The Crank.

Here's to the crank! If it were not for him, this world would be empty and idle and grim. For he is the fellow who's doing his best, forgetful of fame, of reward and of rest.

His failures have brought us, a measure of mirth. That was welcome indeed to this busy old earth. And when he succeeds we awaken to find that he is the creditor of all mankind.

So what does it matter if thoughtless ones jeer or offer him pity that's worse than a sneer? For a reverent world oft assembles to thank the man who was one day dismissed as a crank.

"Come Over to Us."

The Two Burning Questions of the Day Confronting American Jews.

John Palay (Ben Amitti) in the Jewish Daily News.

Translated by Rev. S. Rosenberg, Rabbi Temple Beth-El, Jersey City, N. J.

In the past ten years, our philanthropists have been hard at work to solve what they consider an intricate problem. This problem they call "The Ghetto," and they maintain it is the knottiest question which confronts American Jews to-day. They are making every effort to exterminate the Ghetto from the face of the earth. They discuss it in the papers, import special speakers to agitate it in their platforms, publish pamphlets and magazines, in all of which they endeavor to convince the late immigrants from Russia and Roumania that the main drawback to the future prosperity of the foreign Jews in this country lies in the fact of their being huddled up together, where they speak their old tongue, read the jargon newspapers and visit the Jewish theatres. It is alleged that if the Jewish immigrant, immediately upon his arrival here, would go South or West, try to settle in some small country place not inhabited by Jews; moreover, if in place of reading the jargon papers, they would peruse the reports of the English press about races, foot ball or pugilism, and instead of visiting the Jewish theatres, they would take part in the lynching of the Southern negroes, then this would eventually become their "promised land," and there would be no Jewish question awaiting us here in the near future. The very presence of Jews would be unknown, the Hebrew immigrant would readily melt among the other elements of the country; there would be no Ghetto and no charity societies, neither synagogue nor Zionism.

In fact, the cry that the Jews should disperse and disappear, has of late years become so loud and frequent, that the Ghetto seems to be the first and only question concerning the American Israelites, which, in reality, is not the case.

There is another Jewish question commanding our consideration, which is equally as urgent and perplexing as the first one. The only difference in the two being that, while to the first there is no solution, to the second there is one ready and simple. By the second Jewish question I refer to the elite of Jewish society, situated in the fashionable parts of our city. When you hear our Jewish millionaires villify and decry the Ghetto, do not think for one moment that they themselves feel perfectly happy and contented in their elegant locations and magnificent palaces. Far from it; they feel desolate, forsaken and forlorn within the walls of their gorgeous residences. Indeed, so bitter, and intense is their misery at times, that no Ghetto Jew, however poor and humble, would be willing to exchange places with them.

Imagine their troubles! They have immigrated to this country at the time when the opportunity for acquiring wealth was open to everybody. Some of them found their fortune in the gold mines in California, others again, became immensely rich during the late civil war, and still others prospered in their commercial enterprises, as also by speculating in stocks and bonds, the building of railroads, etc. Trusts and monopolies were things unknown, and the man of ordinary ability and intelligence found every field of success wide open before him. Beautiful palaces were built, modeled after the fashionable residences on Fifth Avenue. Many costly and luxuriant objects of art were procured, similar to those of the old aristocratic families. For the purpose of appearing like sports, famous in those days, they acquired the most elegant horses and carriages, built race tracks, and engaged special tutors for their wives and daughters, to teach them refined manners and etiquette. Time and money were lavishly spent on their personal and domestic appearance, every vestige of their former self was removed, excepting, of course, their nose, this being a stationary article, a fixture. All their doings and omissions were directed towards gaining admittance into the aristocratic society. But, do what you may, those aristocratic non-Jews determined, once for all, to close their doors against the Jewish parvenues.

The elegant mansions occupied by our Hebrew millionaires are seldom, if ever, visited by our so-called "Four Hundred," and to the homes of the latter they are never invited. Like exiles on the "Devil's Island," they find themselves isolated in their spacious parlors, and from their lofty windows they can see the doors of the the Astors, the Vanderbilts, the Belmonts and the Goulds opened to every foreign played-out nobleman, every bankrupt Baron, but barred against those rich neighbors of theirs, whom they call Jews. The strains of sweet music are being heard along Fifth Avenue. Carriages are rolling backward and forward, and fashionably attired ladies and gentlemen are seen coming from every direction, gaiety and merriment are noticeable everywhere, it is the annual ball of the Astor house, it is a joyful evening for the aristocracy.

All the millions of our Hebrew financiers are unable to gain admittance into those ball rooms for their daughters, who feel chagrined and humiliated, and who are entirely ignorant as to the cause of their humiliation. They reason with themselves, and finally arrive at the conclusion that the slight was not intended for them, but for their parents, who may have been guilty of some misdemeanor or other before coming to this country.

The situation is embarrassing, nay intolerable. In their hours of despair what do they not do; what means do they not employ to bring about the desired change in their social standing? They flatter every American non-Jew, cringe before every would-be aristocrat; make vast contributions to churches and other Christian endeavors. They intermarry their daughters in Christian families, leading to the marriage altar the child who is to become the life-companion of one who will abuse, degrade, and finally desert her. They even make these specimens of sons-in-law heirs to their large fortunes, all in the hope of advancing their social status. But all to no avail! At the very first recurrence of a fashionable ball or party, this precious son-in-law of theirs makes his departure hither alone, leaving his newly-wedded spouse at home with her parents, to feel and reflect that the Jew is, after all, in exile, be he beggar or millionaire.

This is precisely what we mean by the second Jewish question in America; a question which, as already stated, is as perplexing as the one of the Ghetto, with this difference, however, that while to the first evil there seems to be no remedy, at least for the immediate present, to the second there is an efficacious remedy, which may be summed up in but four words: "Come over to us."

Julius Caesar once said: "I would much rather be the first in a village, than to be the second in Rome." This we also say to our Jewish millionaires. Be the first in the Ghetto, rather than last and least in Fifth Avenue.

Why suffer to be sneered and snubbed by your rich non-Jewish neighbors, who completely ignore you and yours? Why not come over to us, on the East Side, among your own brethren, where you will wear the crown of glory? We promise you to give you all the honor and pleasure you so deservedly demand, so that you will hardly know that you were an exile. Instead of wasting your precious millions among a people that positively refuse to recognize you as one of them, among us, if you will only spend thousands, you will contribute to the happiness and welfare of your countrymen, who will understand to appreciate your kindness, and who will receive you and your donations with open arms.

Why remain like a mendicant among strangers? Come over to us where your millions will obtain for you the love and esteem three times their value. We will give you the best place in our ball-rooms, and accord you a royal reception and treatment in our homes. And if you will honor us by your kind invitation to your residences, you will have visitors as numerous as you care to receive.

You know the old Jewish saying: "Bind me hand and foot, but throw me among my own." Cease, therefore, to seek recognition at the hand of your present neighbors, recognition which you will never get. Come over to us, who have been craving for your company these many years. You are, as a rule, people of good character and repute, and there is every reason to believe that you can become good and loyal Jews. In your present location you are entirely out of place, your presence is undesirable and only forced. Come back to your own people where you will feel perfectly at home.

You claim that the Ghetto question gives you no rest. We say, in reply, that it is your present environments which cause you more pain and anxiety.

We repeat, there is no solution to the first question, but there is one to the second, and that is, "Come over to us."

Otto Irving Wise, of San Francisco, gave an elaborate and carefully prepared study of the Jews in England last week before the San Francisco Council of Jewish Women. He traced the history of the Jews from the time of Oliver Cromwell, whose justice made life possible for them in England, through all the steps gained so laboriously to the time of the election of David Solomon as Lord Mayor of London, the admission of Sir Lionel Rothschild into Parliament and the elevation of Disraeli as Prime Minister of England.

He called attention to the danger that lurks at present for the Jewish people in England in the alien immigration laws pending, aimed at the Russian, Polish and Roumanian Jews. He held that much of the trouble came from the intolerance of the English Jews for their less fortunate brethren.

For the Hebrew Standard.

Yiddish As a Language.

By Rev. S. Greenfield.

Just why the daily press should insist in classifying the average immigrant Jew among the illiterates, is not perfectly clear. Rare, indeed, is the instance in which the man involved, whether he hails from Russia, Hungary or Roumania, does not and cannot read and write, at least, one language. That language may be one that is loathed, despised and even discriminated against—the Yiddish. It may not be a pure tongue, it is confessedly a barbaric mixture of several spoken languages, rude and crude in form and sound. But it is the language intelligible to hundred thousands and even millions of our co-religionists. It is a means of converse and general communication. Its alphabet is that of the sacred language of Scriptures and must be put on a par with any other foreign language, so far as the requisite for American immigration is concerned.

One very good reason for the neglect of the Yiddish by the authorities and the press generally, is the affected scorn with which some of our more "progressive" and reformed brethren of the cloth pretend to regard it. Taking this as a cue, the government authorities are almost justified in their action, in ignoring the possession of the hitherto unclassical Yiddish as a language to speak or write in among the qualifications sought for in the applicant for admission into this country.

Let the pretended aristocrat born in this country, who after enjoying incalculable advantages in education can speak and write but the one language, defer to the man who barred out from all educational advantages both by his own and other people's prejudices has had to manufacture his own rough dialect, a mixture of all the languages prevailing in the countries whence he is driven by the circumstances of the case. The patois and jargon, the existence of which the West Sider deplores is already rich in its poetry of feeling and translations of classic works.

By all means, then, must the Yiddish be looked upon as a language the mastery of which will and deservedly remove a man from the class of illiterates. And very few, indeed, are they among the Jewish newcomers who cannot read or write the Yiddish.

When a man criticizes a woman, it is safe to conclude that she has turned him down.

Z. B. T. Fraternity.

The Z. B. T. Fraternity takes the liberty of making itself known to the public with the hope that it will become interested in its welfare.

The Z. B. T. is a fraternity of Jewish college men that seeks to cultivate and foster a right spirit of conscious Judaism among Jewish young men scattered in the various colleges and universities of our broad land. More definitely the aims of our fraternity, as expressed in our constitution, may not be without interest to you.

First—To promote a fraternal union among Jewish college men.

Second—To interest Jewish college men in Jewish affairs.

Third—To study and discuss problems of interest to the Jews of all classes and religious tendencies.

Fourth—To exercise an influence for good on the Jewish community.

Any Jewish young man eighteen years of age, of good moral character, who shall have attended a college of recognized standing for not less than two years, or who shall have attended a professional school of recognized standing for not less than two years is eligible for membership to the fraternity.

The business of the fraternity is conducted by an executive board called the Beth Din, consisting of the officers and five additional members elected by the fraternity. The officers are:

Nasi (president), Aaron Elseman.
 Ab Beth Din (vice-president) Moses Beckhardt.
 Sophar (secretary), David A. Swick.
 Gisbar (treasurer), Maurice L. Zellermayer.

Since its organization the fraternity has passed through many vicissitudes of fortune, and in the course of its evolution has been compelled several times to broaden its aims and objects and the scope of its work.

It was resolved November, 1901, that the object of the fraternity be the promotion of Judaism:

First—By the fraternal union of Jewish college men.

Second—By the intelligent discussion of its history and principals.

Third—By supporting and aiding societies formed for the same cause.

The above expression of our purpose emphasized the religious phase of Judaism, but it was understood to be only temporary, until some more formal action could be taken. Upon a recent revision of our constitution the expression of our aims took the form given in the beginning of this paper.

Our aims can probably best be understood by showing what we have done, and what we hope to do.

We have brought together about one hundred Jewish college men into one fraternity. This in itself will be considered by those who understand the nature and conditions of Jewish college life quite an undertaking.

Chapters have been established in Boston and Cincinnati and the admission of a chapter from City College is now pending.

Lectures on Jewish history and on other subjects of interest to Jews have been delivered by our members before the fraternity and elsewhere.

We are, however, and have been, very seriously hindered in our work and progress for the lack of suitable quarters. We hope to widen the scope of our work so as to make the Z. B. T. Fraternity the centre and headquarters of all Jewish activities of interest to Jewish college men and the Jewish community at large. In order to do this permanent rooms are absolutely essential. A good deal of our energy must therefore, for the present, and for some time to come, be directed toward raising sufficient funds to establish a permanent home for the Z. B. T. Fraternity.

For this purpose the Z. B. T. Fraternity will hold its second annual ball Saturday evening, Feb. 21, 1903, in the Aschenbroedel Hall, 144-146 East Eighty-sixth street, near Lexington avenue.

As the Jewish student body are not, as a rule, financially prosperous we take the liberty of appealing to the Jewish public at large to attend in large numbers, so as to make the coming ball a grand success financially as it will doubtless be socially.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or from the Sophar.

Talks With My Children.

LESSON X.

David, or the Javelin.

I. Samuel, xvii., 55 to end; xviii., xix., 1-10.

Saul was very glad that David had killed the giant Goliath. David was brought to Saul that Saul might speak to him. He came in with the giant's head in his hand. Then Saul said to David, "Whose son are you, young man?" And David answered, "I am the son of Jesse, who lives at Bethlehem."

While Saul was talking to David, there was a person standing near whom you have not heard of before; it was the son of Saul. He was also a young man, very brave, and very good; his name was Jonathan; he was a prince, because he was the king's son; and the king's son is called a prince.

Jonathan began to love David very much indeed. What could make Jonathan love David so much? I think he loved David because David was so brave and so good; David had also a very sweet look. Still, it was God made Jonathan love David so much. Jonathan told David that he loved him, and they both promised always to be kind to each other. Jonathan gave his own clothes to David, and wore other clothes, and he also gave him his sword and his bow.

Saul told David that he must not go back to live with his father again, but that he must stay with him. So David and Jonathan saw each other very often. How much that must have pleased them, for friends like to be together.

Perhaps you think that David now was very happy. But there was one thing that soon happened to make him sad. I will tell you what it was.

After the Philistines had been killed in the battle, the Israelites went back to their homes and did not live in tents any more. Saul and Jonathan, and David, went to the place where the king lived. As they were going along they saw a great many women with harps in their hands, and these women played as they went, and sang and danced. They were singing about David, and how he killed the Philistines, and they said in their song that David had killed a great many more men than Saul. These are the words they sung: Saul has slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands.

Do you think that David liked to hear these songs? No. David did not wish to be praised; he wished God to be praised. He would have liked to hear the women say that God had helped a poor shepherd to kill the giant.

But when Saul heard these songs he was very angry; for he wished to be praised, and he could not bear to hear David praised more than himself. What, thought Saul, do they say that David has killed more Philistines than I have? Is he braver than I am? How wicked Saul was! He was envious; he was like Joseph's brothers, and he was like Cain.

Then Saul thought, Perhaps David is the man who is to be king instead of me.

Saul remembered that Samuel had told him that God had chosen a better man than he was to be king.

Did Saul guess right? Yes.

Then Saul hated David, and wished to kill David. Saul had these wicked thoughts in his mind when he came back to his own house. Instead of thanking God for his kindness in having helped the Israelites to conquer the Philistines he was thinking how he could kill David.

The next day after he came home God let the evil spirit come into him again. David saw that Saul was ill and unhappy. How did David try to make him well?

He took his harp as he used to do and began to play sweet music. Now Saul had a sharp thing in his hand like a short spear called a javelin; and Saul thought to himself, I will throw this at David, and it shall go through his body. But David saw the javelin coming, and he slipped out of the way, so that Saul did not hurt him. Afterwards Saul threw it at him again, but he could not hurt David. God took care of David.

Every one but Saul loved David, and this made Saul hate him still more.

David behaved so well that Saul could not find any fault in him for which he could be punished. Then Saul told David to take some men and to go and fight against the Philistines. Why did Saul send David to fight? Saul hoped that the Philistines would kill David in battle. David went and killed a great many Philistines, but no one hurt him. Everybody praised him more, and called him brave. Saul grew more angry. At last Saul told all his servants to kill him; but they loved David, and would not kill him. Still, Jonathan was afraid lest some wicked person should mind Saul, and kill David; so Jonathan told David to hide himself while he begged his father to forgive him. So Jonathan said to his father, Why do you wish to kill David? What has he done? Did he not once kill the giant? Then you were glad; why are you angry with him now?

It was kind in Jonathan to beg for David. It is kind in children to beg for each other when they are in disgrace. Saul promised that he would not have David killed. Then Jonathan called David and brought him to Saul, and David was with him as he used to be.

But soon Saul began to hate David again, and the evil spirit was on him still. Then David played on his harp to make him well. Saul had a javelin in his hand, and threw it at David; but David slipped out of the way and the javelin stuck in the wall.

Now David was afraid of staying any more with Saul, and he fled away that night.

He did not go back to his father, for Saul would have looked for him there, and would have found him, but he hid himself in a great many places. You will hear of many sad things that happened to poor David. But God loved him and took care of him. But Saul was miserable, for he was proud and envious like Satan.

I wish you, my dear children, to love one another and not want people to notice you. I hope you will not envy one another, but be glad when other children are praised.

Ruth, the four-year-old terror, could not devour enough of buttered toast that morning. After disposing of a liberal number of slices she was finally told that she must have no more, as otherwise she would be sick. So she sat quietly and gazed wistfully, all the while planning for a flank movement on just another slice, be it by fair means or foul. At last she solved the problem.

"Muzzer," she said, "give me just anuzzer piece of toast an' send for the doctor."

Her Papa's Strength.

Recently in a Columbus Sunday school the teacher was telling her class of small pupils the story of Samson, of whom she spoke as the strongest man who had ever lived.

Little Ethel listened to the story with great interest. After the teacher had finished Ethel held up her chubby hand. "Well, Ethel," asked the teacher, "what is it?"

"Samson wasn't as strong as my papa is."

"Is your father so strong?" queried the teacher, smiling.

"Oh, my papa's offul strong," replied Ethel with emphasis. "Why, I heard mamma say that he had an ellyfant on his hands."—Columbus Journal.

"A widower," remarked the elderly female, "always reminds me of a baby."

"How's that?" queried the young girl.

"During the first six months he cries a good deal, the next six months he begins to take notice, and the odds are against his getting safely through his second summer."—Chicago News.

Seligman Solomon Society.

Despite the great storm that swept over our city last Monday night, many young men and young women members of the alumni of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum assembled at Cafe Loggeling, on East 57th street, to take part in the annual services held by the society to honor the memory of Seligman Solomon, to "say Kaddish for him" and for the former members of the society who have departed this life.

Previous to the memorial services suitable resolutions, drawn by Meyer B. Cushner, were framed for presentation to the family of the late lamented Morris Tuska, who for many years had been a staunch friend and honorary member of the society.

A short prayer by Mr. Cushner opened the exercises. President Herman Stark then introduced Past President Leopold Minster as the first speaker of the evening.

The latter recited the time worn—well known—yet ever interesting tale of Seligman Solomon's career as a friend of the poor and "fatherless," and mentioned some specific instances of how he had aided needy ones through his great self-denial and self-sacrifice. "Only a mathematician expert enough to calculate the value of a human life," said he, "could ever estimate what Seligman Solomon had offered up on the altar of benevolence, for not merely wealth but his life itself had he given." Mr. Minster referred briefly to the eloquent speakers who had officiated on previous occasions, among them Dr. Barr, the late Mr. Myer Stern, Mr. Edward Lauterbach, Mr. Julius J. Frank, Dr. Henry M. Leipziger, Hon. Moritz Elling. He also referred to the late Mr. Tuska and the late Adolph Oppenheimer, for years treasurer of the society, and closed by quoting Milton's immortal tribute to Shakespeare.

Treasurer Harry N. Simon then delivered a characteristic address full of thought and feeling. He also paid a tribute to the memory of his predecessor, Mr. Oppenheimer, which, for its vividness, earnestness, and generosity of purpose, deserves to rank among the most forceful efforts in the history of the society.

Mr. Cushner followed him. He spoke with a pathos and sentiment that was deeply moving. He quoted a very beautiful allegory in which Honor, Love, Fame and Duty appeared before a wanderer, and portrayed how he (Seligman Solomon), following "Duty" as his guiding star, had lived his life of goodness and light. In a dramatic manner Mr. Cushner pictured scenes in the life of Mr. Solomon; beyond a doubt his hearers will long remember the beauty of his sentiments.

Though the last speaker of the evening and unprepared, ex-President Michael H. Wolfe held the attention of the members for many minutes during which he delivered an impassioned address in which, deploring (as he said) his lack of the eloquence of the first speaker, the logic of the second, and the sentiment of the third, he none the less eulogized Seligman Solomon in a manner never to be forgotten by those who heard him.

In seeking to portray the importance of Seligman Solomon's work in his day, Mr. Minster had parenthetically suggested that to-day, among the millions lavished in philanthropy, his unassuming figure might perhaps not attract such great attention. To this Mr. Wolfe emphatically took exception and emphasizing what Mr. Minster had said of Mr. Solomon's life of self-sacrifice, assured his hearers that despite of all, even to-day a life lived like that of Seligman Solomon would stand out before the world and receive the same grateful acknowledgements.

Selections from a beautiful poem by Miriam del Banco, of Chicago, written for the dedication of the Jewish Orphans' Home of Cleveland, were then read by Mr. Minster, who closed the exercises by the recital of "Kaddish" in which all present joined him. The services throughout were impressive and fitting and reflect great credit on the committee who had them in charge, headed by Treasurer Harry N. Simon, Mr. Isidor Farlan and others.

Among others who spoke briefly were Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, Mr. Maurice Solomon, Physician Martin Cohen, M. D., and Mr. Herbert Asch.

The inclemency of the weather was regretted by all as it prevented the attendance of honorary member Dr. Herman Baar, whose presence would have added to the ceremonies a charm and grace that no one else could supply.

At the annual reception to be held during the coming week (Wednesday, Feb. 25), the invited guests will include ex-President Emanuel Lehman, President of the Asylum Louis Stern, Former Supt. Dr. Baar and Mrs. Baar, Supt. David Adler and Mrs. Adler, Miss Hadel, Mrs. Julius Hart, of the Ladies' Sewing Society; Supts. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lazarus, of the Brooklyn H. O. A.; Mrs. Bookman, president, and many other members of the Ladies' Sewing Society.

American Jewish Historical Society.

The American Jewish Historical Society held its eleventh annual meeting in Carnegie Hall on Thursday, the 12th inst. The proceedings opened with the reading of the reports of officers, after which Leon Huhner read a paper on "Jews of New England Other Than Those of Rhode Island Prior to 1800," followed by Dr. David Blaustein on "The Relations of the United States to the Jews of Roumania." Dr. Blaustein said that the note of the Secretary of State to the Roumanian Government last year had been presaged by a note from the American Minister to Austria in 1900, which, in turn, had a quasi source in a letter from a Chicago rabbi on the subject to President Grant.

Oscar S. Straus, ex-Minister to Turkey, declared that no American Minister in Austria would have undertaken to give instructions to the Roumanian Government, and that the only possible forerunner of Secretary Hay's note of 1902 was the action of our Government in intervening during the Greek revolution. "The Jews of Roumania have long suffered downright barbaric persecutions," Mr. Straus said, "but Turkey ought to be entirely acquitted of them, because her Government was so nominal that the persecutions went on in spite of her."

"The credit of the Hay note must be equally divided between Mr. Roosevelt, who inspired it, and Mr. Hay, his great Secretary of State, by whose masterly diplomacy the note was framed."

Other papers were as follows: By Rudolph I. Coffee of New York, on "Jews and Judaism in the Hawaiian Islands," by G. Herbert Come of Albany, on "New Matter Relating to Mordecai M. Noah," by J. D. Eisenstein of New York, on "The Development of Casuistic Literature in America," by Joseph Jacobs of New York, on "The Jewish Population of the City of New York, 1903," by Max J. Kohler of New York, on "Dr. Rodrigo Lopez," and "Chapters in the History of the Jews in South America," by the Rev. George A. Kohut of New York, on "The Trial of Francisco Maldonado de Silva," and "Jewish Heretics in Manila in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries," by Joseph Lebowich of Cambridge, Mass., on "The Jews in Massachusetts Prior to 1840," by N. Taylor Phillips of New York, on "Items Relating to the History of the Jews in New York," by Miss Elvira Solis of New York, "Note on Isaac Gomez and Lewis Moses Gomez," and by S. M. Stroock of New York, on "Switzerland and the American Jews."

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—Dr. Cyrus Adler.
Vice-Presidents—Simon W. Rosendale, Prof. J. H. Hollander, the Rev. Dr. B. Feleenthal, and Prof. Charles Gross.

Corresponding Secretary—Max J. Kohler.

Recording Secretary—Dr. Herbert Friedenwald.

Treasurer—Prof. Richard J. H. Gott-hell.

Additional members of the Executive Council—Mayer Sulzberger, Prof. Morris Jastrow, Jr., N. Taylor Phillips, Simon Wolf, John Samuel, the Rev. Dr. David Phillipson, the Rev. Henry Cohen, Prof. Morris Loeb and Godfred Morse.

Oscar S. Straus remains a member of the Executive Council ex officio.

Leon Huhner was elected curator of the society.

ceptional Jew in those parts and in that section of the breezy West! The nephews and nieces boldly proclaimed him an authority on Judaism, Rabbis and theology in general and publicly declared their uncle to be the peer of any Rabbi they had yet had, in Hebrew learning and in the religion of their fathers. To make matters worse, the worthy uncle had begun to believe these laudatory statements and viewed them very modestly as "gospel truths." He was, therefore, the final court of arbitration, the last to pronounce the fate of the Rabbi and the first to indicate what should, and what ought not to, be done. At Board meetings he was the one to say yea or nay on all ritual questions. When important matters came up for discussion before the congregation, his word as to the right or wrong of any changes in the Din or Minhag to be pursued by the whole body at the services or at other times was the deciding one, for his clan followed him and cast their votes at his bidding. He was a rich man, successful in business, and many a poorer relation would suffer by opposing his will and wish. Gradually a feeling of family loyalty developed in the entire list of brothers, cousins and nephews, so that they stood as a unit on all matters pending a decision. Such was his hold on them all that, morally they voted with him because he was the spokesman of the family.

This high and mighty individual was to be the Shofar-blaser as he had been for many, many years before my advent in W—. I was particularly told to placate him at all times, to attempt to win his support, in order to have him as my friend. After this direct caution, I had nothing left for me to do but to accept as an established fact his annual discharge of the religious function of blowing the trumpet on New Year's Day and to praise him for his reputation in the community and for the distinguished honor thus conferred upon him. He, being particularly susceptible to flattery, received both me and my words with a pleasant smile and then related to me his long experience, his early training for the ministry, the piety of his family in Europe several generations back, his own humble services for the good of Judaism, and his accomplishments in the Hebrew language so universally recognized that when anybody received a letter from the old country, it was invariably brought to him to decipher.

Of course, I stood in awe and fear of this giant of good Jewish stock, this layman who knew Hebrew so well and yet could become a rich man through business, until I chanced to see one of these Hebrew letters and discovered it to be nothing but Yiddish-Deutsch, a missive from some good old-fashioned mother in the "ould" country. I subsequently ascertained also that this complex genius could not read Hebrew quite as well as I could (which was not saying very much), and I became correspondingly emboldened, though I had always to recognize that he was a power in the community because of his family and the votes behind him.

REB PELONI.

The privations of Valley Forge and other notable incidents in America's struggle against the home country, but illustrate how much people will endure in the combat for their rights.

The Mirror.

It is obvious that Reb Yossuf Loeb Levy is his own stage manager, else he would not have permitted such a threadbare fake rumor about his call to Temple Emanu El. That congregation is not standing on the Lupercal and offering kingly crowns to every sensational Rabbi who knows the value of printer's ink.

Rabbi Hirsch has a national reputation, Rabbi Harrison has great oratorical gifts, but I would like to know what is the simchah with Reb Yossuf Loeb?

When the Parnass of a congregation has to resort to contemptible little political tricks to defeat the election of a Rabbi or a Chazan, it shows that he lacks the true Jewish spirit which should actuate the Rosh Hakohol, and is recreant to the trust reposed in him by the congregation.

Some sermons carry with them their own refutation. I have just read a sermon upon "Tact," delivered at Temple Shaarai Shomayim, Mobile, Ala. by Rabbi A. G. Moses. It is a very well written essay but the name of God is not mentioned in it at all, neither is there a word in it about Judaism or religion. The Rabbi who reads essays, instead of delivering sermons, displays very little tact.

A Frenchman and an Englishman met and were comparing notes as to the extent of territorial possessions held by their respective countries. The Frenchman spoke of France's colonial holdings, when the Englishman interrupted him with the well-known sentence, "Why, the sun never sleeps ar sets in England's domain." "True," calmly replied the Frenchman, "he is afraid that if he closed an eye your people would steal the whole earth."

It appears that there is a great deal of rivalry between Congressman Goldfogle and Assembly-man Cohn. Goldfogle claims that his large majority contributed to Cohn's election, while Cohn claims that his own personal merits was the primary cause of Goldfogle's election. In order to get square with Goldfogle, Cohn has introduced a bill imposing a tax on bachelors. I am informed that Goldfogle sent his partner to Albany to amend the bill by exempting Congressmen. Everybody in "de Ate" is anxiously awaiting the result of the scrimmage, and it is rumored that Goldfogle is concocting some expedient to evade the tax of Cohn's bill is passed.

"Izzy" Cohn does not care a whit, for the ladies of the District have promised to raise a fund for him as a reward for his efforts in their behalf.

Health Day is the name of a new legal holiday created by a bill that has been introduced in the Utah legislature, making the first Monday in October the signal for a general cleaning up. On this day, every person in the city must clean and disinfect thoroughly dwelling houses, etc. I presume that those Jews who keep Erev Pesach will be exempt from the provisions of this law.

He was a red-faced, middle aged Irishman, who had taken just enough to make him officious. He kept a wary eye on the conductor, and a sympathetic one on the unsteady entering passenger; to each "step lively," he would rejoin, "shtiddy, shtiddy, give them toime, give them toime." Opposite the Irishman sat a young man of the most pronounced Hebrew type. He watched Pat with a humorous twinkle in his black eyes.

A good natured negro got in, and took the seat next to the Irishman. Pat threw one haughty look at the black man; then, rising with great dignity, he said in tones of unuttered scorn—"a nagur!" and sat down next to the young Hebrew. Quick as a flash his new neighbor, with an exact imitation of Pat's tone and manner, said—"an Irishman!" and took the vacant seat next to the negro. A titter went round the car, and one Irishman looked foolish.

Hast, assisted by Rev. Dr. Schoen, officiating, inasmuch as two of the groom's brothers have already married sisters of the bride. The bride was attended by her maids, Misses M. Levy, S. Enjoyable Bar-Mitzvah Reception.

A large gathering was present at Victoria Hall Sunday, February 15, to attend the reception given in honor of the Bar-Mitzvah of Master Albert Moss, one of the younger sons of the late David Moss.

Every one present was very attentive to the sentiments expressed by the youth in his address at the dinner table, which dinner was elegantly catered by Mrs. Minzesheimer. There was also appropriate addresses made suitable to the occasion by Mr. J. P. Solomon, Rev. Dr. Falk Vidaver, Nathan Cohen, Solomon D. Moss, the youngest brother of the confirmant, and Samuel I. Siegel. Moses D. Moss officiated as toastmaster. The Courtiers Entertainment.

The first public reception of the "Courtiers" was given last Sunday night in Majestic Hall. It was a dance only, and well may the society feel proud for their first venture. Taking into consideration the severe, stormy weather, coupled with the fact that the society is comparatively unknown, the event was unmistakably a success. Mr. Leo Bloch was the chairman of the Arrangement Committee and was ably assisted by Messrs. E. L. Smalls, M. Welsz, J. Goldbarr and H. Steinthal. The officers of the club are: Samuel Newman, president; Abe Levy, vice-president; William Marks, recording secretary; Louis Newman, treasurer; Felix Simon, financial secretary; Edward L. Afternoon Dance.

The fourth of a series of afternoon dances, which the Young Ladies' Charitable Society has arranged for this season, took place Sunday last in the Lexington Assembly Rooms. The uninviting weather did not detract from the attendance inasmuch as the hall was comfortably filled for dancing. The music was furnished by Mr. Henry Davis. That the affair was successful in many respects was assured us by the committee in charge. Not alone were the financial results favorable, but the society was further benefited by ten applications for membership. This in itself is worth recording. Of the many present these ladies and gentlemen were quite conspicuous: Misses Frances Bernhardt, Gertrude Schiff, Henriette Krauss, Bertha Gluck, Annie Sirelitz, Eva Abraham, Gertrude Hallé, Carrye Cony, Malvina Newman, Blanche Rice, Hattie Elliott, Gussie Herman, Ella Neuman, Ida Nathan, Eva Wolin, Bianca Levin, Dorothy Welsman, Bessie Lapman, Jeannette Weinberg, Jeannette Friedman, Charlotte Friedman, Fannie Liebon and Messrs. Joseph Bernhardt, Joseph Neuman, Randolph Becker, Henry Gluck, Martin Becker, "Moe" Neuman, Jerome Rice and Al. Becker.

Bust of Clara de Hirsch Unveiled.

A bust of Clara de Hirsch was unveiled last Saturday afternoon in the Clara de Hirsch Home for Working Girls, at 225 East Sixty-third street. The bust, which is from the chisel of E. Hanau of Paris, was presented to the home by Baron Maurice de Forest.

The unveiling ceremonies were held in the library on the second floor of the institution, and many of the friends of the home were present. Mr. Oscar Straus, whose wife is president of the Board of Managers of the home, delivered an address.

To Prevent Tuberculosis, The Charity Organization Society's Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis now has one hundred families in charge, in each of which there is one or more victims of the disease. Among these there are not less than twenty for whom care in sanatoria or board in private families in the country is regarded by their physicians as absolutely essential. All of the sanatoria are filled to overflowing, and most have waiting lists. The committee is therefore obliged to accept the alternative of boarding these patients, who are in the early stages of the disease, in suitable private boarding houses. There has been much difficulty in finding boarding places in which a suitable and sufficient diet can be assured.

For the remaining patients who cannot be removed from their homes special diet and other forms of relief are required in an amount which cannot easily be supplied from existing relief agencies.

Under these circumstances the committee asks for an immediate special fund of five thousand dollars for the special relief of cases under its care. It is desired to rent, in a suitable location, a farmhouse, and to equip and maintain a modest boarding house in which accommodations can be provided under medical supervision for from twelve to fifteen young women, whose removal from their present unfavorable surroundings is most imperative. A portion of this sum should also be available for paying board, pending the completion of the plan above suggested, and the remainder for relief of those who must remain at home. Contributions made in response to this appeal will be publicly acknowledged and will be devoted strictly to the purpose indicated.

For the expense of its general work the committee last Summer appealed for ten thousand dollars, in response to which appeal eight thousand dollars have been received. The remaining two thousand asked for will barely be sufficient to carry through the current year the important work which the committee has undertaken. Contributions for either purpose should be sent to the Charity Organization Society, 105 East Twenty-second street.

The Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society.

The annual reception will be held on Sunday, Feb. 22, at the institution, corner of 150th street and Broadway, at 2:30 p. m. The exercises will consist of an exhibit of manual training work from 2:30 to 3:15, kindergarten at 3:15, exhibition by the band, drum and fife corps and drill by the cadets at 3:30, and a satire on Shakespeare, by children of the institution at 4 p. m. All interested in the work are invited to attend.

In Aid of the Hebrew Sheltering House.

Large as it is, the capacity of the Grand Central Palace was severely taxed on Sunday evening last by a crowd which had gathered to witness the vaudeville entertainment and participate in the ball given in aid of the Hebrew Sheltering Home, at No. 210 Madison street. This deserving charity will no doubt receive a handsome sum when the accounts are made up, much of which is due to the indefatigable labor of the president, Dr. Bernard Berkowitz, and his energetic co-officers. The entertainment was an excellent one and included: Emily Pearl, Mr. William Gould, Empire City Quartette, Mme. Reta Curtis, Anna Conrad, Mr. Sam Goldie, Kline & Gott hold, Mr. Louis Wesley, Lester & McGill, Mr. Artie Miller, coon shouter.

Among those present: Mr. and Mrs. H. Fischel, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Shapiro, Mr. and Mrs. S. Krulervitz, Mr. and Mrs. R. Friedman, Mr. and Mrs. S. Sitke, Mr. and Mrs. M. The Macy Mutual Aid Society.

The sixteenth annual entertainment and ball of the Macy Mutual Aid Society, which was held on Friday evening last at the Grand Central Palace, was as usual the means of completely filling that large hall. The programme consisted of an entertainment given by professional talent, followed by dancing.

The Aetna Life.

The Aetna Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., publishes in another column its fifty-third annual statement. This shows that the business done in 1902 was one of noteworthy growth in every direction, and the resulting big figures put the Aetna Life as the leader among the great life insurance companies of New England.

The total premium income for the year was the large sum of $10,224,260, and the total payments to policyholders was the sum of $6,368,099.

The detailed statement of the company shows that the investments of the Aetna are conservatively and wisely made, and the abundant strength of the company is recognized by all familiar with financial matters. Its president, in fact, as well as in name, is ex-Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley, who has given its affairs his closest attention. When he became its head twenty years ago its assets were about $25,000,000. To-day they are about $63,500,000. Under his management the Aetna has developed into its present great proportions, and it stands a proof of his and his associates' large business and executive ability.

New Publications.

NARRENSPOSSEN, Malefizbuechlein, by Alexander Schlesinger (German), 200 pages; cloth, $1. Carl A. Stern, publisher, 45 East Forty-second street, New York.

The author, Mr. Alexander Schlesinger, a well known German-American journalist and carnivalist, offers a great variety of funny songs and addresses, which are just what is wanted at society and family entertainments by lovers of fun. Some unique humorous Free Masonic songs will be highly appreciated by the brothers and sisters of that fraternity. The book has been very well received throughout the country, and also by the "Kleine Rath der Grossen Carnevals-Gesellschaft" of Cologne on the Rhine, who have sent the author a letter commenting upon the work in most flattering terms.

Ladies' Temple Association.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Association of the Keap Street Temple, Brooklyn, was held last Tuesday in the Unity Club. The officers elected were: Mrs. Ira Leo Bamberger, president; Mrs. P. H. Lustig, vice-president; Mrs. I. G. Hagenbacher, treasurer; Mrs. Alex. Reisenburger, secretary; and directresses, Mesdames Louis Bernstein, S. Charig, A. Ehrlich, Joseph Kessel, A. Kodziesen, Nathan Levy, Nathan May, Fannie Newman, Louis Spitz, Abraham Sterzelbach and Samuel Strauss.

Hebrew Orphan Asylum.

On Lincoln's Birthday, the 12th inst., under the direction of Miss Veld, a number of ladies and gentlemen attached to the Brooklyn Educational Alliance entertained the orphans with a programme of exercises arranged by Mr. Veld, superintendent of the Alliance. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lazarus appreciated deeply this mark of attention on the part of the sister institution; that the children enjoyed the entertainment very much goes without saying. Among those who participated are Misses Veld, M. Telzy, Misses K. Miller and Rebecca Lipitz, and Messrs. Charles Danca, M. Siegal, A. Greenwald and F. Greenwald, also the orphans' old friends, Messrs. Duryea and Closs. The orphans' military band rendered a number of sweet selections. Mary Boratz gave some clever imitations.

On Sunday afternoon, the 15th inst., was held the fourth semi-annual meeting of the Brooklyn H. O. A. Literary Society, and interesting work, comprising recitations, readings and an essay, besides the election and installation of officers, was done.

The literary part of the programme was contributed by Lena Margulis, Tessie Goldman, Mary Boratz and Paul N. Lazarus, Louis Sinsheimer and Jacob Matlitz.

Among the invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lazarus, Mr. Eugene Sommer of San Francisco, Miss Frances Wilkinson, Mr. Samuel Susskind, first president of the society; Miss Birkenenthal, Miss Leah Cohen, Miss S. Shepard, Mr. Leopold Minster and others. He officiated as installing officer and also spoke a few words on Andrew Jackson as the first of the Presidents who had been elected really "of the people, for the people and by the people." Mr. Minster referred to the rise of President Jackson from obscurity and poverty to greatness and honor and linked his name with that of Lincoln, Jefferson and others among America's greatest standard bearers.

The reports of the officers and Executive Committee were read and placed on file. The inspectors of election were Paul N. Lazarus and Herman Nedell. They reported the following officers elected for the ensuing term: President, David W. Farber, re-elected; vice-president, Paul N. Lazarus, re-elected; secretary, Nathan Steiner, re-elected; treasurer, Lena Margulis, re-elected; Executive Committee, Paul N. Lazarus, chairman; Mary Bortz, secretary; Jacob Metlitz and Lena Margulis. The society gives promise of good work in the future and has already shown excellent progress.

The report of the treasurer showed a very pleasing increase in the society's finances. A vote of thanks was tendered to the Hebrew Standard for its interest and assistance. The society now is two years old. The only charter members left on the roll are David Farber and Paul N. Lazarus. The others graduated from the institution, whereupon their membership in the society terminated, but they still attend meetings and take an interest in the work.

Among others present were: Albert Hartye, Moses Kaufman, Harry Wright, Louis Horn, William Hummel.

The Boys' Junior Literary Society were present in a body, and also a number of other inmates of the asylum.

Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Lehman, of 175 Penn street, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their residence last Sunday. The happy couple are related to some of the most influential families in Williamsburg, and during the entire day a constant stream of visitors offered their congratulations. Rabbi Raphael Benjamin, M. A., of the Keap Street Temple, officiated at the religious ceremony of nuptial thanksgiving, and all who were present united in a prayer that Mr. and Mrs. Lehman might be spared to see many happy returns of their marriage day.

Cong. B'nai Sholam.

The B'nai Sholam Congregation in Ninth street is in a flourishing condition, with a fine building for worship and a good attendance at all times, also a well attended Sunday-school for the children of members, of which Mr. Whitehead is superintendent. Rev. Mr. Schuman, the rabbi of B'nai Sholam, conducts the usual services in a dignified and impressive manner. All the members take an interest in the affairs of the congregation, and if anything is needed or wanted for the comfort of the members, it is always forthcoming. In this spirit of aiding the good cause Mr. Joseph Ansoorge, an active member of the trustees six large and beautifully carved armchairs, which were accepted with thanks to the generous donor. Other members are following this good example set by several of the active working members.

Amphion Theatre.

The Lulu Glaser opera company, composed of over forty members, will be the attraction at the Amphion Theatre during the week of Monday, February 23, and will present Stange & Edwards' best work, "Dolly Varden." Miss Glaser first became well known by her long association with Francis Wilson. She is without doubt at the present time the most successful comic opera singer on the American stage. Scenically the production is said to be one of the most daintily beautiful spectacles that the stage has seen, and so artistic and harmonious are its blendings of delicate tints that it has been called "the Dresden china opera."

IN THE THEATRES.

Irving Place Theatre.

The last nights of Ferdinand Bonn's engagement are announced. This evening he appears as "Richard III." while at the matinee to-morrow afternoon as well as at the evening performance, he will impersonate Robert Heinecke in Sudermann's "Ehre." On Monday evening he bids us farewell for this season, on which occasion Freytag's ever welcome "Journalisten" will be performed. Originally the intention was to have had Director Conried play Schmock, but now that that gentleman has suddenly had a distinguished honor bestowed upon him, we can hardly expect to see him on the boards again. And certainly not as Schmock. Monday's performance will be for the benefit of the star, who sails for Europe the day following.

On Tuesday evening Gustav von Seyffersitz in "Die Dragoon." That most popular of recent German plays "Alt Heidelberg," will have two more representations next week—one for the benefit of charming Frl. Ostermann and the other for the benefit of Herr Reimann, who is also well worthy of the public's favor. J. M.

Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre.

A series of delightfully comic complications form the basis of George H. Broadhurst's capital farcical play "Why Smith Left Home," the attraction which the Proctor stock is to produce at Proctor's Fifth Avenue next week. The vaudeville contingent will be headed by Press Eldridge, "Living Art Studies," Cladius and Corbin, Emma Cotrelly and O. M. Mitchell.

Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre

Next week the topping feature will be Johnstone Bennett and company in a protean sketch, entitled "A Quiet Evening at Home." The Rossow Midgents will appear, as will also the Juggling Johnsons; "The Electric Boy," Little Elsie, Mathews and Ashley and fifteen other splendid variety numbers.

Third Avenue Theatre.

"On the Suwanee River," which will be seen at the Third Avenue Theatre week starting Monday matinee, Feb. 23 (other matinees on Thursday and Saturday), is indorsed as a play to which families may be taken with the assurance that its theme and treatment can in no wise offend. The story is the old one of mortgaged estates, love, intrigue and heroism, in which a villainous atmosphere is finally cleared away before the sunshine of honesty and morality.

Proctor's 125th Street Theatre.

"Hearts Are Trump," the famous Drury Lane melodrama by Cecil Raleigh and Arthur Collins, will receive its third production under Mr. Proctor's management at Proctor's 125th street next week. This wonderful play has already been produced in two of Mr. Proctor's houses and played to tremendous business in both. The cast will include over 100 people. For the variety end of the programme, George Evans, Marion Garson, and many others will complete the bill.

Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre.

Washington's Birthday will mark the opening of another week of vaudeville at Proctor's Fifty-eighth street. The stellar attraction will be Florence Burns, Saeger Midgeley and Gerlie Carlisle, vaudeville juvenile stars, Charlie Case, "The Man Who Talks About His Father," Frederick Brothers and Burns, Moore and Haight, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Darrow, John Dunn and company, Besnah and Miller and several other splendid acts will complete the programme.

Thalia Theatre.

This evening Mme. Kalish will again appear in S. Libin's drama "Hannele, O' the Jewish Medea." Saturday matinee "Virginius" will be given for the first time this season. Saturday evening "The Jewish Medea" will be repeated and sacred concerts will be given Sunday afternoon and evening.

The seventh annual entertainment of the Ladies' Society to be held on March 10 at German Club Rooms will be a record breaker both in a financial and an artistic way. The journal to be published is nearly completed and will net a snug sum. The Jewish Endeavorers are hustling. Messrs. E. B. Levy and D. P. Schwartz especially excelling in their efforts.

We understand that the efforts of the congregation to pay off some part of the mortgage are meeting with good success. A check of $100 was sent in last week by a gentleman from New York for this purpose. The affair at which an oil painting will be raffled off will take place March 31.

We deplore the absence of the ladies from the service in the temple. Rev. Goldfarb and his efficient choir render the ritual most impressively, and we do hope that the ladies will again attend on Sabbaths as they did before.

Zionism is taking a strong hold on Staten Island. A branch of the federation was established at a meeting held at the synagogue last Sunday. The officers are: President, Mrs. M. Isaacs; vice-presidents, Mrs. I. Kutscher and Mrs. M. Cohn; secretary, Mrs. M. Klauber; treasurer, Mrs. M. Rabinovitz.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwald, of Elm Park, will celebrate their silver wedding with a banquet at Raesch's Silver Lake Park, Tuesday, Feb. 24. We congratulate the worthy couple, and wish them happiness and long life.

Hartford.

It is many years since that the young people have enjoyed the Winter season as they have the one of 1903. Most every evening for the past three weeks some form of entertainment and social function has been given or tendered to the out-of-town ladies. Pretty receptions and dances, theatre parties and automobile rides were partaken of. Many of the visitors leave this week with sweet memories of the pleasing events that were tendered them.

Miss Haas, of Niles street, entertained at lotto a number of her friends. The evening was enjoyably spent. The prizes were awarded to Miss Ballustern and Milton Bacharach.

Mrs. I. Wise, of Mahl avenue, gave an automobile party in honor of her sister, Miss Genevieve Stern, of Westerly, R. I.; after which luncheon was partaken of at the Allyn House.

Miss Hannah Samuels, of Collins street, gave a very pleasant and delightful evening to her friends. A novelty spelling match proved very unique.

The Misses Balluskjn, of Sumner street, entertained a large gathering Tuesday evening.

Mr. Abe Hutter, who has almost encircled the globe, has returned looking well after his long voyage.

Mr. Sidney Bacharach has gone to Florida for a three weeks' vacation.

Mrs. J. Kaslman, of Capitol avenue, gave an afternoon at home in honor of her daughter, Miss Blanche. Games and a luncheon.

Mrs. M. Fox, of Prospect avenue, tendered a social and collation at City Mission Hall Wednesday evening. The hall was prettily decorated. The event was in honor of the Misses Stern, of Newburgh, N. Y., sisters of Mrs. Fox. Fifteen couples enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

FF FLINTS FINE FURNITURE

"With Ample Hospitality."

Since "open house" was kept at Mt. Vernon the Colonial bedroom has steadily advanced with modern comfort and hygiene. A little less tester drapery; a little more spring in the bed. Our swell-front bureaux, mahogany high-boys and roundabout chairs have that restful simplicity wherefrom the Dean grew reminiscent: "In the days of my childhood it was like a sweet dream."

Now 'is the time when it behooves the householder to provide "amplified hospitality" and to save money, because even factory prices are reduced on every floor to make room for new Spring goods.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.
