Die Nixen.

(From the German of Helme.)

The waves are washing a lonely strand,
The lady-moon hath risen;
A young Knight lies on the snow-white sand,
Engrossed in a dainty vision.

In white veils wrap'd, the sea-nymphs sweet
From sea-deeps spring in numbers,
They softly glide the youth to greet—
They think he really slumbers.

And one with timid steps draws near,
The plume on his cap she fingers;
Another laces his bandolier
And o'er his sword-knot lingers.

With sparkling eyes and merry jests
A third his sword upraises;
On the bare blade's hilt her white arm rests;
With glee on the youth she gazes.

A fourth glides, restless, here and there—
Her heart hath op'd its portals.
"Oh, would that I thy lov'd one were,
Fair blossom of the mortals!"

The fifth, with passion's wistful strength,
His hand to her lips she presses,
The sixth hath linger'd, but covers, at length,
His lips and cheeks with caresses.

With closed lids lies the cunning Knight,
His posture never varies;
He loves to be kiss'd, in the moon's soft light,
By wistful water-fairies.

JACOB GOLDSTEIN.

Successor to Dr. Schechter.

The well-known Israel Abrahams, M. A. ("I. A." of the Jewish Chronicle) has been appointed to succeed Dr. Schechter as Reader in Talmudic Literature and Rabbinics at Cambridge University (England). The propriety of the appointment is so obvious and so unquestionably inevitable that the news is almost a matter of course.

There is positively no one at all in the public view whose claims can stand for a moment against those of the new lecturer. Whether he has the profound and intimate acquaintance with Rabbinical literature necessary to make him a lasting success in his new sphere remains to be seen. That he is a scholarly man of great attainments and mental grasp is quite certain.

Perhaps the best thing about the man is his personal charm. He is very popular with the Jews' College students who regarded him as an un-failing mentor and friend in every little difficulty. The following sketch of his career is extracted from the London Jewish Chronicle:

"Mr. Israel Abrahams is the second son of the late Rev. Barnett Abrahams, a former Principal of Jews' College and Dayan of the Spanish and Portuguese Congregation. His elder brother is the Rev. Dr. Joseph Abrahams, Minister of the Melbourne Hebrew Congregation, and another brother is Rev. Moses Abrahams, Minister of the Old Hebrew Congregation, Leeds. He was born in 1858, and received his education at Jews' College, his principal teachers being Dr. M. Friedlander, the present principal, and the Rev. Dr. Hermann Adler. Subsequently, he attended the lectures of the late Professor Groom Robertson at University College, in Logic, Philosophy and Psychology, and of Professor Stanley Jevons in Political Economy, in which subjects he took the degree of A. M. at the University of London.

Mr. Abrahams is principally known as joint editor of the Jewish Quarterly Review, in conjunction with Mr. C. G. Montefiore, and the author of "Jewish Life in the Middle Ages"—a work in which he has shown an extensive and unique acquaintance with the literature of Jewish Responsa. He has likewise compiled work on Jewish Literature ("Chapters on Jewish Literature," written for the Jewish Publication Society of America) which evidences a special knowledge of the productions of the poets of the Synagogue. His other writings cover a wide range of subjects in Biblical and Rabbinical Literature and Post-Biblical History. Many of them have appeared in the Jewish Quarterly Review, and among the most important are "The Books of Samuel," "Jewish Ethical Wills," "H. Graetz," "Samuel Portalacone," "Joseph Zabara and the Sefer Shashuim," the "Revised Version of the Apocrypha," "The Third Book of the Maccabees," "Egyptian Fragments of the Passover Hag-gada," "Schuerer on Life under the Jewish Law," "The Jewish Year," "Paul of Burgos in London," "The Wisdom of Ben Sira," "Niese on I. and II. Maccabees," and "Recent Criticism of the Letter of Aristaeus." He has likewise contributed to the Jewish Chronicle, besides the weekly column on "Books and Bookmen," a variety of learned articles on Synagogue Ritual and Rabbinic Custom; and he is the author of several important articles in Cheyne and Black's "Encyclopædia Biblica," and Hasting's "Dictionary of the Bible." To the Steinschneider Jubelschrift he contributed an essay on "The Bodleian MSS. of Yirath Heth." The list of Selected Hebraica and Judaica, which appears in the American Jewish Year Book is likewise from his pen. At the present time Mr. Abrahams has in press a work on "Moses Maimonides," which he has written on the basis of David Yellin's Hebrew work.

Mr. Abrahams is also prominent as a lecturer and a lay preacher, many of his sermons being included in "Aspects of Judaism," a volume which he produced, jointly with Mr. C. G. Montefiore, 1895. He has likewise taken a prominent part in several of our communal institutions. He is Honorary Secretary of the Jewish Historical Society, and one of the Committee for Training Jewish Teachers. He is a member of the Council of the Anglo-Jewish Association, the Jewish Religious Education Board, and various other public bodies.

Some years ago Mr. Abrahams visited Jerusalem, where he lectured in Hebrew to an appreciative audience. On his return to England he was entertained by the Maccabæans, and delivered several interesting lectures on the people and institutions of the Holy City. It was in Jerusalem that he came in contact with Mr. David Yellin, whose method of teaching Hebrew he has endeavored to popularize in England, and whom he assisted in obtaining funds for the Toynbee Hall that has recently been erected in the Holy City. Mr. Abrahams is married to Freda, the only daughter of Rev. S. Singer, who has ably and enthusiastically assisted her husband in the many communal duties."

Heinrich Conried.

New York has over thirty theatres, but as the word is understood in art-centres like Paris, Berlin, or Vienna, it can boast of only one, and there a foreign language is spoken. Local readers need not be told that we refer to the Irving Place Theatre, which for some ten years has been managed by Heinrich Conried, a co religionist, who came to this country about a quarter of a century ago. His American career began at the Germania Theatre, now Tony Pastor's, where under the direction of the lamented Neuendorff he was first character-actor and chief stage-manager. Previous to that time Mr. Conried, who is a native of Bielitz, Silesia, had been a member of the famous Vienna Burg-theatre, the Stadt theatre of Leipzig and other German play-houses. In Berlin, he created the role of Dr. Klaus in L'Aronge's comedy of that name, and the same success achieved in his impersonation of the crusty but, shrewd and warm-hearted physician, has frequently been repeated in this country.

When Mathilde Cottrelly opened the Thalia Theatre in 1879, Mr. Conried played leading roles and also had charge of the stage. Some two or three years later he became artistic director of the theatre, and subsequently he formed a partnership with Carl Herrmann, and the new firm presented in the field of operetta, comedy and drama productions that have never since been surpassed. For a brief period he abandoned the German stage, and produced operettas at the Casino.

In 1893 he succeeded Gustav Amberg in the management of the Irving Place where the best modern German plays, as well as many classical masterpieces, have been performed.

As a stage manager Mr. Conried stands at the head of his profession, and actors are always eager to join his company. Among the noted players whom he has introduced to American audiences we recall Sonnenthal, Barnay, Knaack, Tewele, Georg Engels, Felix Schweighofer, Kathi Schrott, Fritz Bassermann, Josefine Gallmeyer, Hedwig Raabe and Helene Odillon.

Mr. Conried has received the degree of Master of Arts from the Universities of Columbia and Pennsylvania; he is a Trustee of the Germanic Department of Harvard, and was decorated by the German Emperor and the Emperor of Austria.

In spite of all, he is a good American citizen and married to a lovely American lady.

Berlin's New Catch-Phrase.

The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Express (London) writes: Berlin is getting a deal of amusement out of the latest catch-question, "Haben Sie nicht den kleinen Cohn gesehen?" ("You haven't seen young Cohn, have you?"). It is the tag of a "humorous" song, and now one cannot take a walk along the Friedrichstrasse without hearing the asinine question, stentoriously put by gutter hawkers selling "view cards" bearing the verses in question. At a theatre off the Linden the interrogation has furnished material for a burlesque in one act, entitled "Der kleine Cohn ist da!" ("Here's young Cohn!") Right through the piece the catch-question is constantly cropping up, and eventually "young Cohn" is found—among the audience. This happy discovery leads up to a jubilatory song ending with: "Berlin sei ruhig und schrei Hurrah, der kleine Cohn, der kleine Cohn ist da." In English it might be rendered thus: "Fear not, Berlin; let notes of joy resound, for little Cohn who once was lost is found." When Berlin is finished with "young Cohn" and learns to be a little more humorous and up to date, it might try "How's your poor feet?"

Joseph as a Golfer.

The golfer's latest claim is that Joseph of old was the original golf player. In the first place, we are told that he wore a coat of many colors, which certainly must have been a golf suit, and the statement that he was put into a hole by his brethren is declared at St. Andrew's to be merely a figurative expression and signifies that they beat him at his own game.

Children's Column.

Zur Nacht.

(From the German of Koerner.)

Good-night!
Weary workers rest at night,
Swiftly fades the light away;
Rest should follow toilful day—
Sleep 'till comes the morning light.
Good-night!

Seek rest!
Drowsy lids in sleep are press'd;
Still grows the noisy street,
While the watchman steps his beat.
Night folds all things to her breast.
Seek rest!

Sleep sound!
Paradise in dreams are found.
Whoso's fob'd, by Love, of peace,
Sleep shall make his sorrow cease—
Love, in dreams, with joy is crown'd.
Sleep sound!

Good-night!
Slumber 'till the morning light.
Slumber 'till the coming morrow
Slumber 'till the coming morrow—
Fearing naught! God guards the right!
Good-night!

"Strange Fire."

My Dears: Immediately after the portion we read this morning comes an account of how Nadab and Abihu, two of the sons of Aaron, took "strange fire" and offered it in the Appointed Tent before the Altar of God. Then, as a punishment for this crime, God sent a fire which burnt them to death, and so "they died before the Eternal."

Now what was this קדש זר, this "strange fire"? No one really knows, but many have tried to explain. One explanation, justified by the context, is that they introduced the practices of the idolatrous priests whom they had seen making offerings in Egypt. Another, suggested by the direction that immediately follows the account of the incident, is that they were drunk when they entered the Appointed Tent. A third is that they did not wait for directions from Moses, but presumed to make offering in their own way, at their own time.

Now, whether they copied idolatrous practices, or were intoxicated, or presumed, or did all three at once, the sin they committed was in any case that of presumption. You know what "presumption" means? It means impudent pretension—assuming dignity or honors or position or privileges that are not yours by right. It means, in short, getting "swelled head."

Do you know, I think that we Jews are rather inclined to that fault? Indeed, I really believe I have noticed it occasionally among little Jewish boys and girls. The moment they get noticed a little, or meet with a little success, then they begin to presume—begin to show "swelled head."

Now, if there is one thing more than another that the Jewish religion inculcates, it is that modesty and humility are the highest and most important of qualities. I have often told you that one way of judging a nation's most cherished ideals is to notice the qualities they attribute to their national heroes. Now, Moses, our Teacher, may be taken as the greatest of our national heroes. Who, indeed, can compare with him, to whom, as we are told in the Bible, God spoke face to face, as one speaks to one's neighbor? Well, of him the Bible expressly tells us that he was the meekest man on earth. Think of it! The man of all men who have been born on earth, to whom God showed the highest honor, was the meekest of men.

In many other ways the Bible and our Sages are always impressing on us the beauty and necessity of humility. Even the religion of our neighbors, which is an offshoot of Judaism, is always dwelling on the meekness and humility of its founder. The lesson that pride and presumption and haughtiness mean spiritual and intellectual death is as clearly taught in many other ways by the Bible as it is in this incident of the death of Nadab.

and Abihu for presumptuously offering strange fire on God's Altar.

If you ask for the name of the teacher whom Jews hold to have been next in importance to Moses, our Instructor, I think you will find that most Jews would name Moses Maimonides, and if you ask for the man next in importance to him they would, I think, name the pride and glory of the early French colonies of Jews, Solomon ben Yitzhak, most commonly known as "Rashi."

Rashi was born in France about the year 1040, and died at the age of 65, according to one account; at 75, according to another. So splendid was his scholarship and so clear his mind, that when a mere boy passages in the Talmud which puzzled gray-haired sages were as easy to him as your last year's class book is to you. People wrote or came to him from all parts to ask his opinion on many points. So while still a mere youth he began to write a commentary on the whole of the Bible and the Talmud, which he completed before he was thirty years old. So greatly learned and clear is his work that it has remained for these eight hundred years the standard authority for all Jewish scholars all over the world.

While he was engaged on this work, says a very striking tradition, he undertook a journey on foot to the great Jewish communities in Europe and Asia, in order to widen his field of knowledge. While traveling in this way he encountered a young monk who was, for a monk, very learned and intelligent. The two young men became very much attached to each other, in spite of the bigotry of those days. One night they put up at a roadside inn where the young Jew was well received out of respect for his companion the monk. As, ill-luck would have it, the two got to disputing about their religions, and, as Rashi was much the more learned of the two, he soon had his opponent logically in trouble. The other lost his temper and cried: "Dog of a Jew! Thou hast blasphemed!" Hearing this the common people drove the Jew out of the inn, and with difficulty he prevailed on them to let him take shelter in the stable.

That night the monk was suddenly attacked with illness. Cramps of so violent a kind seized him that the people of the inn thought he must have the plague, of which every one at that time was dreadfully afraid. So they all ran away and left him to die alone. One of them hastily called Rashi and told him to fly, as the monk was seized with the plague. Now the young Rabbi was, like all learned Jews of his time, a good deal of a physician. Forgetting the unkindness of the monk, he thought only how to aid the poor sick man, and, alone and unaided, he nursed him all that night. He soon had the disorder, which was not the plague, under control.

Next day, when some of the frightened villagers ventured timidly back to the inn they were amazed to see the supposed plague-stricken man sitting up, looking much better, and talking to the young Jew whom he had caused to be driven out the night before. Well, the monk soon got well and then they parted, with many expressions of gratitude on the part of the monk.

Rashi spent some years in traveling about and at length reached the great city of Prague, where there was a renowned and wealthy Jewish community. Now the reigning Duke of Bohemia, Wladislas, was a very bigoted, narrow-minded man and hated the Jews. When he heard that the Jews of Prague were paying great honor to a young Jew who had traveled on foot through many countries and was said to be writing a book, he settled in his clever mind that Rashi must be a spy and had him seized and charged with treason. Now, in those days such a charge before such a judge meant almost certain death to the accused.

While Rashi was defending himself to the best of his ability before his prejudiced judge, a herald arrived to announce the approach of the famous young Bishop of Olmutz, the new legate from the Pope. The Duke adjourned the trial and hastened to welcome the great man. He humbly kissed the haughty legate's hand in token of his fealty to the Pope. After a warm reception he explained to the Bishop that he had just been trying a spy. "If your Grace will deign to be present while I sentence the culprit, you will be able to report to His Holiness how I deal with the infidel Jews." So they brought in the poor innocent Rashi and the Duke began to abuse him violently, and was just sentencing him to be executed when the legate rose and cried: "Hold! Harm no hair of that man's head! In the name of His Holiness, the Pope, I command you!"

So then he left his seat of honor and with his own hands unbound this prisoner's fetters and holding his hand in his own he told them how the learned young Jew had saved his life only a few years before.

Well, when they all heard that story nothing was too good for Rashi. Favored by the Duke and backed by the influence of the Pope's legate he was able to do great things for the Jews of Prague and secured many privileges and advantages for them, some of which, I believe, existed almost down to our own day.

You may imagine how the Jews of Prague regarded him! Nothing was too good for him. The wealthiest, most learned and most influential Jew in Prague gave him his daughter in marriage. Rich, honored alike by Jew and Christian, happy in the love of his wife, Rashi, for a while, forgot his great work. Suddenly he was startled into consciousness of the facts of life by an attempt to assassinate him. This, it turned out, was done at the instigation of a favorite of the Duke of Bohemia, who was jealous of the favor Rashi enjoyed.

When the Rabbi recovered from his wound he took a strange resolution. He had the report that he had died spread abroad and, in disguise and poverty, he and his wife set about to return to his native land on foot.

"I had forgotten my real work in this world," he explained. "Puffed up by the notice of the great and the rich I left unfinished the offering I had intended for God's altar and brought 'strange fire' in its place into the 'Appointed Tent.' I have left the honor and the wealth of the world behind me and have returned to the modest discharge of my true duty to God." Acting on this reasoning he at length reached his native land, accompanied by his wife, and was appointed Rabbi of his native city, Troyes.

Perhaps you think he had a great salary as Rabbi of Troyes and lived in comfort on it for the rest of his life. Nothing of the sort! In those days the Rabbi did not receive a salary. If he had means of his own he lived on it. If not, he earned his living by labor. I suppose he was not allowed actually to starve, but beyond that he had to depend on himself.

And so Rashi lived out his long, laborious life of plain living and high thinking. And what do you think was the last thing tradition records him to have uttered? It is this: "Would God I could have a few more years of life granted to me so that I could rewrite my commentary and make it less pretentious, clearer and simpler."

If you think of it the old man who could thus criticize the great work of his life had attained to a higher, nobler and purer humility than that which prompted him, as a young man, to throw up honors, wealth and ease for a life of labor and poverty in God's cause!

If, then, a nation may be judged by the qualities it honors in its heroes, I think I have said enough to prove to you that our fathers, held in the highest honor humility and modesty; and that what characterizes the true Jew are dislike and avoidance of all presumption and pretense and love of meekness, modesty and honest merit.

A large audience gathered at the theatre in Montgomery, Ala., to listen to a brilliant address on "Les Miserables," by Dr. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, the eminent Unitarian divine. The lecture was under the auspices of the B'nai B'rith, and the speaker of the evening was introduced in a few well-chosen remarks by Mr. D. S. Hausman. The lecture was a rare literary treat, and was thoroughly appreciated by all.

This season's course of literary meetings under the direction of the B'nai B'rith came to a fitting close. Mr. C. A. Lanier, a gentleman of erudition, read an instructive paper on "The Relation of Art to Life." Miss Julia Moses presented a carefully prepared paper on "Zionism," which called forth considerable discussion. Mrs. Leon Weil recited, and there were several musical numbers. The committee hopes to continue the good work next season.

Dr. Jones also delivered the above lecture before the members of Birmingham Lodge, of Birmingham, Ala.

Stern entertained the members of the testimonial committee of District Grand Lodge No. 1 and also the members of the executive committee of the order, general committee of District No. 1 and endowment committee, at a dinner at Scherz's Harlem Casino on Sunday evening last. Among those present were Hon. Julius Harburger, grand master of the order; Isaac Engel, grand master of District No. 1; William A. Gans, chairman of the endowment committee; William Bookheim, of Albany, first deputy grand master; Emil Taussig, second deputy grand master of the district; I. H. Goldsmith, grand secretary, and Louis Frankenthaler, grand treasurer. Mr. William A. Gans presided and acted as toastmaster. It was a jolly gathering, and broke up in the early hours of the next day.

Troy City Lodge, No. 83, of Troy, N. Y., will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary with a banquet at Altruria Hall on Tuesday evening, April 15. It is expected that the officers of the order and district grand lodge will be present.

Naphtali Lodge Circle had an entertainment and reception on Sunday evening last. Grand Master Engel and the officers of the general committee were present at the same.

Daniel Webster Lodge, No. 24.

Treasurer Joseph Anderson was called to the chair last Sunday night to initiate four new members. He was extremely felicitous in his address. Seldom, if ever, were the exercises conducted more earnestly and with finer feeling. Brother Anderson was warmly congratulated on concluding the ceremony. He is a sturdy Free Son, and his lodge may well be proud of him. Recently he became a grandfather. Too bad it was not a boy. Joseph would surely have made him a Free Son.

Atlantic City, N. J.

The excitement incident to the "great fire" has subsided and the good hotels are again being rapidly filled. The Hotel Koopman is proverbially recognized as among the "good" hotels, and has always been patronized by the elite of Jewish society. Mrs. Koopman provides her guests with an excellent menu, airy, clean rooms and excellent attendance. A home feeling pervades the hotel, and as it is contiguous to the ocean the guests enjoy the benefits of the ozone atmosphere. A personal experience enables us to cordially recommend the Hotel Koopman to all who intend visiting Atlantic City during the coming season.

With the influx of visitors the Friday evening Sabbath services in the neat little synagogue are being well attended. Dr. Mendel's sermons are well delivered efforts and make a favorable impression upon his hearers.

Recent arrivals at the Hotel Koopman are the following: From Philadelphia—Mr. A. S. Marks, Mr. N. E. Burgauer, Mrs. M. Burgauer, Mr. F. N. Gesson, Louis Wittenberg and wife, Mr. S. Burgauer, Mr. Benjamin Eisman, Mr. Saul Kohn, Mr. E. Wertheimer. From New York—Mr. William Younker, Mrs. G. Hyman, Mr. M. Hyman, Mrs. B. Epstein, Mr. Emil Schaefer. From Baltimore—Mrs. M. S. Levy, Mrs. Rose Moses, Miss E. Moses and Mrs. Myer Fox.

Following is a list of the arrivals at the Hotel Rittenhouse during the past few days: Henry Kraus, Baltimore; A. H. Sternfeld, Philadelphia, Pa.; J. B. Eichengreen, Mr. J. Christensen, Sam Weil, Philadelphia; Mrs. J. Braunstein and maid, Coatesville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. G. Mayer, Jersey City, N. J.; Chas. Silbersmidt, Mr. A. Hafer, Mr. and Mrs. B. Blumenthal, New York.

CITY NEWS.

Seventy-second Street Synagogue.
Rev. Dr. Falk Vidaver will preach next Sabbath on the subject, "The Effect of Education Without Faith."

Mt. Zion Congregation.
113th street, near Madison avenue.
Rabbi Samuel Greenfield will preach on "Is Religion a Hardship?"
The Fair Committee held a meeting last Wednesday night and submitted an accounting of expenditures and proceeds up to date. Congregation Mt. Zion has become solidified and conscious of its strength through its recent activity.

Pike Street Synagogue Religious Classes.
In consequence of the demands upon the Educational Alliance for the use of the Auditorium the Purim entertainment of the Religious Classes, conducted by Mr. Albert Lucas in the Pike Street Synagogue (Kalvare School), could not be held until last Sunday evening, when, before a crowded audience, an excellent exhibition of religious and other work by the children, together with a few numbers by volunteer talent, made up a program which was thoroughly enjoyed.

There was quite a gathering of friends and supporters of the classes, including Hon. Adolphus S. Solomons, Rev. Dr. H. Perelra Mendes and Rev. J. M. Asher, all of whom spoke highly of the good work accomplished by the ladies and gentlemen who are associated with Mr. Lucas.

The two drills were the decided hits of the evening, the children presenting a charming picture of moving color in their pretty costumes, tastefully designed and made by Miss M. Rosina Samuel and Mrs. Albert Lucas.

Mr. Lucas asked the audience to join him in his thanks to the teachers—the Misses Mabel Davis, Henrietta Hyman, Roslyn Jacobson, Mary Marcus and Miriam Nieto, and the Messrs. Herman Cohen, S. P. Frank and Conrad Saphier—and especially to the Misses Roslyn and Dorothy Jacobson, Mary Marcus and Mabel Davis, for their untiring labors in drilling the children; to Miss Emma Karel and Mr. James J. Saphier for the able manner in which they had contributed to the evening's entertainment; to Miss Miriam Nieto, who acted as accompanist at the piano; and, lastly, in paying a tribute to the memory of the late Leonard Lewinsohn, who had been a very generous friend to the classes.

The Purim gift consisted of a box of candy presented to each of the 250 children.

Baron and Baroness de Hirsch Monument Association.

Upon the monument to be erected in Central Park to the memory of Baron and Baroness de Hirsch will be inscribed a sentence uttered by President Roosevelt. This was decided upon last Tuesday night at a meeting held in All Souls' Church, under the auspices of the Baron and Baroness de Hirsch Monument Association. The sentence to appear on the monument is:

"When all is said and done, the rule of brotherhood remains as the indispensable prerequisite to success in the kind of national life for which we strive."

In the resolutions which were passed at the meeting it was stated that this inscription was meant as a voice to the world in behalf of brotherhood and international fellowship.

The Rev. Dr. Silverman, Rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, dwelt upon the evil effects of religious intolerance. He said: "For centuries there has been religion, but there has been no lying down of the lion and the lamb, unless the lamb has been inside the lion. Instead of pursuing the objects of religion, of peace and righteousness, the churches have been engaged in almost mortal combat among themselves for supremacy. The various religions of the world have always fought to push forward their own particular phase of theological thought at the expense of another. Instead of working together they have engaged in internecine strife in order to achieve their own aggrandizement."

"But the time is coming when we will follow the true religion of teaching love of God and love of man. President Roosevelt fought well on San Juan Hill and he has fought another great battle in the White House by recognizing merit in man, whether the man be white or black."

Among the other speakers were Walter S. Logan and the Rev. Thomas R. Sheer.

Young Folks' League Hebrew Infant Asylum.

A long anticipated event in Harlem social circles is the seventh annual entertainment and ball of the Young Folks' League of the Hebrew Infant Asylum, which takes place at the Lexington Opera House (Terrace Garden) on Saturday evening, April 12.

The indefatigable entertainment committee, headed by Willy Levy, have eclipsed all previous efforts in the line of novelties and announce the production of a musical comedy in two acts, entitled "The Debutante," written especially for the league by Samuel H. Speck and Robert A. Keiser. In the cast are Messrs. Henry Doblin, George Betts, Willy Levy, Harry Goldberger, Ira A. Miller, Herman A. Sommerfeld and Joseph Rosenthal, Misses Hattie Kutner, Clara Spitzer, Julia Kahn, Ida Hutshing, Corinne Wollerstein, Carolyn Keene, May Bick, Anna Levy and Hattie Goldman.

The Hebrew Infant Asylum, of which the Young Folks' League is an auxiliary organization, is a charity which deserves all of the enthusiastic as well as material support which has been accorded it since its inception. Its beneficent influences have more than once been felt by the needy ones among the poorer classes of the east side. The Young Folks' League has done excellent work in behalf of this charity and has annually turned over large sums to the asylum from the proceeds of its entertainments. The officers of the league are: Mayer C. Goldman, president; Georgette Cohn, vice-president; Lillian B. Klee, recording secretary; Tillie Bick, financial secretary; Sol Wollerstein, treasurer. Board of directors are: L. B. Simonds, Selig Abrams, Eugene B. Paul, Dora Weyl, Amanda Rappaport, Edyth Marks, Selma Bendin and Henrietta Marx. Entertainment committee are: Willy Levy, Henry Doblin, Sol Wollerstein, P. H. Goldbaum and Oscar Lowinsohn.

Seligman Solomon Society.

Fifteen years old, to-morrow night the Seligman Solomon Society will celebrate the event in Maenechor Hall. A banquet, reception and entertainment will comprise the exercises. Under the present administration the society has grown in numbers and financially. Mr. Michael Wolfe is president, and it is said he will be re-elected for a fourth term next month. This is an unprecedented honor in the history of the society and proves his merit. Among the pleasant events of the week was the celebration of Dr. Baar's birthday on 7th inst. This is an event in which the society always takes great pleasure and pride. Dr. Baar is still engaged in literary work. The third volume of his excellent Bible History is finished. His work has been very well received, and is a useful addition to our Sabbath school literature.

Young Ladies' Charitable Society.

The Young Ladies' Charitable Society celebrated their ninth birthday last Saturday night in the Lexington Assembly Rooms. Not only is this society popular with our co-religionists, but they have the distinction of being the only organization in this city composed of unmarried Jewish women who help the poor, without regard to race or religion. The affair Saturday evening was thoroughly enjoyable, and the attendance, though not large, comfortably filled the large hall. The performance, a professional one, was much appreciated, especially the imitations and whistling of Miss May Evans, who made a decided hit with the audience and received several encores. A few of those present were: Misses Frances Bernhardt, Carrye Cony, Eva Abrahams, Bertha Gluck, Henriette Kraus, Dorothy Weissman, Edith Kohn, Gertrude Halle, Malvina Newman, Celia Krisky, Ella Neuman, Fannie Krieger, Bertha Krieger, Estelle Levin, Bianca Levin, Blanche Rice and Hattie Elliott.

Alliance Israelite Universelle.

The third delegates' meeting of the Israelite Alliance of America will be held Sunday, 13th inst., at 2:30 p. m. in the Temple Ahawath Chesed. Congressman Goldfogle and other prominent speakers will address the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Raunheim, of No. 149 East 92d street, are receiving congratulations upon the advent of a baby girl into their household. The little stranger made her appearance on Thursday, April 8.

Young Men's Hebrew Association.

The regular Friday evening religious exercises were held last week and were, as usual, well attended. After the exercises had been completed Mr. Rudolph I. Coffee delivered the sermon on "Holy and Unholy Fire." The action of Moses and Aaron offering a fire acceptable to God was contrasted with that of Nadab and Abihu, who offered strange fires. So in our own lives we find these two classes of people, the followers of Moses and Aaron, whose deeds are pure and holy and the adherents of Nadab and Abihu, who waste their powers in improper ways. Let us be warned by the death of these men to avoid evil ways and follow the noble examples of Moses and Aaron.

This evening Rev. I. S. Moses will speak. All are most cordially welcome to be present.

Students' Concert.

The last of the season's concerts will be given by the pupils of the National Institute of Music (Professor William M. Sennacher, director) on Monday evening, April 14, at Caledonian Club Hall, Seventh avenue, between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth streets. An interesting program has been prepared and an enjoyable evening is assured.

Piano Recital.

Arthur Rosenstein, son of the Rev. Marcus Rosenstein, makes his local debut as a pianist at Knabe Hall on Tuesday evening, April 15, in recital with the assistance of Dorothy Harvey, soprano, and Leo Lieberman, tenor, two of New York's greatest artists. The many friends of the young gentleman and his father have waited for this opportunity to hear him in public. He has studied under eminent teachers in Montreal, Canada, and in this city.

Jewish Endeavor Society.

Next Saturday afternoon, April 12, at the services of the society in the Shaari Zedek Synagogue, on Henry street, Mr. M. Nathan, of the Jewish Theological Seminary, will deliver the sermon.

Last Sunday night, in room 22 in the Educational Alliance, Rev. Dr. Joseph M. Asher lectured before the society on "The Nature of the Unity of Israel." It was a very thoughtful lecture, and the discussion that followed was most interesting.

Preparations are being made to hold a special service on Saturday afternoon, April 19, as this is the anniversary of the first afternoon synagogue service held by the society.

A Call.

To the Rabbis of the United States, Presidents of the Federation of American Zionists and to the Grand Masters of all Orders of the United States.

You are aware of the resolution in Congress, introduced by the Hon. H. M. Goldfogle, regarding the exclusion of Jewish Americans from Russia. Is it not our duty to support same with all our might?

Let us all appeal from the pulpits, press and everywhere in behalf of our citizens' rights against such discrimination.

Likewise let all rabbis appeal to the ministers of various denominations, papers and magazines throughout the country.

The Israelite Alliance of America shall hold a number of mass meetings in various parts of this city. Let the same be done throughout the land, which will thrill the people—stirring them on to utter an American voice of justice.

NISSIM BEHAR.

The Albany Dental Association, under the management of F. L. Morhard, D. D., has become one of the largest establishments in this city, through the genuine good work it is doing all along. Their new method of extracting teeth and inserting new ones the same day is a feature of the establishment, as well as the manufacture of sets at a lower rate than anywhere else in the city. Their prices are very reasonable, as the following will show:

Extraction, 25 cents, and with painless method (no gas), 50 cents. Sets of gum teeth, $8.50. Full upper and lower sets, $12. Partial plates, from $1.50 to $6.50. Crown and bridge work a specialty. Gold crowns, $6.50. Porcelain crown on pivot teeth, $4. Open evenings until 9. Sundays from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. 291 Third avenue, between 23d and 23d streets.

Straus-Alexander.

On April 6, 1902, by the Rev. Raphael Benjamin, M. A., Julia Alexander to Carl Straus.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Bertha Cohen.

A great loss has been sustained in the demise of the well-known and universally beloved Mrs. Bertha Cohen, who died on Monday, March 31, in the 69th year of her age. A loving wife, a noble mother, and a true daughter in Israel, true to her last breath to all she prized best on earth, those afflicted ones whose relief has been her constant dream, but oft realized in the most practical manner that her noble soul dictated, for who has not heard of a society which is not alone a credit to its race, but is, in fact, a boon to humanity, namely, the Ladies' Fuel and Aid Society, of which the late Mrs. Cohen was one of the organizers and its treasurer from its very inception until her death. Can there be a worthier monument or a fairer name? As long as the pinch of poverty will be felt, as long as the ministrations of angels in the shape of women as Mrs. Bertha Cohen was, will relieve the pangs of the cold and hungry, so long will her name be blessed. On behalf of those countless thousands whose hearts were made lighter, whose tears were dried through the aid of the noble departed, who was associated with so many other helpful organizations besides the Ladies' Fuel and Aid Society, we offer here our tribute to her everlasting memory.

Oh, thou whose noble deeds have won, For thee, for aye, a deathless name, From heaven let thy work be done, To teach to all to do the same.

ROSENTHAL.—On April 4, 1902, at his residence, 36 Hopkinson avenue, Brooklyn, Benjamin Rosenthal. May his soul rest in peace.

KAISER.—Mr. Philip Kaiser, at the age of 62. Funeral from the house, corner Madison avenue and 113th street, March 30. Rabbi Samuel Greenfield officiated.

The monument dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Henrietta Rosenberger will be unveiled Sunday, April 13, at Mt. Hope Cemetery, at 3 p. m., the Rev. Gabriel Hirsch officiating.

At Mt. Neboh Cemetery, in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives, there was unveiled Sunday, April 6, a monument erected in memory of Mrs. Fannie Witts. Rabbi Samuel Greenfield delivered the dedicatory address.

The Great East Side Decides Not to Restrict Immigration.

All evening schools closed for the season last week. On the evening of the 4 inst. the closing exercises of Eve School 7 were held in the large school building, corner Chrystie and Hester streets. The season was the longest in the history of the school, and lasted 120 nights, beginning Sept. 23, 1901. Heretofore 90 nights constituted the term. Mr. Edward Mandel, principal, was aided by a corps of teachers numbering no less than 54 at the height of the season. He is known for his energy and assiduity, and the school showed the result of his forceful leadership. There were many speakers at the exercises, and he spoke last of all, but he received an ovation that must have been very gratifying. Cheer after cheer greeted him, and when at the conclusion of his address he referred to the gentlemanly deportment of the pupils during the recent season, the applause was very loud and prolonged.

School Inspector Mrs. Phyllis T. Leveridge presided. In her opening address she paid a tribute to Mr. Mandel, and referred to him as "an East Side boy now become an East Side man," and said she was proud that she was an East Side woman.

Every speaker who followed her, inspired by her example, boasted of his East Side origin. Among them were: Mr. Moses Greenbaum, brother of the Justice School Inspector Peter R. Gattens, attorney for R. G. Dun & Co., Alderman Devlin and Senator Foley.

During the course of the speaking, at about 10 o'clock, a large delegation of lady teachers from evening school 42, headed by their principal, Mrs. Elger, arrived. Mrs. Elger was called upon to speak.

Among other things she said that in her school of 33 classes every pupil but one was a Jewess. The exercises included musical numbers, patriotic songs by the school, a scene from "Julius Caesar" by some pupils of Mr. Samuel Friedman's class, and a good debate on the Chinese Exclusion Act. The debate was won by the negative side. The last speaker, a pupil of Mr. Israel Appel, did very well, and, in the opinion of many, spoke the best. Books, medals, certificates and diplomas were distributed for excellence and diligence. Among the teachers whose records for attendance were highest were Mr. Endelman, Mr. Arthur C. Mandel, Mr. Israel Appel and Mr. Samuel Friedman in the higher grades, and Mr. Leopold Minster, Mr. Hymen Chimenko, Mr. Marcus, Mr. Graditzer and Mr. London in the other grades. Mr. Mandel has worked hard to build up this school, and his labors were not in vain. Both teachers and pupils esteem him highly.

Among the visitors on the platform were Mrs. Edward Mandel, Mrs. Julius Mandel, Mrs. Samuel Friedman and many other ladies and gentlemen. The graduating class numbered over 100. The valedictory address by one of Mr. Samuel Friedman's pupils was delivered in a manner that reflected great credit on all concerned.

So the "Ghetto" is not so dark, after all!

LITERARY.

Hearth and Home Essays.

(By Esther Ruskay, Jewish Publication Society.) This special series contains twenty-one essays upon religious, home subjects by Mrs. Esther J. Ruskay, who is well known in the Jewish community for her earnest efforts in behalf of conservative Judaism. The sketches, which will interest every Jewish reader, are short, written in a pleasing manner and the style peculiarly commends itself to all classes of readers.

Montreal.

The usual Purim entertainment of the young folks of the Spanish and Portuguese synagogue was postponed this year in consequence of the death of Mr. Gershom De Sola, a brother of the minister of the congregation. The deferred entertainment was held last Sunday, and the lecture hall of the synagogue was crowded. Mr. J. L. Samuel presided, and the proceedings were of an interesting nature. Among those who took part were Bram De Sola, Irene Levi, Harry Rosenthal, Joseph Dovia, Joseph Rosenthal, Blanche Levi and D. Rosenthal. Refreshments were served, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent.

The marriage of Mr. Max Fineberg and Miss Rose Coviensky was solemnized last Thursday, Rev. Mendola De Sola officiating.

Borough of Brooklyn. Borough of Richmond

Tannenbaum-Schulhofer.

On Sunday, April 6, Miss Marie Schulhofer was united in marriage to Mr. M. Tannenbaum at M. Kahn's reception rooms, 11 Sumner avenue, Brooklyn. Rev. M. Previn officiating. A number of relatives and friends were assembled to witness the nuptials, and many costly presents were received by the young couple. At the banquet toasts were offered by ex-Charity Commissioner B. Midas, A. Bookman, B. Bender, J. Hecht and R. S. Denonn, while a number of messages from across the ocean and continent expressed the good wishes of absent relatives and friends. An original song, composed by Mrs. A. Denonn, after a popular melody, was sung with zest by all present, and the little nieces and nephews of the bridal couple recited and sang. Dancing followed, and, amidst showers of rice, the bridal couple departed for an extended trip to Havana and the principal cities of Cuba. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. B. Midas, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bookman, Mr. Joseph Hecht, Mrs. E. Gumpel, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bender, Mr. and Mrs. S. Bender, Mr. and Mrs. M. Bender, Mr. and Mrs. A. Denonn, Master Philip A. Denonn, Mr. and Mrs. Berger, Mr. and Mrs. J. Tannenbaum, Mr. A. and Miss H. Tannenbaum, Mr. Robertson, Miss Eva Schulhofer, Miss Helen and Elsa Bender, Masters Albert Arthur, Henry and Sidney Bender and many others.

Keap Street Temple Beth Elohim.

Rev. Dr. Winter, the esteemed superintendent of this Sabbath school, has reached Jerusalem. Communications dated at the Holy City have been received from him. Last Sunday morning Miss Jeannetta Baum, principal, led the children in a short prayer for his welfare. In Class 1 Dora Simon, May Lewin, and Charles Rosenbaum, and in Class 2 Helen Levinson, Dolly Lyon and Anna Samuels attained the maximum during March. Among the visitors last Sunday were Trustee Mrs. Kozjjesen, and Secretary Mr. Louis Spitz.

Bijou Theatre.

A welcome departure is promised in the play "Man's Enemy," to be presented in this city at the Bijou Theatre April 14. It differs from the recent melodramatic offerings in paying more attention to dramatic plot than to mere comic and sensational features. It tells a simple, yet powerful story of city and country life, which is enhanced by splendid scenery and novel stage effects.

Grand Opera House.

The management takes pleasure in announcing that Mr. William Morris will positively appear as Dick Carewe during the engagement of "When We Were Twenty-One" at this theatre, week of April 14.—The company has been highly praised for their finished work in this great play, and although under the management of Mr. Morris, he has not appeared with them this season.

Grand Rapids Furniture.

D. W. Brown, furniture dealer, 47 and 49 West Fourteenth street, announces the arrival of his new stock of the famous Grand Rapids furniture, of the latest and most striking designs. It is a choice selection of furniture for every use, made in the greatest furniture city in the world, and will be sold at prices that mean a saving to intending purchasers.

Mr. Brown makes a specialty of furnishing summer cottages, complete from top to bottom, in either the highest grades of furniture or the modest, inexpensive kind, to suit all those whose temporary abode at the seaside or mountain resorts call for strict economy and yet affording all the comforts and luxury required.

For everything in furniture, carpets, rugs, bedding, matting, oil cloths, etc., D. M. Brown, 47 and 49 West Fourteenth street, is headquarters.

S. W. cor. 55th St. and Third Ave., NEW YORK. M. FRANKEL & SON, Caterers.

Our pretty synagogue was crowded from pit to dome last Sabbath, it being the occasion of the installation of the new cantor and choir. The services were impressive, and the sweet, touching melodies of the ritual composed by men whose heart strings were tuned to the key of love and glowing passion for Israel floated through the sacred edifice, and inspired us with a new love, new affection and new determination to stand by the banner of historical Judaism. We don't want any radical Cincinnati Occidental, ham-eating, Sunday-Sabbath piping, hand-talking, funeral tone declaiming Reform service. Our Reform is Jewish to the core. The old prayer-book is good enough for us. Stabat Mater and Calvary and Cavalleria Rusticana and Faust are good music, but not in a Jewish Temple.

The Hebrew classes are organized and in full swing. The Sabbath school on Sunday morning from 10 to 12 is in charge of Rev. Mr. Goldfarb, our chazan, and Mr. Samuel Katscher. The work done in that school is worthy of the highest commendation, and every parent ought to be glad of the opportunity to have so excellent a school to send their children to.

Brother Max Solomon, a member of our congregation, and one of the prominent residents of the island, has been elected vice-president of the Poultry Farm Association. Talk about Jews not being interested in sweet agriculture and chicken-raising. Perish the thought!

Mr. S. L. Cohen, of New Haven, was married to Miss Sarah Sachs, of the same town, last Sunday. The bridegroom is related to Mr. H. Witepsky, a trustee of the synagogue on Staten Island, and both he and his wife attended the wedding. We congratulate. All the young couple needs now to complete their happiness is to move to Staten Island and join our congregation.

There was birthday cake in the home of Mrs. Sewal, in Mariner's Harbor. Little Dora Topsy Sewal celebrated her eighth birthday. Many happy returns.

One of the most promising pupils of the Hebrew school in Port Richmond is little Miss Josie Mendelson. She can read Hebrew and translate from the sacred language with a fluency that is quite astonishing, and certainly gratifying.

The young ladies of the congregation speak about arranging a strawberry festival. Good idea. We want the young people to rub elbows with us. New life. New blood. New energy.

After services last Sabbath Kiddush was served in the vestry rooms. Cake was furnished by Mrs. A. Mord (and her cakes are famous) and Miss A. Witepsky.

Moving Pictures of Mystery at the Eden Musee.

No invention has progressed more rapidly in the past few months than the art of taking moving pictures. Hundreds of ingenious artists all over the world have been quietly working, and the result is that the pictures now taken are really wonderful. This is particularly true of the so-called "mysterious pictures." The Eden Musee has been specially active in this branch, and at all times have the latest and most complicated pictures on exhibition. All the pictures at the Musee are shown in series of twelve each, and a different series is shown each hour, so that visitors can see as many different pictures as they desire by simply remaining. In the mysterious pictures the most wonderful things happen. Ghosts, fairies and demons appear and disappear and real persons move around as if by magic. The afternoon and evening concerts contain choice selections of vocal and instrumental music, and altogether the Eden Musee is one of the most interesting places in New York City, and is often referred to as one of the seven wonders of a great city.

New Haven, Conn.

The engagement of Miss Sadie Brownstein to Mr. Harry Rosenfeld, both of this city, took place here last Sunday at Miss Brownstein's residence, on Gold street. A collation was served, and during the evening musical selections were rendered by a number of those present.

A new association, known as the Knights of Israel, has been organized. It is a benefit and endowment association, and already numbers 150 members. At a meeting held on the 15th of March the following officers were elected: President, G. Plus; vice-president, R. Luehman; secretary, M. L. Bally; treasurer, J. Leeds; chairman legal board, A. D. Sternbach. The society will give a social for its members and their friends next Sunday, and the arrangement committee is working hard to make the affair a success.

The wedding of Miss Rose Statin to Mr. Ike Setlow, both of this city, took place last Sunday at the home of the groom, on State street. Rev. H. Saxe officiated. A banquet was served, after which the members proceeded to enjoy musical numbers and vocal selections. The bridesmaids were Miss Goldie Baker and Miss Mizzy, and Messrs. Henry Setlow and J. Mizzy acted as best men.

Dr. Blumstein, a member of the board of directors of the Hebrew Educational Alliance of this city, and one of its active members, in a recent interview said: "We are fully conscious of the benefits to be gained through an institution such as the H. E. A., and we spare no efforts in our endeavor to save the Alliance from falling into a sleep that knows no waking." A meeting of the board of directors of the Alliance will take place some day at the end of this month.

Bridgeport, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Block of New York are in this city visiting Mr. Lang on State street.

The members of the Daughters of Israel Society are proving themselves tireless workers in the cause of providing a synagogue for this town. Bridgeport as yet has no synagogue, although one is urgently needed.

The Purim ball recently given by this society was, as previously reported in the Hebrew Standard, a highly successful affair, and the next venture, very likely, will be a theatrical performance.

Sabbath Portion of the Law:

תּוֹרָה

The word "alms" has no singular,
as if to teach us that a solitary act of charity scarcely deserves the name.

The future of Judaism depends upon the religious education given to our children, accompanied by the force of parental example.

Reform, like fashion, must be forever new, or it becomes tame and insipid, besides being normally stale,
flat and unprofitable.

Organized charity is a protection against mendacious pauperism, but it becomes a menace to Judaism when it merges into machine charity.

We don't believe in strong-minded women. All a woman has to do in this world is contained within the duties of a daughter, sister, wife and mother.

The term "agnostic" is only the Greek equivalent of the Latin and English "ignoramus"—a name one would think scientists would be slow
to apply to themselves.

We call the attention of our readers to the list of subscribers to the Building Fund of the Mt. Sinai Hospital, published on pages 10 and 11. Does your name appear? If not it should.

Let your Judaism be seen. Lamps do not talk but they shine. A light-house sounds no drum, it beats no gong; yet, far over the waters its friendly light is seen by the mariner.

The Talmud says, "that it was through the merit of righteous women that our fathers were delivered from Egypt." The future of Judaism is in the hands of Jewish mothers.

It is only the shallow-pated Rabbi who threshes out the old straws of "Reform" in his sermon, while the golden grain of Jewish religious thought remains untouched.

The sermon of the Rabbi may not suit your highly-developed intellectuality; the singing of the choir may grate upon your critical musical ear;
the somnolent recitative of the Cantor
may lull you into temporary repose,
but if your thoughts are inclined heavenwards, your visit to the synagogue will bring you spiritual refreshment, comfort and joy.

An Honorable Name.

טוב שם טוב משכן טוב

"A good name is better than precious oil."
Ecclesiastics vii, 1.

We read in the Sidrah of this week
the process of purifying the leprous person. He brought a sheep to the priest as a trespass offering, and the priest had to take of the blood of the offering and touch the man at various points. Then the priest took oil and sprinkled it in the same way as the blood. The remaining oil he dropped on his head, thus making an atonement for him before the Lord.

Let it be first understood that blood
is the symbol of abhorrence, of repugnance and guilt, while oil is just the opposite—the symbol of gladness and honor. The leprous man in Scriptures, was not the leper whom the ablest physicians find incurable. It was that symbolically spoken-of leprous man, whose morals were as vicious and contagious as the leper, which is evident from the fact that he had to bring a sheep for an אֲשָׁמָה—as a trespass offering. Why should an unfortunate man bring a trespass offering? Again, the duty of the priest in this case bears out the idea. He takes the blood of that offering and touches his right ear, his right hand and his right foot, indicating that his guilt lay in his ear.
He had given attention to frivolous matter instead of hearing the good counsels of loving parents and faithful teachers; his hand was stretched out to wicked devices, to sinful acts,
and his feet carried him to wrong
doing—to places of iniquitous pleasures. He had fallen so low as to be as loathsome as the leper. But when all had shunned, avoided and despised him, one friend still lingers near, ever ready to stretch out its beneficent hands and redeem him, if he but turn to him, that is Religion. The priest,
the expounder and teacher of religion,
impresses this upon him, and as he penitently stands before God's altar,
giving ample evidence to the priest
that he rues what he did, that he repents of his evil ways, then the priest sprinkles the oil upon his ear, impressing upon him how honorable and profitable it is to listen to wholesome instruction; he sprinkles oil upon his hand and foot, indicating that real repentance must be the work of his own hands. His feet must not stray from the right path and not lead him to wicked ways. It speaks to him in accents of religious monition, "A good name is better than precious oil."

And the lesson is no less valuable and important to day. We hear it often said by some, that they have gone too far—they have corrupted their life too manifestly to turn to religion, but God loves a repenting soul, a returning sinner. Even though the ear may be stained with the blood of iniquity,
the hand may be touched by blood of wickedness, the foot may be marked with the blood of indiscretion and sin,
it is yet not too late to embrace religion, and when sincerely embraced and its dictates followed, a good name may yet be regained. The oil of gladness may yet drop on the ear, the oil
of honor may yet perfume the hand,
and the foot may again turn to righteousness. Life may yet lead to holy pleasure and the name better than precious oil be yet achieved.

If Paradise was lost through woman,
she alone can regain it.

A Jewish Reformatory.

The news that, last week, Senator Elsberg's bill, incorporating the Jewish Protector and Prisoner's Aid Society, was passed at Albany, is of a very acceptable nature. The bill empowers the existing Jewish Prisoner's Aid Society to unite with the Society for establishing the proposed "Jewish Protector" or reformatory and educative institution for delinquent Jewish children, and it makes due provision empowering the New York city authorities to appropriate money for the "care, support and secular education" of the inmates of the projected asylum for juveniles.

This is the necessary preparatory step towards establishing an institution, the absence of which has long been felt to be a serious deficiency in the circle of our institutions for dealing with the sick, poor, and weak of the great Jewish community in New York.

It is believed that there are quite five hundred, if not more, Jewish children in Christian institutions awaiting transference to the Jewish body which shall undertake to tend these unhappy young delinquents.
There will be no extra cost to the city,
which already pays for their maintenance in the non-Jewish reformatories.
But Jews will have to put their hands into their pockets in order to provide for the buildings and organization necessary to the proper discharge of this too long-neglected yet imperative communal duty. This we have no fear but that they will do cheerfully.

It must be borne in mind that the great majority of these children are not really criminal. In the New York Juvenile Asylum a handsome, bright, intelligent lad, who was learning telegraphy, was pointed out to a visitor as a Jewish child. Asked why he was there he replied: "I fired a stone through a window." He had been an inmate of a Jewish orphanage and had been discharged to the care of his mother, a poor working widow. Now, for a boyish act, he was herding with criminal children and would have to go through life with the stigma of a brutally unnecessary police-record attached to his character.

Hundreds of Jewish children have been, in the past, committed to Christian reformatories—placed out in excessively Christian homes, and reared in the belief that Judaism is an un-godly and superseded religion—whose offense against society was no graver than that of the lad cited above. So long as the New York streets are the only play-ground for the enormous majority of Jewish children, so long will such innocent delinquents be produced in numbers.

A Jewish institution will act in two ways to remedy the existing evils. It will be its first care and business to make the utmost use of the new Children's Courts and Probationary officers—and thus wipe off 75 per cent.
of the number of committed delinquents; and it will provide a Jewish atmosphere for the reforming, by Jewish methods, of the residue of comparatively unoffending child misde-meanants and of training them to be good Jews and useful citizens. We are very much mistaken if the funds necessary for the starting of the new incorporation on its beneficent and valuable career will not be amply and promptly supplied by the Jews of this city and of this country.

The New York and Cincinnati Rabbinical Colleges.

When a man gives about a third of a million towards the purposes of a corporation whose expenses in the previous year amounted to less than 11,000 dollars; when that man moreover undertakes for a term of years
to give $5,000 annually for the current expenses of the institution interested, it is evident that his views will be extremely likely to prevail.

Mr. Jacob Schiff has given $100,000 to the new Jewish Theological Seminary of America. He has given a valuable piece of ground in a well-chosen neighborhood, he has promised to erect a building to cost about $130-000 and he promises an annual sub-vention of $5,000 for the next three years, at least. Here is his idea of the future course the re-organized Seminary will pursue as conveyed in a letter to the old Seminary Association:

"What will be taught to the students should be sufficiently conservative to satisfy the reasonable orthodox Jew, while at the same time it should, with tolerance to all views, enable those who graduate from the new seminary to choose for themselves what course to follow, and to become in any event dignified ministers and teachers, to whom Jews of every shade of belief can look up with respect."

Two things are evident. There is space for wide divergence of opinion
as to what constitutes a "reasonable orthodox Jew." And no institution could hope, or should desire, to prevent its graduates from choosing their own views after the fledglings have quitted the parental theological nest.
Much will now depend upon the personal equation of the new President of the Faculty, Professor Schechter.
Should the future course unhappily assume an undesirable complexion, it is a relief to reflect on the patent fact that Jewish learning, Jewish wisdom and Jewish faith never have been,
and never will be, dependent on any one institution.

We are gratified and delighted that our local institution is in a fair way to be suitably endowed. We wish it God-speed and hope great things from it.

And now we have to ask our Reform brothers why they are leaving the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati to languish without due and fitting endowment? Is their Reform a mere sham or has it really a sub-strumum of earnest longing for religious truth tempered by a respectable desire for greater freedom than Ortho-doxy, in its undeniable wisdom, will consent to grant them? In the former case, of course, there is little to be said.

But if there be any earnestness or real religious feeling in the Reform
camp surely the action of the New York Jewry will shame its bivouackers into action. No seminary or college can ever hope to do earnest useful, lasting, honorable work while it is dependent on the flux and reflux of the tide of the ill-informed religious sentiment of the general public. Our Reform brothers should set to work
at once to endow their college suitably, or "Reform" will end by becoming a by-word and synonym of contemptuous significance in the Jewish world. And even the most rigidly orthodox Jew would do much to avoid that very undesirable consummation.

The man without religion is to be pitied; but a godless woman is a horror above all things.

The Problem of the Ghetto.
VIII.

(Analysis of articles:
I. The unprecedented gathering of Jewish refugees in New York. Reason why special help is needed. Help now given is of two harmful kinds: (1) the pauperizing aid of the foreign Hebrew and (2) the callous quasiscientific help of the charity-organizer.

II. Why the Jewish charity-seeker is at once a far more hopeful and a far more difficult subject for the almoner's care than the ordinary. Why a new stand-point is necessary for the almoner.

III. Why the leverage of a common religious belief is absent. Why the foreign Jew sees every preconceived ideal of morality and religion topsy-turvy here.

IV, V, and VI. Why there is a graver social evil among the immigrant Jews in New York than there should be. The necessity to avoid exaggeration.

VII. How the facts were at first suppressed, and then designedly exaggerated,
for political purposes.

VIII. Why we cannot disperse the ghetto.
We must strive to improve it.)

What should be the first step towards improving the ghetto? Obviously to enlist on our side all the best elements of the ghetto. There is plenty of intelligence, vigor, zeal, enthusiasm for humanity and capacity for recognizing ideals running to waste
among those brothers of ours down there. We must build a reservoir which shall store all this force potential for improvement; we must create machinery which shall so manipulate this stored force that the ghetto shall work out its own salvation.

The organization and experience of the Educational Alliance supply us with hints as to what errors to avoid,
what means to adopt, in order to bring this about. The Alliance has striven long and arduously to bring home the blessings of Americanism, as seen through its own special lenses, to the foreign Jew and has gloriously succeeded in overturning his mental,
moral and spiritual conformation.
Fortunately, there have always been two parties on its Board of Management. The tendency to recognize the mental atmosphere and customary spiritual environment of the ghetto Jew has been the best motive power in its work. But we really must not demand too much from the Alliance.
Its highest possibilities are, after all,
only realizable within a very narrow circle while the work to be done is almost boundless.

Yet, as we have said, the institution supplies us with the most valuable of hints. It is as to the importance of cultivating the Yiddish dialect. Masliansky's Yiddish addresses are more potent for good among the ghetto Jews than all the superfine lectures and speeches that could be delivered by the most earnest and sympathetic of English or German-speaking orators.

We must reach the Yiddish speaking Jew and Jewess of the ghetto by every avenue of sentiment that will appeal to them. Obviously, this can only be done in Yiddish.

Are the acquired or enforced habits of the ghetto-dweller insanitary and unhygienic? Let us knock at the door of every room with Yiddish tracts and pamphlets on the subject. Let us explain, in Yiddish, what are made the commonplaces of ideals of life to the English-speaking American by the English newspapers and lecture rooms.

Should the worker be shown how to escape the sweater—by intelligent co-operation, by the utilization of every means of escape, by the operation of a series of labor-bureaus for Jews spread all over our Continent?—
let us flood his home with Yiddish tracts giving information on these subjects. Let us thrust into his hands, at every turn, pamphlets, in Yiddish, which shall let him know his strength, which shall let him know the dangers to be avoided while enlightening him as to the vistas of release which America opens up to him.

Is the ghetto-dweller the victim of snide lawyers, shyster agents, and swindling tricksters?—let us teach him the law, his rights, his privileges, by Yiddish tracts and pamphlets on the questions of practical interest to him.

Do we desire to purify the moral atmosphere of the ghetto? do we wish to extinguish the "red lights" in the tenements? to reclaim the fallen ghetto-girl? to instruct the ghetto-boy as to the dangers—physical, moral, spiritual—of the cheap and nasty sirens whose raucous voices are calling to him?—let us litter their homes with Yiddish pamphlets on the question.

Do we wish to preserve for the ghetto-Jews their religious and moral elevation while robbing their spiritual atmosphere of the evil effects of anachronistic customs and mis-placed minhagim?—let us do it by giving them numbers of Yiddish-speaking trained modern Rabbis, let us give them services and rituals that appeal to them in the homely dialect they love. Let us raise them by the use of lifts they can understand and trust in.

We must ennoble the Yiddish dialect, for at the moment it is our one reliable lever by which to raise the ghetto Jew. Let us overwhelm him at every turn by arguments, appeals, instruction, statistics, in Yiddish. Let us elevate the Yiddish stage, let us aid the Yiddish press, let us supply the Yiddish synagogue service.

Almost the first necessity towards a radical cure of the ghetto evils is the creation of a bureau for the wide-spread, persistent, intelligent dissemination of tracts and pamphlets in Yiddish on every conceivable subject of interest or value to the ghetto Jew. We want at once—and we want it badly—"A Yiddish Sociological, Health, Moral Purity, and Religious Tract Society."

Correspondence.

Four Interrogations.

Editor Hebrew Standard, As the Passover is approaching and the feast of unleavened bread is approximating, I'll crave the indulgence of the enlightener "Aspaklarya" in interpellating the following quartet of queries:

First—Li parva licet componere magis, on the authority of the second of Rabbi Ishmael's thirteen rules for homiletic theory, "A decision deduced from an agreement, or equality of texts," I wonder what became of the Hebrew "Hebrew" edited in 30 Canal street, New York City, by Mr. Rosensweig, to whom I recently sent the subscription price and received nothing in return?

Second—What is the fate of the Hebrew monthly "Hamediah" LeChodoshim, published by Herman Rosenthal, of the Jewish Encyclopedia?

Third—"Ohole Shem," accounts of which were frequently given in the above mentioned journal, mercilessly rendered into "holy shame" in a copy of last year's "Standard," where, among others, havoc was played in reference to my esteemed friend, Dr. L. Ginsberg; is the "tabernacle" spoiled and all the cords broken, or is it a "tabernacle" that shall not be taken down, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken?

Fourth—I presume that Dr. Lilienthal, seeing the failure of his cherished rabbinical schools in Russia, left in disgust, immigrated to America, arrived in Cincinnati and founded the U. H. C. How is it that Professor Deutch, Dr. Grossman, etc., never "remembered that same poor man" in connection with their alma mater?

I revere Dr. Wise, R. I. P., and a letter he wrote to me some five years ago I shall hold in veneration as a charmed relic.

However, I can't accept the idea of סקול הימנה של רומי לא נשמע נלול החמה הזמנר. In order not to be responded to with the traditional עברם הייני I sign thus, your humble servant, NACHMAN HELLER. Waco, Tex., March 1, 1902.

The Mirror.

I don't quite know whether to draw a moral from it or confine myself to the bare statement of the following fact. Seven hotels were destroyed in the recent fire in Atlantic City. All of them refused to take Jewish boarders. No hotel which received Jews was injured by the fire.

Suppose I let myself be tempted to moralize? Should I draw the attention of the fire insurance companies and vaudeville jokers to this remarkable ten-plagues-of-Egypt fact, and ask them what are they going to do about it?

Or should I cite the Ovinu Malkenu, slightly edited, and remark cheerfully that these hotels נגר המים במו כנש על קדוש השם 'near the waters went through fire to hallow the Name'? Anyway, I am assured of the truth of the statement and it discloses a very remarkable coincidence.

When the lion was dead a valorous ass went up and kicked it. Cecil Rhodes has incurred the displeasure of a local contemporary which has taken counsel of the infinitesimal nothingness it calls its intellect and brays out a depreciatory note about the departed Caesar. But yesterday the word of this man might have stood against the world. Now lies he there and none so poor in mind but is able to abuse him at will!

Rhodes was a great man—great in every sense! He lived greatly and died greatly, and his testamentary dispositions are in keeping with his greatness. O, little creatures who still crawl under the sun! Can ye not speak well of this mighty dead? Have ye not full freedom to speak ill of your betters who still live? Should not that content your tiny souls?

Why the Cincinnati College was designated the Hebrew Union College, has always been a mystery to me, especially in view of the fact, that its graduates know so little Hebrew.

Rabbi Nachman Heller sends me a seasonable arba kashes in the letter published in another column of this page. I don't know, however, whether to classify Dr. Heller as a chochom, or as a roshe', or as a simple tam. He is certainly not a she-no yodea lishol! shall I zerhacke es shinor, or answer kehilchos hap-Pesach without any maftir? Perhaps I'd better give him the benefit of the doubt, especially as his teeth are in Texas.

Anyway, my polyglot friend is sprightly and witty. I am only sorry his letter is too long to be published in this column. So if I treat him as a "wise son," let me answer him as a wise man should—"upon the first thing first, and upon last thing last."

Rosensweig, I learn, said Boruch dayan ho emes for his Hebrew some three months ago. As to the subscription sent it probably never reached the proprietor of the defunct journal and, unless Rabbi Heller sent his letter covering the coin in Hebrew, it will be returned to him in due course. In any case, when he thinks of the scores who must have received העבר without forwarding the money, Dr. Heller must enjoy his unique distinction of being the one person who sent the money without receiving Ho ivri.

Herman Rosenthal made so much money with his המוריע להרשים that he has bought into the proprietary of the Jewish Encyclopedia and has transferred his renowned magazine to another publisher, Mr. A. H. Rosenberg, of 52 Canal street, who enriches himself with the monthly issue of Hamediah.

The Ohole Shem Society continues its meetings. Every individual member of that world-renowned association continues to be emphatically "Ir." Their joy in their own attainments and their scorn for all Am haratzim remain unabated. They will probably do Prof. Schechter proud next month. Let him be prepared! Dr. Louis Ginsberg still scowls at Aspaklarya and is growing a moustache and imperial which look very becoming.

Talking of the Jewish Encyclopedia I may mention that I ran across him the other day. He is as elastic, keen and witty as ever. To my question: "Well, what's the news?" he answered; "I believe in התורה המצויה now." To which I did not retort wittily: "I always believed you would make a mess of your encyclopedia"—it would have been too unkind! While the pun is good, the implication is untrue. He added, "We are busy with B now. Busy as B's! We are now undergoing 'Baptism'!" I don't doubt it. I always did suspect the orthodoxy of the staff of the Encyclopedia!

I don't know anything at all about the late Dr. Lilienthal's claims to fame in connection with the H. U. C. I fancy that he probably co-operated loyally with the late Dr. I. M. Wise in establishing the Cincinnati College. Will the American Israelite allay Dr. Heller's pangs?

By the death of poor Mandelkern—broken-hearted, it is rumored, at the loss of all his hard-earned savings—the contemporary Jewish stage has lost one of its most remarkable characters. Now that this genuinely great scholar is gone, all his foibles must be forgotten and his faults pardoned. He was really a great intellect. His learning was immense. His Concordance is a monument of patient industry and vast Hebraic attainments which will keep his memory green for many a long year to come.

Born in 1846 in Dubno, of a family renowned for Hebraic learning, he was a graduate of the great Wilna Yeshibah; a doctor of philosophy of Jena; a doctor of laws of Petersburg; a learned professor of Shemetics; one of the first Russian Rabbis to preach in the vernacular; and had been Chief Rabbi of Servia. His wide travel made his personality well-known in all great cities of Europe and America. His writings in Hebrew earned him a world-wide renown and much of his work as well as his better fame will survive him. Ruhe sei seiner Asche!

"Chased Rabbi with a Meat Axe," makes an effective heading, as the Springfield (O.) Sun has discovered. It seems that Mr. Mosinter, shochet of Chesed Shel Emmes congregation of the Ohian city had pronounced an ox trefa. The enraged owner, Julius Grahs, is said to have vowed that he would schecht one kosher ox that day and went for the shochet in true Chad Gadyah fashion. It is believed that the meat-axe is not acceptable al pi din as a substitute for a challef. Doubtless Grahs intended to institute a rigid v'tikah of Misinter's internal organs had not the latter escaped the Maloch Hamoves. Chesed Shel Emmes has now another butcher and the law courts a case which will amuse the goyim vastly. The Talmud Torah School, Detroit, Mich.

Dedication of a Talmud Torah School at Detroit, Mich.

The new Hebrew Free School of Detroit, Mich., was appropriately dedicated on Sunday last. The building, which is located at Nos. 29 to 53 Division street and cost $18,000, was described in a previous issue of the Hebrew Standard. There were 22 numbers on the programme, chief of which was the address of Rev. Dr. Bernard Drachman, Rabbi of Congregation Zichron Ephraim of

New York. Dr. Drachman's speech was powerful and scholarly, and held the attention of every one, young and old. His theme was, of course, the Hebrew Free School movement, what it is and what it means to the orthodox Jew. That the doctor's talk will remain as an inspiration to his listeners for months to come cannot be doubted.

Other numbers included addresses by the school officials, Rabbi Levin and Rabbi Franklin, of Temple Beth-El. In the evening full sway was given to the young people; and a large crowd both of young and old was in attendance. Addresses were made by Dr. J. B. Baruch, the principal of the school; Miss Belle Goldman, Sunday school superintendent; William Saulson, chairman of the educational committee; Rey. H. Buchalter, S. Goldstein, Bernard Ginsburg, Charles C. Simonis, William Friedman, Louis J. Rosenberg, Benjamin Jacobson and Miss Mary Buchalter.

GEIGER & BRAVERMAN.

The Leading East Side Furniture House.

One of the most successful furniture houses in New York and the leading firm on the East side, is that of Geiger & Braverman, corner Grand and Allen streets. The firm of Geiger & Braverman is composed of Charles Geiger and Sol. Braverman, who established their business in February, 1893, in Essex street, beginning in a modest way, with a small stock of goods, but with ample pluck and energy to revolutionize business of the East side. From the beginning Geiger & Braverman sold only first-class furniture, carpets and bedding, etc., and they have ever since adhered to that policy, with the result that they have grown in popularity and prestige by their honorable dealings and by the excellence and durability of their goods. From year to year their business increased until it outgrew their original quarters, and now they occupy the entire homes, at least, give no evidence of reduced circumstances; besides, the installation of good furniture has improved the taste and tone of the people of the East side, whose homes compare favorably with those of the people of any other section of the city, and surpass that of many of them. For this civilizing tendency much is due to Geiger & Braverman, whose trade is constantly increasing, and whose reputation is par excellence.

From a small beginning, they are now the possessors of the largest business in their section, and from the profits of their fair dealing with the public, they have been able to invest in several choice tenement house properties. The financial standing, therefore, is of the highest and the customers of the house derive the benefit therefrom.

People in need of furniture, bedding, carpets, rugs, etc., will do well to inspect their immense stock.

Appeal for Matzos for Jewish Prisoners.

A very large proportion of Jewish prisoners are imprisoned for yielding to some sudden temptation. They are not radically and wholly bad and altogether lost to the influences of religion.

It is our duty to use these influences in every way and at every opportunity. Very many of the unhappy men and women will appreciate the privilege of having Matzos during the Passover days.

We, therefore, appeal to our coreligionists for donations, however small the amount may be, towards the expense of supplying unheavened bread for the Jewish prisoners.

In the Jewish World.

Utica Hebrews have organized a Zionist society and enlisted fifty members at the first meeting.

The Agudath Achim synagogue of Braddock, Pa., awarded a contract on Friday last for the erection of a new synagogue, to cost $15,000.

Commercial Councillor Emil Jacob of Berlin has had conferred on him the Knight's Cross, First Class, of the Grand Ducal Baden Order of the Zähringer Lion.

Rev. Dr. Emil G. Hirsch will deliver a course of lectures on "Medieval Jewish Poetry" at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., from April 8 to 17.

At the last annual meeting of the Rodef Shalom Congregation of Pittsburg, Pa., it was voted to increase the salary of Rabbi J. Leonard Levy from $7,000 to $8,500 per annum.

The Hebrews of Lawrence, Mass., are at present holding a fair, the proceeds of which will go towards covering the mortgage incurred in building the new synagogue, now nearing completion.

Mr. Isaac M. Goldsmith, who died in Philadelphia last week, was one of the founders of the first Dutch synagogue of that city. He was born in Holland in 1824 and resided in Philadelphia ever since 1840.

A compulsory industrial arbitration court, comprising Mr. Justice Cohen of Sydney and one representative each of employers and employes, has been established.

The Hungarian Minister of Justice has entrusted the Jewish lawyer, Dr. Armin Neumann, with the revision of the first section of the Hungarian commercial laws.

The Reichsgericht has rejected the appeal of the editor of the anti-Semitic Staatsbürger Zeitung, who in October last was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for having insulted Justizrath Cassel of Berlin.

The Emperor has bestowed another honor on Herr Ballin, the general director of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company, by granting him the Red Eagle Order, Second Class, with the Crown.

The new synagogue of the Rodef Shalom congregation of Homestead, Pa., was dedicated on Sunday last. Rev. C. Mendelssohn has been installed as rabbi. The dedication sermon was preached by Rabbi A. M. Ashinsky of Pittsburg, formerly of Montreal, Canada.

Rabbi Dr. Benjamin Friedmann died in Berlin a fortnight ago. He was a native of Hungary, but pursued his university studies in Berlin. He held the office of Rabbi of Congregations in Hungary, Meia via and Prussia, and in 1897 he settled in Berlin as rabbi of the United Shochare Hattob and B'nai Brith Congregations.

Herr Eugen Rosenstiel of Berlin, who has just died at Meran (Tyrol), was distinguished for his philanthropy, which largely took the form of providing homes for Jewish children and for Jewish lady teachers. He also presented the Deutsch-Israelitischen Gemeindebund with the site at Weissensee for the establishment of a Jewish workmen's colony.

The well-known anti-Semite, Dr. Rohling, is again on the warpath, for he has delivered a violent speech in Vienna on the Jewish question. He had been quiet for a number of years, as a former Minister and the late Cardinal Schwartzberg, Prince Bishop of Prague, had inhibited him from continuing his anti-Jewish campaign.

Herr Kalman Tisza, one of the greatest statesmen of Hungary, passed away on Sunday last after a very short illness. He had been an active politician since 1861, was a great favorite of the Emperor of Austria and was immensely popular with his colleagues on both sides of the House. He was also loved and esteemed by Hungarians of the Jewish persuasion, whose welfare was always his first consideration. He was occasionally seen in synagogues, and will be sadly missed by Jews and Christians alike in charitable objects, as he made no distinction of sect when distributing alms.

That Yiddish theaters are paying propositions is best evidenced by the fact that, besides the three in operation in New York city, a fourth is under way. Two will shortly be erected in Brooklyn, and now Newark will erect one at No. 19 Springfield avenue. Plans have been drawn, and the management will be vested in Mr. Jacob Rosenthal, manager of the Thalle Theater in this city.

The managers of the Sanitarium for Hebrew Children at Rockaway Park, L. I., have decided to double the capacity of the home on the ocean front, so that there will be no necessity for limiting the number of beneficiaries next season, as was the case last year. The new building will enable the society to provide for mothers and sick children all the year around. The proposed addition will cost $50,000, will be steam heated and will have accommodations for about 150 children.

On the occasion of Mr. E. L. Davis retiring from the position of chairman of the Sydney Stock Exchange, which he had occupied for three years, he was presented by his fellow members with a solid silver after-dinner coffee service, with cups and saucers of Coalport china, as well as a silver cigar and cigarette box. The silver tray bore the inscription: "Presented to Ernest Lawton Davis, Esq., by the members of the Sydney Stock Exchange, in recognition of his services as chairman during the years 1899, 1900 and 1901." Mr. Davis is still a member of the committee.

The annual meeting of the members of the Jewish Ladies' Benevolent Society in Jaffa was held on the 25th of February. The following were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Mme. Stejn (re-elected); president, Mme. Oro Amzalak (daughter-in-law of the British Consul at Jaffa); vice-president, Mme. G. Donicof (re-elected); treasurer, Mme. F. Rabinovich; honorable secretary, Mme. P. Wainer (late of Leeds); committee, Mesdames Caiserman, Frank, Suchovolski, Wainer, Golding and Goldberg.

IRVING PLACE THEATRE.

Herr Ferdinand Bonn.

Schiller's "Robbers," which thrilled and awed and delighted our great-grandfathers, is to the sophisticated theatre-goers of our time—people under twenty excepted; perhaps—a hopelessly tedious and antiquated play, which may possibly be endured at the Vienna Hofburg or the Berlin Ichnauspielhaus. But at the Irving Place, where this season, particularly, the excellent company is accustomed to and trained for entirely different things, this tragic play was very differently performed. To be sure, Ferdinand Bonn personates the arch-villain, Franz Moor, with all the resources of his flexible art; though in the earlier scenes his essentially modern style makes Schiller sound commonplace. The critics, therefore, who on the opening night left the theatre before the last scene of the fourth act failed to do the Bavarian artist full justice. In this scene Herr Bonn's work was lighted up by flashes of genius, and craven fear, horror and remorse were denoted so vividly that the audience sat spellbound. When the curtain fell it was a relief to applaud, and the actor had to appear seven or eight times.

At his second appearance, on Saturday, Herr Bonn showed that his reputation for unusual versatility was well founded. "The Violin Maker of Cremona" deals with a prize contest by the young violin artisans of the town, whose reward is the hand of the pretty daughter of the Master Craftsman, Tadea Ferrari. Giovanna loves the handsome Sandro, but is indifferent to the much cleverer Filippo, who, sure of the prize because he has rediscovered the famous varnish of Stradivarius, relinquishes it, because his love for the girl is so genuine that her happiness is dearer to him than his own. In this charming idyl Herr Bonn, who adapted it from the French of Francois Coppee, played the unhappy lover with real feeling, and the same quality, plus considerable technical skill, marked his performance on the violin.

"The President," Klueger's old-fashioned farce, which followed, showed the star as a Saxon dialect speaking theatrical manager. It was a brilliant bit of low comedy acting, worthy of a Schweighofer, and the spectators at times laughed so uproariously that the dialogue frequently became inaudible.

Finally, in Hartleben's "Farewell to the Regiment"—a faithful transcription of an entirely possible episode of German military life—Bonn portrayed a young officer who, somewhat under the influence of wine, returns home from a banquet given him by his comrades, as a farewell to his transfer to another garrison. He had suspected his wife's fidelity, and in a tete-a-tete with her his suspicions became a certainty. While trying to wring from her the name of her lover the latter enters, a fight ensues, and the half-drunken husband is stabbed to death. This trying role, with all its varying emotions, was given with life-like intensity, power and finish. It marked the climax of the actor's extraordinary talent.

To-night, as well as at both performances to-morrow, Herr Bonn will appear in a comedy from his own pen, "Kiwit-to," acting the part of the Japanese Count Kiwitto.

Next Monday night, reappearance of Sonnenthal in "Nathan the Wise," and on Tuesday night, as well as at the extra matinee on Wednesday, "The Twin Sister," with Frau Helene Odillon as Giuditte. The arrangements for the rest of the week comprise Herr von Sonnenthal's appearance (Wednesday and Thursday evenings) in George Sand's "Marquis de Villemer," and "King Lear" on Friday and Saturday, with Sonnenthal as Lear and Bonn as Fool. Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre.

Frederic Bond, Adelaide Kelm and other favorite members of the Proctor Stock Company will be seen in a splendid production of "The Brixton Burglary," which made such a hit at the Fifth Avenue last week. Willis P. Sweetnam will be the vaudeville feature, and added interest is given to the shows at Manager Proctor's Harlem house, through the introduction of a full orchestra.

Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre.

The Proctor Stock Company will be seen in "The Royal Box" week of April 14. The vaudeville will have the Beaux and Belles Octette as its leader, with Carroll Johnson, in his clever black-face monologue, as another star in the between-act section of the entertainment.

Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre.

Mabel Montgomery will lead the Proctor Stock Company through the mirth provoking scenes of Hoyt's "A Contented Woman." "North Jay Station" will be the curtain raiser. Mlle. Clata's trained dogs and cats, Reno and Richards, James J. Morton, Mansfield and Smith and Edyth Tilden will be in the vaudeville section.

Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre.

Here continuous vaudeville will hold its accustomed sway. Nat M. Wilks, the happy tramp comedian, parodist and jokester, will be the leading feature. Grapwin and Chance, Charley Case and A. O. Duncan's clever ventriloquial specialties will be other star features in a bill which will also enlist the services of the Frazer Troupe, Odetta, Renton and Greene, Sullivan and Pasqueline, Chiquilla and Newell, Rice Brothers, Mitchell and Marron, Herr Von Palm, and Fields and Whallen.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS. Mrs. Winslow's Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, ridges wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.

Mt. Sinai Hospital Appeals for Aid.

The following letter, which has been issued in behalf of the Mt. Sinai Hospital, explains itself:

NEW YORK, April 1, 1902.

We appeal to you to aid us with your contribution to the "Building Fund," and, if you have already subscribed, to favor us with an additional donation, as many others have done, to enable us to complete the new hospital, on 100th and 101st streets, now in course of construction.

The directors, by personal efforts, have obtained subscriptions to the "Building Fund," as per inclosed list, amounting to $1,300,000, but an additional sum of $300,000 is still required to cover the entire cost of ground and construction of the buildings.

The inability of our directors to call on all of our members, able and willing to share in this meritorious cause, has induced this letter to you and to other friends of our institution.

We earnestly and urgently ask you to help us, and shall thank you to mail your contribution to Mr. Kalman Haas, chairman of the Committee on Subscription, 27 William street, drawing your check to the order of Mr. E. Asiel, treasurer. The beneficent work of our hospital for the alleviation of human suffering is well recognized and highly commended; it appeals to man's best sympathies and rightly claims the co-operation of those benevolently inclined. Yours very truly,

ISAAC WALLACH, President.

Subscriptions to the Building Fund received up to March 19, 1902:

Cardozo, Frank Lazarus, Emily Bent, Sarah Lazarus, Agnes Marks, Mary Lindau, Annie Humphreys Johnston, Malvina Nathan, Charles Edward Nathan, Julian Nathan and Josephine Lazarus, the heirs and next of kin of Clara Nathan, deceased, send greeting.

Whereas, Frederick Nathan, of the City of New York, has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved, as the last will and testament of Clara Nathan, late of the county of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 2nd day of June, one thousand nine hundred and two, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament. And such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or, in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding. In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Abner C. Thomas, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said County, the tenth day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and two. J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

Imported Verona Velours

Heavy velvet figured Draperies, in Empire designs—two and three toned colorings—50 inches wide—actual value $4.00 ..... 98
 Heavy velvet figured Draperies, in colorings—39 inch, actual value $4.00 ..... 98

Above is one example of the way we are disposing of the Importers' Stock we thought so far below value—you will find them in Upholstery Department, where are also to be found:

Imported Tinselled Persian and Mosaic Cross Stripes and French Linen Draperies—value $1.00 ..... 30
 Turkish, Moorish, Oriental and Egyptian Figured and Striped Draperies—value $1.25 to $1.75 ..... 70
 Heavy Imported Tapestries in large foliage design—value $1.25 ..... 50
 Very rich French Tapestries in Gobelin effects—value $1.50 ..... 70
 High Class Draperies and Tapestries, Art Nouveau, Mercerized Damasks, French Silk Stripes, "Fig'd" Damasks, Silk Cashmires and Brocades, Fancy Taffeta Tapestries, and extra fine and heavy Petit Points—value $2.90 to $3.00—all at ..... 98

The reason for foregoing extraordinary values is that we closed out an importers' stock a short time ago—goods imported for finest trade and which cannot be duplicated in quality under two and three times our prices.

Blankets
