced artificially. The man who sells you your wine and cognac cannot guarantee their purity. He buys them in the open market and knows little of their origin.

Purity depends upon the maker who sells to the consumer direct.

We directly represent the producers of our wines and cognacs.

They come from the best Palestine colonies.

They are prepared and taken care of in the famous vaults of Baron Edmond de Rothschild at Rishon-le-Zion.

The management of the vaults and the sale of the products are in the hands of the Jewish Colonization Association, the most reliable institution of its kind in the world.

We are the sole representatives for the sale of these excellent wines and cognacs in the United States, and can safely recommend them as absolutely pure and unadulterated.

The "Carmel" wines and cognacs have been introduced in almost every European country with great success. They are used in hospitals, recommended by physicians, and were awarded the gold medal at the Paris Exposition in 1900.

Who Is My Brother?

מי יתנה כאה ל

Thou shalt surely set a king over thee, whom the Lord thy God shall choose; from amongst thy brethren shalt thou set a king over thee; thou canst not set over thee a stranger, who is not thy brother.—Deut. xvii., 15.

This has reference to a period long before Israel had yet a king, but divine prescience foresaw that a time would come, as it eventually did, when Israel would desire a king, and the law was here provided that in the event they should have a king, then he must be chosen from among their brethren.

Living, as we do, in a country where we have no king, the question naturally arises has the above injunction any binding force upon Israel?

It is well to be understood that in that remote age, every governor or ruler was known by the name of Judge or King, for in fact the kings of Israel were similar to our presidents, elected by the people, except that there was no limited time set for the exercise of his rule. As long as he was suitable he served, if not, the people revolted against his authority and made another king, as we see at the time when there was a party split and long thereafter there was a king over Judah and another one over Israel (see I. Kings xii.)

The next consideration is: Is Israel bound by the Mosaic law to set over them a king or ruler from among their brethren, for some might impugn Israel's loyalty in so far that as Jews they cannot consistently vote for a president not of the Jewish religion. But that is a wrong assumption, for without consulting rabbinical laws that makes it obligatory upon us to aid and assist in establishing and obeying the laws that govern any country whithersoever our lot may be cast, we analyze the passage before us and it tells us:

We shall set over us a king (whom we now call president), not one of our brethren, but one from among our brethren. He may be of a different religion but lives among us deporting himself as our brother—one who is able to govern and is kindly disposed towards us.

Solomon in his Proverbs beautifully said: "There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother," Prov. xviii, 24, and "Better a near neighbor than a distant brother," Ibid xxvii, 10.

And thus we are governed in politics. If a Jew and a Christian were candidates for the same office we should rather vote for the friend that is closer than a brother—for the Christian—if we saw that the weal of our land would be better promoted than if we voted for our brother in faith.

That this view is correct, we must look closer into our text, where it says: "Thou canst not set over thee a stranger, who is not brother." A נכרי "stranger" it is self-evident is not our brother religiously viewed, why then, does it say a stranger who is not thy brother? Because there are strangers (non Jews) who are our brothers, especially when we consider that the Christians are believers in the same God as we are, they hold our Bible as the fundamental basis of their religion; surely we must regard and esteem a good Christian as our brother, whom we trust and respect, with whom we live on terms and amity as no brothers can live better. They guard the rights and privileges of the commonwealth with us together and they recognize in us as their brothers. Surely God hath chosen them to be His servants for they serve Him as sincerely as we do, thus we can set over us a king (a president or governor) whom God hath chosen, one from among our brethren—a friend who often sticketh closer than a brother.

A Remarkable People.

A majority of the graduating class of the College of the City of New York are Jews. This is not an extraordinary circumstance, so far as this college is concerned, for it was true of the graduating class last year, and of the classes for several years previous. In fact, this college has often been described as "Jews' College," yet it is a great public college, open to all alike. Other New York institutions of learning, including two universities, show on their rosters a large proportion of Jewish names, and this proportion is steadily increasing, notably in the law and medical schools. The number of these Jewish students and graduates is out of all proportion to the Hebrew population of New York. It affords a striking illustration of the Jews' keen appreciation of the value and advantages of education and of their energy and determination in securing the same.

Not alone in the business world, in the lines of trade and finance, in which they have long been notably proficient, through generations of training, are they leaders, but they are forging to the front in the various professions. They are keenly alive to the modern opportunities for obtaining education and of the advantages and pleasures which learning affords.

When the world was many centuries younger than it is now, when many of the present races and nations were unknown, the Jews were among the learned teachers and law-givers of the world, the highest type of civilized man. They have survived centuries of adversity and persecution, of tyranny and oppression, are in this twentieth century the most remarkable race of people extant, inhabiting every civilized land, potent in their influence and standing everywhere for law, order and peace, and marching even in the van of civilization. No other race has such a remarkable history.

Life is a mosaic and many people make a bad picture of it because they neglect the little bits,

President McKinley's Sense of Justice and Right.

The friends and admirers of Benno Loewy, Esq., are strongly urging upon the administration his fitness as a candidate for the position as Judge of the United States District Court to be vacant by the resignation of Judge Brown. We have already, in these columns, laid stress upon the warmth and fervency with which Mr. Loewy's professional brethren, irrespective of party affiliation, are urging his appointment. All recognize in Mr. Loewy those sterling qualities which are the essential endowments of an able judge. He possesses, in the fullest exemplification of the term, that learning, fairness, integrity and erudition which are pre-eminent attributes of a great jurist. No one denies his learning, his ability and consequent fitness for the lofty position.

There is only one objection that can be mooted, and which we understand has been indirectly urged against his appointment, and that is the fact of his being a Jew.

We frankly admit, that while we do not seek his appointment on that ground, but rather to the fact that none of the candidates exceed him in capability, broad-mindedness and integrity, we see no reason why his religion should militate against his probable appointment. We have yet to hear of any complaint against his character, his standing at the Bar, or his personal integrity. He has an excellent record and we feel sure that, if appointed, he will dignify the position and become a worthy successor to the eminent jurist who preceded him.

We firmly rely upon the President's sense of justice and right to appoint as Judge of the District Court a gentleman whose integrity has never been questioned, whose learning is undoubted, whose ability is unanimously conceded and whose private life is as pure and spotless as his public record is meritorious, one whose appointment will reflect credit upon the administration, notwithstanding the fact that he is a Jew. To disbar an eminent gentleman from a position for which he is eminently qualified solely on account of his religion, would be one of the severest blows aimed at the institutions of our country, and we feel sure that the President will set a praiseworthy example in disregarding all unworthy sectarian motives and influences. We await with confidence the appointment of Mr. Loewy.

The test of a Jew is not his orthodoxy nor his reform, but solely his life, his works and deeds. It is not confession that makes the Jew.—Jewish Times.

The Jews of Terrell, Tex., met in the Opera House at that place one day last week and prayed for rain, and a rain came on the following day. When God's chosen people go after anything, they are rewarded with success.—Groesbeck (Tex.) Era.

English Jews in the British Army.

Among the ignorant inhabitants of London slums there have been outbreaks against the Jews.

The crime of the Jews in the eyes of the gin-drinking inhabitants of Whitechapel is this—that the Jews work too hard drink not enough gin, thus losing caste socially.

An Englishman, supporting the action of the mobs that have attacked the Jews, has this to say:

"Race riots are deplorable, but there is undoubtedly cause for feeling against the Jews just at this period of England's trials.

"The Jews make money here in London. They share our prosperity and do not share our dangers. A Jew will cheerfully take a contract to supply the British army in Africa at a profit. What Jew would take up a gun or a sword in behalf of the nation that shelters him? What Jew has figured in England's war?"

The opinions of England's slums, or of such an Englishman as is quoted above, are not very important, but perhaps it is worth while to answer the question the Englishman asks.

Take, for instance, Lieutenant F. N. Raphael, of the First South Lancashire Regiment. When he was alive he was a British officer, fighting in the British army. He was killed at Spion Kop, and he was killed while trying to rescue one of his own men, a private soldier, who had been badly wounded. That appears to be a very respectable kind of death.

Lieutenant Raphael was a Jew.

Colonel A. E. W. Goldsmid was an assistant adjutant-general, and is now an inspector general of the western sections of the lines of the British army. He has been rapidly promoted, having been chief staff officer under Kelly-Kenny at Aldershot; he was with the division that cornered Cronje at Paardeburg, where his horse was shot under him.

He is a Jew.

Second Lieutenant S. Blumfeld, of the First Middlesex Volunteers, joined with twenty-five other Jews as soon as war was declared.

Captain J. W. Cohen, of the Thirtieth Middlesex Volunteer Rifles, commands the signalling detachment of the City Imperial Volunteers. He and his father equipped the detachment at their own expense.

We could fill this column with the names of Jews that volunteered to fight because they live in England as Englishmen, and felt it their duty to take part. Perhaps it is worth while to add to those already mentioned W. Karri Davis, a major in the Imperial Light Horse, and his partner, Woods W. Samson. Karri Davis and his partner, both Jews, were kept in jail by the Boer authorities for a long time because they would not give their parole not to fight.

They finally got into the fighting ranks, and at their expense raised and equipped the Imperial Light Horse. Karri Davis was badly wounded at Ladysmith, and seven other Jews fighting with him were killed there. He was one of the first to enter Johannesburg, and actually the first to ride into Mafeking.

We do not pretend to sound the depths of the British mind or to analyze accurately British methods of thought.

There may be good reason for attacks on Jews in the poor districts of London. But some better reason must be found than that which the Englishman alleges.

As a matter of fact, it is quite probable, as suggested in a cable dispatch to the Journal, that the almost universal wearing of beards by Jews in the East End of London may have brought on the anti-Semitic riots, the dull-minded English of the lowest class associating the wearing of long beards with the pictures they have seen of the Boers.

It is worth while also to recall the fact that when England was deeply worried about war it was D'Israeli who came back from Berlin, bringing the famous "peace and honor" victory. D'Israeli was a Jew, and as Prime Minister of England he pulled the English out of a hole very deep, and one which they ought to remember.

Baron Wilhelm Carl von Rothschild.

Administration of the estate and effects in the United Kingdom, valued at £90,430, of the late Baron Wilhelm Carl von Rothschild, of Frankfort, who died there on the 25th of January last, has been granted to his daughter, Adelheid, wife of Baron Edmond de Rothschild, of Paris. Naturally, his foreign property is not included in the above figure. Under his will, which bears the date February 17, 1896, the Baron bequeathed to the Institution for Sick Foreign Jews in Frankfort, founded in memory of his daughter, Georgine Sara, 2,000,000 marks, and to the orthodox Jewish Congregation (Isr. Religionsgesellschaft) in Frankfort 250,000 marks, in trust, to distribute the income among poor Jews of good character on the anniversaries of his death and at the death of his wife. He desired that on every Jahzeit, Minyan shall be held in one of his houses by ten pious Jews, to each of whom thirty marks are to be paid.

The testator bequeathed to his wife 1,500,000 marks and a widow's annuity of 250,000 marks, and the use and enjoyment during her widowhood of the house, 6 Bockenheimer Landstrasse, in Frankfort, and of the country houses, Hemsbach, Gruneberg and Königstein in the Taunus, and 48,000 marks a year for their up-keep, and the effects the houses and certain jewelry. A sum of 514,285 marks, part of the dowry of the Baroness, is to be returned to her, together with a like sum from the baron's estate. He left two houses in Frankfort to the Jewish community there for charitable purposes, and the residue of his property in equal shares to his daughters, Baroness Adelheid de Rothschild and Minna Carolina, wife of Max B. H. Goldschmidt, of Frankfort, banker.

The article published in our columns last week, on page 5, under the caption "Frank Moss and his book", a typographical error occurred which needs correction.

The writer of the article therein quoted was made to say "cleanliness" when it should have read "clannishness." The sentence should have read thus: "The clannishness of the Jew is no serious matter, I take it," etc.

From the Worcester (Mass.) Telegram.

Three Hebrews coming from Russia to Worcester were shipwrecked in a Newfoundland fog. It takes more than a shipwreck to stop these people from coming to this city, and they landed here finally.

Pity enlarges the heart.

The Jews of Syracuse.

A recent issue of the Syracuse Herald contained "An Interesting Trip to the Ghetto of Syracuse," illustrated by photographs of the synagogues, schools, etc. The writer says:

"Everywhere throughout every nation of the globe, in city and town, village or country, you will find representatives of the Jewish race. They are scattered broadcast as are no other people upon earth. They have for ages endured abuse and persecution of every kind, enough to have long since stamped out a stronger nation, yet they still live on, thriving almost marvelously, and accepting their lot, whatever it may be, with almost incredible meekness and resignation.

"The popular idea of the Jew bears slight resemblance to reality. Many persons think of him in connection only with pawnbroking, money lending, 'old clo' shops, etc., and forget the Rothschilds, Spinozas, Disraelis, Montefiores and Heines, who have also been of the 'chosen people.'

"In Syracuse there are about 6,000 Jews, the greater part of whom come from Russia or Poland. These latter usually find work in 'sweat shops,' gathering junk, picking rags or peddling. The Syracuse ghetto extends from State to Almond street and from Jefferson to Jackson street. There is every variety of residence from the tenement into which a dozen families are crowded, to the comfortable and often handsomely furnished home of the thriving business man. The Jewish people still like to live together, although the law requiring them to confine themselves to a certain location has long since become a dead letter.

"The Jews who have become Americanized are among our best citizens. They have risen to the highest professional and political ranks, and 1,800 of them are enrolled on the list of voters in Syracuse.

"The children of Israel are picturesque even in rags—perhaps more so than when in prosperity. Theirs is the most ceremonial of religions and the forms of rites connected with its observance are poetic in the extreme. Very few outsiders save those who have made a study of the subject, have more than a vague idea of the ceremonies attendant upon the Jewish faith. They know that the Sabbath is celebrated upon the last day of the week instead of the first as is the case with the Gentiles, and they may have heard of the Passover and the Day of Atonement, but that is about all. If Syracuse Christians could go into the homes of their Hebrew citizens, they would find many customs fully as interesting as any they could see in journeying through foreign lands. Some parts of Grape and Harrison streets are almost exactly in appearance like certain corners in Jerusalem, with their patriarchal old men, the dark, handsome women who recall thoughts of Sarah and Rebekah, and the children swarming over the sidewalks at their play. Among foreign Jews the ordinary tongue is the 'jar gon' or Yiddish, an unintelligible conglomeration of Russian and German, with a little Hebrew mixed in. The children easily forget their Yiddish, and sometimes even become unable to understand it, but every Jewish boy is expected to have a certain knowledge of Hebrew, enough to read the 'Torah,' or law of Moses, the Talmud the traditions and unwritten laws of the Jews, and the Mishnayis or oral law. The Hebrew Free School in this city is situated at No. 1,915 Orange street.

"The wagon roads—already existing in Palestine are:

Jerusalem to Yafa, forty miles; begun in 1868, but a number of years elapsed before wagons could pass over it, and then only with difficulty, ten to twelve hours being required to go down to Yafa, and fourteen to sixteen to climb back up the mountains. It was only in 1892, when the railroad between these two points became a certainty, that the Jerusalem and Yafa road was made fairly comfortable for carriages.

Jerusalem to Hedron, twenty-three miles completed in 1890.

Jerusalem to Jericho, about twenty-two miles; completed in 1898. Ten years were spent in building this road.

Jerusalem to the top of the Mount of Olives, about four miles; made in 1898 for the Emperor of Germany.

Jerusalem to Bireh, nine miles, just completed.

It is true that carriages go from Jericho to the Dead Sea and the River Jordan, but there is no road. Likewise wagons go along the roadless seacoast from Yafa to Haifa, at the foot of Mount Carmel, the road which was made for the Emperor of Germany in 1898 being entirely in ruins. Wagons also go from Yafa to Gaza, but no road was ever made there.

If pleasures are greatest in anticipation, so are troubles.

Wagon Roads in Palestine.

Selah Merrill, United States Consul at Jerusalem, writes under date of June 11th:

One of the greatest thoroughfares in Palestine is that between Jerusalem and Nablous, the ancient Shechem. For centuries it has been only a camel path, in many places rough and stony, and in spite of the vast amount of traffic, it was not until 1900 that an effort was made to connect the two cities by a carriage road. Early in that year the route was surveyed and specifications sent to Constantinople, whence orders for the construction of the roads must emanate. Work was begun the following Autumn, and in March of the present year the first carriage passed over the completed section between Jerusalem and Bireh.

The extreme width of the roadbed is 19 feet 6 inches. After the grading, a bed of cracked stone 8 inches in thickness was made, over which earth was spread. The road was then well railed. The grade is good, there being very few places where a horse cannot trot. I refer, of course, only to the completed portion between Jerusalem and Bireh. The entire distance from Jerusalem to Nablous is 38½ miles. American travelers will remember Sinjil as their camping place the first night out of Jerusalem, going north toward Damascus. It is a curious fact that Sinjil is an Arabic adaptation of 'St. Giles' of the Crusades, and 'Bireh' is the biblical 'Beeroth' mentioned in Joshua ix., 17. Bireh has a good spring, and there has been talk of bringing water thence to Jerusalem. The contract price for building the completed section of the road was about $23,000. There were only bidders, both Christians (Armenians) Mahomedans and Jews do not engage in such work.

The distance from Bireh to Sinjil is only one mile greater than that between Jerusalem and Bireh, but the country is more rugged. There are many natural obstacles to be encountered, and the estimated cost of that section is from $40,000 to $44,000. The money will be raised in the Jerusalem district by a tax upon the peasantry. This district is associated with many famous historical events, and the contiguous country contains the sites of the ancient cities of Nob, Gophna, Beeroth, Bethel, Ramah, Shiloh, etc.

Correspondence.

Editor Hebrew Standard:

It is with surprise I note in your issue of to-day more than a column of valuable space devoted to a letter signer "Albert Lucas," commenting upon "Frank Moss and His Book."

I am not a politician, nor an aspirant for office, nor, to my knowledge, have I ever seen Frank Moss, but if this Frank Moss is the Frank Moss whom the newspapers have depicted as, what seems to me, to be a meddler with affairs pertaining to this municipality already in charge of legally constituted officers, I am led to the conclusion that this Frank Moss courts notoriety, and that may account for his unwarrantable book attack upon the Jewish race.

France, Germany and Roumania have their prancing anti-Semites. Then why cannot W. Lucas and the Hebrew Standard permit Frank Moss to pose in this harmless and cheap avenue of pitifully-impotent egotism? I understand from recent newspaper reports that, as is usual in such cases, this Frank Moss has since apologetically attempted to coddle the race he attacked in his book. Perhaps he is now practising the art of vote-making for future personal use, and that may have caused the backdown. Nous verrons. A. L. PARKES. New York City, Aug. 9, 1901.

Houston, Texas. The synagogue of the Adath Jeshurun congregation, at the corner of Preston avenue and Hamilton street, was crowded to the doors last Friday night by members of the congregation and others who turned out to listen to the initial address delivered by Rabbi Simon Glazer. The new rabbi has only been in this country six years, being from Russia, but, notwithstanding this fact, he speaks English very fluently, and is a most interesting speaker. He is quite a young man, being in his 24th year. The congregation which the new rabbi will serve is in a flourishing condition, and the synagogue and other property are entirely free from debt. The congregation has the following for its officers: C. Kapner, president; S. Greenberg, vice-president; D. Froesch, secretary; L. Housman, treasurer.

Cairo, N. Y. A correspondent informs us of a very interesting event which occurred here on Sunday evening last. In order to attract a large congregation, and incidentally swell the winter fund, the minister of the Cairo M. E. Church, introduced a special musical programme, the feature of which was the rendition of "Fear Ye Not O Israel" by Miss Reko Goldberg, a charming young Jewess who is summing up at the Rockwood. Miss Goldberg completely captivated her hearers and at the conclusion the minister of the church from the altar paid a glowing tribute to the Jewish race and to Miss Goldberg for her liberality. It is quite refreshing to hear news of this kind, especially when we are continually hearing of racial persecution throughout the entire Catskill range.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. FURNISHING DESULTORIA.
Dainty Bits for Autumn Brides.

A high Chippendale writing desk, while ingeniously subservient to the needs of correspondence, gives safe and cleanly refuge to the finer volume in hand-tooled covers, with shelves above protected by traceried glass doors. A white mahogany French toilet table, with carved frame mirror, a delicate touch of inset work, is the requisition of boudoir refinement. Of crotch mahogany, matchless in grain and imagery—a pri-dieu straight of line; a corner cabinet; a piano bench with Dutch marquetry inlay. Of silky textiles—rarely woven Cashmere rugs and soft drapery stuffs and marvelous tapestries, reproducing in text stitch the paintings of Laurer and Woverman.
