EDWARD M. GROUT
COMPTROLLER

IN REPLYING REFER TO

Hon. N. Taylor Phillips,
250 West 75th Street, New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Phillips:-

I am in receipt of your letter wherein you suggest that as you are a strictly Orthodox Hebrew you desire to be relieved from attending to your duties as First Deputy Comptroller, to which position I have recently appointed you, on Saturdays, your Sabbath.

All my life many of my closest friends in social as well as professional and public life have been of the Jewish persuasion, and I have thus come to know your race intimately, and to respect the lofty ideals which it seeks to inculcate. It was therefore gratifying to me that it was within my power to appoint you to the highest office in my gift, occupying a highly confidential relation toward me.

I have already arranged with Mr. Stevenson, your associate Deputy, who has cheerfully agreed to perform all your duties on Saturdays in addition to his own, so that the City will lose nothing by your absence.

Be assured that as long as I remain as Comptroller of this City every facility will be given to you by me to observe the dictates of your conscience.

I remain,

Very truly Yours,

Comptroller.

In our issue of March 14, 1902, there appeared an editorial entitled "A Model Official." We reproduce the same herewith, together with a fac-simile of the letter referred to in the editorial:

A Model Official.

During the last municipal campaign we heard much on the part of various candidates for public office regarding their admiration for Israelites, and how anxious they were to illustrate this in practice if elevated (by Jewish votes) to public stations. As usual with those who profess much, they perform little. There was one, however, who preferred to permit his record for a true spirit of tolerance to speak for him rather than employ noisy self-adulation. We refer to the Hon. Edward M. Grout, whose portrait appears above, who was elected

Comptroller of Greater New York by the highest vote given any candidate upon the Fusion ticket. This compliment he deserved, not only for his personal worth, but because, as a matter of fact, he had always been the close friend and counsel of some of the most prominent Hebrews in the Borough of Brooklyn, and was ever ready to assist in a practical manner the interests of our people in that borough. While, unlike others, he made no campaign pledges in order to influence the votes of Jews, his first official act after election was to appoint to the highest position within his gift, that of first deputy comptroller, one well known as an observant orthodox Hebrew, and on the latter's intimation that he had always observed the seventh day as the Sabbath, Comptroller Grout declined to interfere in any way with his religious convictions, but, on the contrary, wrote him giving his cheerful compliance in arranging that work on the Saturday half-holiday should be performed by others.

As an editor of a Jewish journal, it gives us much pleasure to make this announcement of a brotherhood of feeling which accords with the true American spirit of not stifling any man's conscience. It is a high tribute by act, and not by word merely, to the character of the Comptroller, nor will it soon be forgotten, and, while we vigorously opposed the election of the Fusion ticket, we are glad to acknowledge as a simple act of justice that if the result of the campaign did no more than to secure for the public service a man who since his election has displayed the remarkable resources and fair-minded attributes of Comptroller Grout, it would have been sufficient.

Waiting.
(Who may you be,
You who crouch by the roadside,
Brown, parched, shriveled,
A mummy with living eyes?)

My friend, I am Genius.
The real thing.
Fifty years have I sat here.
I wait
For mine affinity Success,
Who must pass this way.
Go to meet her!
Not I.
She shall come to me, by the gods!
As soon as she has come,
As soon as she has seen me,
She will anoint me
And bathe me
And crown me with laurel
And give me my purple hemmed
linen to wear
And bid me step into her chariot
And drive to Elysium.

But one thought annoys me;
Fifty years have I sat here
In a single position.
Will my legs answer
At all when Success
Says, "Arise!"

Moreh!

BY I. MORDAUNT SIGISMUND, M. D.
The chronic disease with which so many of our people are afflicted; Felger! flung in our face by the German; Hache! by the French; Emerolozion! by the Greek; Bojastiv! by the Muscovite, and Coward! by the Anglo-Saxon; the brand-mark of our race. Is there no cure, or even alleviation for this leprous cancer? When I read of the reported massacre at Gomel and that two hundred brutes fell at the hands of our brethren defending themselves my heart leapt with joy. The butchery of our brethren, of helpless women and children, were all forgotten. I saw naught but the flaming words "The Jews defended themselves and sold their lives dearly." That our people have been cowed into this abject state by so many centuries of oppression, I admit, but the twentieth century has penetrated even into depths of holy Russia; the hordes there cannot act with impunity with the eyes of the whole universe upon them. All races, even those of the lowest standard, value physical courage; the Anglo-Saxon loves nothing more. Why cannot this be inculcated into the minds of our unhappy and despised brethren? The children at school should be permeated by it; it should be thundered into the ears of our congregations from the pulpits.

All discourses to the Jews should have a stratum of this adorable virtue; the parents should teach the child to add to his Shemah Yisroel. Oh, Lord! give me not only moral but physical courage! The Jew in Germany is looked upon with abhorrence by his fellowmen. Du feiger Jude! In all Slavic countries it is the same; in enlightened countries, in France—more especially during the past two decades. In England it is not thrown into our faces with such brutal force; the head of the hydra is, however, visible. It is like receiving a slap in the face with a gloved hand instead of a mailed one. And here in this country, the Jews' terrestrial paradise, the vaunting and apparent pluck shown by many of our people is, I firmly believe, cowardice, with a thin layer of veneer over it, sheer chuzpe. On board the Ethiopia recently, when several of our people were miserably treated by some of their fellow passengers of the steeple, and one young fellow with a fairly good physique was pointed out to me as having been kicked, I approached him for not having kicked back; a shrug of the shoulder, with a "Nah, a meesch meshineh soll er nehmen." In High street, Whitechapel, London, I once saw an archin of about fifteen step behind a middle-aged man in his jibitzer and peves, and deliberately dealt a blow on his head, demolishing his hat. I pointed out that he, being stronger and older, should have returned the blow. With He-wech, "Job, wo werre ich mich rum schloegen," my sympathy with his poked head was nil. Here is an example of what a little physical and moral courage combined can do: During the Franco-German war, having barely graduated, upon hearing that surgeons were in great need, and that the French wounded prisoners were sadly neglected through the want of surgical aid, I volunteered my services, with the only proviso that whenever possible I should be employed among the French wounded. En revanche I waited surgeon's pay. During the Winter of 70-1 I accompanied several hundred wounded prisoners to Cologne, where they were interned. One evening I entered a wein-kneipe, which I subsequently discovered to be chiefly patronized by officers. I would not don a uniform and restricted myself to the Geneva armband and the surgeon's cap. Being off duty, I dispensed with those likewise.

The "Kneipe" (near the museum) was a long narrow room. There was but one table occupied, at which sat seven officers and one civilian, the latter was a French resident of the town. Their conversation—which I could not but overhear—was about the various institutions of the rival countries. The Frenchman, in defending those of his country, remarked that the Jews there were treated on a perfect level with the other citizens and officers of the Jewish race often distinguished themselves. At this all interrupted him with, "Friend, if we accord you everything, we must, most decidedly, protest against this outrageous idea of conferring the highest honor—that of an officer—on arrant cowards! Look you here, this is known to be exclusively an officers' 'kneipe'; should a Jew have the temerity to enter here, one of us would simply go up to him, grasp him by the collar (am kragen packen) and throw him out. What do you think the fellow would do? defend himself? or even remonstrate? Nothing of the kind; he would surely say, 'Ach! Entschuldigen Sie, Herr Offizier, (imitating the Yiddische jargon) and disappear (verduften) as quick as his crooked legs would carry him. Are we to treat him as an equal, as a comrade, receive him in our casino—at our mess, such abominations?" The officer who spoke thus was a captain, and his breast was decorated with the Iron Cross. I went up and touched him on the shoulder, "Sir, I could not but overhear your conversation, Wohlan! Here am I, a Jew, will you make your vaunting threat good by taking me by the collar and pitch me out?" Agast, he stammered, "I neither saw you nor was I aware that a Jew was in local." "The more shame!" I retorted. "If you have an atom of honor in your body, here is my card (smitting the action to the words) let me have yours in return," adding "I am 'satisfactions' faehig, since I likewise have held a commission in the army and am even now acting in the capacity of an officer in your ranks." Mechanically he put his hand to his breast pocket, presumably with the intention of complying with my demand. In a chorus all the officers vociferated "Nein, nein! Sie werden sich doch nicht mit nen Jude schlagern!" (No, surely you will not fight with a Jew!) The captain's hand dropped to his side and, emphasizing every word, he said, "Wie es scheint, obwohl Jude sind Sie kein deutscher Jude, schlagen kann ich mich mit ihnen nicht." I turned to the civilian, and begged permission to grasp his hand. "Permit me to shake hands with the only decent man in this company." With one accord all the officers—except the captain—flew from their seats and drew their swords (In Germany, officers are never in uniform without their sword). "Wass untersteht sich der schmutziger Jud!" came from six throats in unison, "Nieder mit ihm!" (Down with him). This Hauptman then sprang to his feet and with balled fist struck the table and yelled "Hinsetzen alle; Augenblicklich!" (Sit down all of you instantly!) "It is with me the man has to deal, with me alone! then, turning to me, he spoke with an effort, the words almost choking him, "Wir sind gewohnt mit deutschen Juden thun zu haben, Sie haben bewiesen dass Sie zu dieser Kategorie nicht gehoeren, gehen Sie in Frieden" (We are accustomed to deal with German Jews, evidently you do not belong to that category, go in peace.) I turned to the Frenchman—whose face was beaming with delight—and said, "Sehen Sie, ich warre dennoch recht." (You see, I was right after all.) I returned to my table, sent the waiter for the proprietor, and asked for the names of the officers; but he declared his inability to satisfy my demand. Not a syllable was uttered by those neryv men, and I left. Is it necessary to analyze the feelings of the captain? He dared not admit that I was in my right, but could he see an undefended helpless man—I was barely twenty-four years old—attacked by a number of armed men and, in all probability, pay with my life for my temerity? True manhood would not permit it. The man, I believe, felt ashamed, humiliated. The following evening a paragraph in the Volkszeitung, if my memory serves me, mentioned the incident omitting, however, names. "What has it done?" I can hear some one ask. This! None of these gallant men would give expressions to similar venomous vituperation without first looking around them in order to see whether a Jew was present; of this I feel convinced. Let that ugly microbe moreh be extirpated from among us, that will go far toward throttling that hydra, anti-Semitism.

"The Philippines."

By Samuel MacClintock. American Book Company, New York, Cincinnati, and Chicago.

Consisting of short descriptive chapters on the principle islands of the Philippines, and their provinces and towns, this book gives information in regard to their history, the manners and customs of the inhabitants, and the products, manufactures, and exports of the islands. A separate chapter is devoted to Manila, and another to the Government of the Philippines. This information is presented with a clear and simple style, and in a most interesting manner. The author's position is a guarantee of his intimate acquaintance with his subject. The book is profusely illustrated with excellent half-tones from photographs, and is supplied with several colored maps.

Coleman's Physical Laboratory Manual.

By S. C. Coleman. American Book Company, New York, Cincinnati and Chicago.

In this manual the laboratory work is co-ordinated with the class-room study, and comprises 81 exercises, so arranged that the book can be used either with simple apparatus or with a more fully equipped laboratory. The matter in connection with each experiment consists of: 1. A definite statement of what the experiment is for; 2. References to leading textbooks in physics, indicating what reading may profitably precede and accompany the laboratory work; 3. A list of the apparatus required; 4. Directions, suggestions, form of record, and discussion of the experiment. The book is the outgrowth of practical work, and shows throughout that it was prepared by a skillful teacher.

A Hebrew Free School is about to be opened at Long Branch, N. J.

Rev. Dr. Kaufman Kohler was installed as president of the Hebrew Union College at the Hiramod Street Temple on Sunday last.

May'or W. M. Palmer laid the cornerstone of the new Beth Israel Synagogue, Grand Rapids, Mich., on the 9th inst.

Dr. Henry M. Leipzig, supervisor of free lectures of the New York City Board of Education, says in his annual report: "The attendance at the scientific lectures is such as to show that the purpose of the lecture course should be to lay special stress on popularization of science. The great need of our country is an increase in popular technical instruction, and the demand in our land for thoroughly trained workmen is always great. The intelligent workman should be thoroughly equipped in scientific principles, and the lecture course is one medium for giving that general information in scientific subjects which many mechanics lack. For this reason it is hoped that at no distant day two or three well-equipped science halls, where experiments can well be made, will form a feature of the educational plant of the city, and to these halls shall come the very ablest scientists to expound to the thinking people of our city the great principles of science, and elaborate on the great discoveries that are constantly being made. Such lectures will be of inestimable value in improving the intellectual condition of the workman."

Despite their boasted economy, the "Fusionists" tacked on $5,418,000 to the 1903 appropriations.

Ground has been broken for the new synagogue of the Congregation Sherith Israel that will be built at the northeast corner of California and Webster streets, San Francisco. The synagogue now occupied by the congregation is at Post and Taylor streets and was sold about a year and a half ago. It is expected that the new one will be finished by the end of next August. Albert Pissis is the architect for the handsome new structure, that will be in the Romanesque Byzantine style of architecture. The building will be of granite, practically the same on three sides, and with three large arches on the facade.

Five hundred and thirty-nine felonies the record against the Fusion police.

I shall bow to no man's dictation.
No set of men shall govern me.
I shall be responsible for my acts to ALL of the people of New York and no one else.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY AND MAKE MONEY (Economy is Wealth.)

We have a credit department where you may deposit as much or as little as you please. You get four per cent. interest as against the usual three or three and a half per cent. You withdraw your money any day—without a minute's notice. There is no banking business, no drawing of cheques to tempt you to spend the money at random.

Whatever you buy at Macy's can be charged up to your account and a monthly statement is rendered to you.

Thus you combine the conveniences of a credit system with Macy's low cash prices, and you get four per cent. on your money besides.

R. H. Macy & Co. sell only for cash. You who buy save the money that other stores lose on bad debts and expensive bookkeeping departments.

We buy for cash, sell for cash, we buy and sell at the lowest prices made possible by the biggest retail dealings in the world. You get the benefit of our saving, and you get the benefit of the needs of manufacturers who must offer the best inducements to a cash establishment.

Get the details at our credit department in our new great store, 34th to 35th street on Broadway. Write a letter, or better, visit and examine the marvellous and greatest of American retail enterprises, the original department store, and now the greatest retail enterprise in the world.

Let the wise housewife, the conscientious, sensible mother think over this proposition:—

Various sums are received for household use. Sometimes the money comes from rents, mortgages, stocks, in the shape of dividends. More often it comes as wages or salary.

That money can be deposited with Macy's and draw interest from the moment it is deposited. As goods are actually required, they can be purchased and charged to the account. Every dollar that is not spent is always drawing interest.

And at Macy's everything can be purchased, and everything of the highest quality, and at less expense than elsewhere.

We instituted our cash system for the benefit of our best customers, the provident, far-seeing, who pay as they go. Such customers will always be customers, and we think of them in all our plans, giving the best inducements in quality and price. As a further benefit for such permanent custom we have instituted this credit department. There your money draws compound interest; it settles your bills. It literally works for you while you work at home or shop at the world's greatest store.

The Independent Order of B'nai B'rith has taken upon itself the mission of uniting Israelites in the work of promoting their highest interests and those of humanity; of developing, elevating and defending the mental and moral character of our race; of inculcating the purest principles of philanthropy, honor and patriotism; of supporting science and art; alleviating the wants of the poor and needy; visiting and attending the sick, coming to the rescue of victims of persecution; providing for, protecting and assisting the widow and orphan on the broadest principles of humanity.

The lodges of the order in District No. 1 are showing increases in membership.

President J. B. Klein, of District No. 1, is, as usual, at the office of the district in the Benai Berith Building.

The office of the district is quite lively on Sunday mornings. The usual Sunday morning meetings are being held by visiting members.

A Young Ladies' Auxiliary Society to the downtown lodges of the B'nai B'rith is about to be formed. It is intended that this society will assist the lodges in all their work and possibly take up the matter of fighting the missionary influences that are being brought to bear upon Jewish children of the East Side.

Young ladies desiring to join in this society will kindly send their names to Joseph Jasper, Secretary Board of Directors, 106 Forsyth street, New York City.

The Board of Directors of the B'nai B'rith Building, 106 Forsyth street, at a regular meeting of the Board, decided to permit Jewish societies to meet in the meeting rooms of the building for a nominal sum, and that the privileges of the lecture and social hall be granted to such societies that may in the future meet in the building. Some of the activities of the Fall and Winter of 1903-4 will consist of classes for children in Hebrew, Jewish history and ethics. These classes will be under the direct supervision of Mr. Albert Lucas, Secretary of the Union of Hebrew Orthodox Congregations. Children may be registered every day after school hours in the office of the secretary.

A course of popular lectures is being arranged for the season of 1903-4. So far Commissioner Francis V. Greene, of the Police Department, McGraw Woodbury, of the Street Cleaning Department, and Dr. Ernest Lederle, of the Health Department, have accepted invitations to lecture, besides Mr. Ernest Crosby, Rev. Maurice H. Harris and a number of other prominent lecturers. The dates for the lectures will be announced shortly.

Plans are also being made for conducting Friday evening services in the main hall. These services will be in the form of religious exercises, and will be conducted partly in English by several prominent young Rabbis. Other activities of the building are the arrangements for a free employment bureau for the residents of the community, and an entertainment and ball, which will be held at Terrace Garden on Wednesday evening, Dec. 30, 1903, for the benefit of the building.

Lodges and societies desiring to rent meeting rooms will kindly communicate with the secretary, Joseph Jasper, 106 Forsyth street, New York City.

CITY NEWS.

Mt. Zion Congregation, 113th Street between Madison and Park Aves.
 Rabbi S. Greenfield will preach on "Standards of Righteousness," at the services this coming Sabbath.
 The first of the Friday night eight o'clock services, with lecture, will take place on Nov. 6.
 The Sisterhood held the first meeting of the season last Wednesday in the vestry rooms of the synagogue. It is expected that this auxiliary body will do quite effective work. The Sabbath school is fairly organized for the year. The three classes are in charge of the Misses Eva Abraham, Rose Harris and Flora Lippe.

Congregation Adath Israel of the Bronx.
 Rev. G. Taubenhaus, who was unable to occupy the pulpit last Sabbath, owing to the death of his mother, will again resume his duties this Friday evening, when he will speak on "The Sabbath."

Young Women's Hebrew Association.
 Last Friday evening Mr. Aaron P. Drucker conducted the services and this Friday evening the Rev. G. Lipkind, B. A., of England, late of the Cambridge University and formerly minister of the Brighton, England, Temple, will speak.

The classes opened last Monday evening with a register of 250 members, and the attendance in all classes has been unusually large. In some so large that two teachers will be required to give the proper attention to each individual member.

On Oct. 28 the first class of this season in First Aid to the Injured will open under the direction of Drs. Rodgers and Stark. To this will be attached a four weeks' course of home nursing and practical usefulness in the sick room.

The dance of the Y. W. H. A. Social Club takes place this Sunday afternoon, Oct. 25, at the Tuxedo. Everyone can secure an invitation by applying at the office.

The Dramatic Club, which is now under the direction of Miss Edna Moise Davis, has seen fit to call themselves the Students' Dramatic Club, and meet every Sunday afternoon from 2 to 6.

Benjamin School Children Service.
 Mr. Lewis B. Michaelson, being interested in the success of the Mission School established by the late Adolph Benjamin, has earnestly taken up the work begun by Mr. Benjamin, and since last Passover has addressed the children every Sabbath. At the request of Mr. A. S. Solomon, the honorary director of the school, he also supervises the religious classes on Sundays.
 Last Saturday in a pouring rain the attendance reached to about 200. When Mr. Michaelson took up the work the attendance was around 50.

Young Men's Hebrew Association.
 Sunday evening, Oct. 25, the regular monthly social is to take place. The entertainment is to consist of a reproduction of the entertainments held at the Vacation Camp during the Summer. A real jolly time is anticipated.
 During the months of August and September the Employment Bureau filled 52 positions called for.

The lecture for this Saturday evening given under the auspices of the Board of Education is to be delivered by Prof. Robt. W. Prentiss on "Photographic Camera in Astronomy."

The Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society.

In order to bring about more of a social and family atmosphere among the children, Superintendent Bernstein for the past few months has been arranging weekly meetings of brothers and sisters. It is a real pleasure to watch how natural and family-like a tone can be produced at such meetings. On such occasions, too, many traits and characteristics of the children can be studied better than at any other time.
 Brothers and sisters are sitting together telling one another their little family news, showing one another their letters and postal cards and exchanging their views on life in general and on their supervisors in particular. The children are practically left to themselves, the superintendent and matron freely mingling among them. No signals are given to warn them, to subdue their voices, no bells are sounded to disturb their pleasure—the joy is intense.
 In keeping with the above innovation is the recent introduction of giving the children on Sabbath evenings regular entertainments. Both outside speakers, lecturers and artists as well as home talent contribute to make those evenings enjoyable as well as instructive.

The Educational Alliance.

Special attention is called to the subscription series of concerts and dramatic performances to be given at the Educational Alliance this year. The plan was discussed this Spring, and is now ready to be put in operation. The following announcement is made regarding the subscription, and it is hoped that it will meet with a ready response. Subscription cards can be secured on application at the office of the superintendent at the Educational Alliance.

The Educational Alliance desires to open subscription books for the series of ten concerts and ten dramatic performances to be given in the Auditorium during the season of 1903-04. From the subscribers thus secured, a Board of Directors of the concerts and one for the dramatic performances will be chosen to be associated with the Alliance Committee on Entertainments.

The Alliance proposes to conduct a series of concerts and dramatic performances on lines similar to those followed last season. The details of the programme will be left to the Board of Directors.

Subscribers will each be entitled in the selection of directors nominated by a committee chosen for that purpose, to one vote for each set subscribed and paid for. The subscribers will thus be enabled to direct the concert and dramatic series.

The Educational Alliance, in consideration of its representation on the board directing the concerts and dramatic performances, agrees to furnish hall, service, heat, light and printed matter; to guarantee the payment of artists, and to cover a deficit, should one arise.

The Board of Directors is to be made up equally of the Committee on Entertainments and Exhibitions of the Educational Alliance and of those chosen from the subscribers.

Mr. Sam Franko, Director of the American Symphony Orchestra, is the musical advisor for the Sunday night concerts, and a number of the evenings will be under his personal direction.

They will begin on Sunday evening, Nov. 8, with a concert given by a combination of instruments under the direction of Mr. Franko, and with the assistance of a vocal soloist. On Sunday evening, Nov. 22, the song cycle "In a Persian Garden," by Liza Lehmann, will be given. Mrs. Caroline M. Hardy, who sang the soprano part in the Oratorio of the Elijah, given last February at the Alliance, will sing the soprano songs in this, and Alfred Y. Cornell, the tenor parts. The remaining concerts will be varied and will include string orchestra, trio and quartette combinations, several choral concerts and an oratorio.

The Saturday night dramatic series will be entrusted to a competent stage manager and will begin Saturday evening, Nov. 14.

United Hebrew Charities.

The twenty-ninth annual meeting of the society will be held in the Hebrew Charities building, Twenty-first street and Second avenue, on Sunday morning, Oct. 25, 1903, at 10.30 o'clock. Reports of the officers will be presented, new directors elected, and such other business will be transacted as may properly be brought before the meeting.

Under the management of F. L. Morhard, the Albany Dental Association has rapidly advanced to the fore, and today is recognized as one of the leading dental establishments of the Metropolis. New and up-to-date methods are in vogue here, and all work is absolutely painless, and the many years that they have been established in the one locality is a sufficient guarantee as to their reliability. The location, No. 291 Third avenue, near Twenty-third street, is central and easy of access by all lines. Their prices are very reasonable, as the following will show:

Extraction, 25 cents, and with painless method (no gas), 50 cents. Sets of gum teeth, $6.50. Full upper and lower sets, $12. Partial plates, from $1.50 to $6.50. Crown and bridge work a specialty. Gold crowns, $6.50. Porcelain crown on pivot teeth, $4. Onen evenings until 9; Sundays, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

A Successful Dance.

The most successful afternoon dance ever held by the Young Ladies' Charitable Society, took place Sunday last, in the Lexington Assembly Rooms. The net income was more than five times the sum of any previous similar affair. This in itself is worthy of mention.

The affair was, pure and simple, a dance, there being no other exercises. Some of those who attended were: Misses Eva, Abrahams, Gertrude Halle, Blanche Rice, Anna Isaacs, Annie Streilitz Tillie Lefkowitz, Cella Krisky, Gertrude Schiff, Rose Lefkowitz, Bertha Gluck, Selma Waldeck, Isabelle Hertzman, Bertha Krieger, Lillian Ambrose, Frances Wolker and Minerva Young.

Hebrew Ladies' Auxiliary of Bath Beach.

A most enjoyable subscription "kaffe klatsch" was given by the society at the home of the president, Mrs. A. Slomka, on Wednesday, Oct. 14, for the purpose of celebrating Simchas Torah. The ladies carried out the character of the day by having a thoroughly good time; and partaking of the many good things which were provided.

A very fine cake having been presented to the society by Mrs. Phoebe Spyer; it was decided to remember the poor by raffling off the cake and adding the proceeds to the society's fund.

The society made this the occasion of unanimously presenting their secretary, Mrs. J. Newman, with a very handsome cut glass water bottle. The presentation speech was made by the president, Mrs. Slomka, and responded to by the secretary.

Other toasts and speeches were made thanking the committee for the pains and trouble which they had taken in arranging the affair. The following ladies were on the committee: Chairlady, Mrs. S. Lyons; and her assistants, Mrs. Rosenstein, Mrs. D. Weigel, Mrs. L. L. Levy. The other ladies present were: Mrs. Loebel, Mrs. Goldsmith, Mrs. Reichman, Mrs. Feiber, Mrs. Hirsch, Mrs. Brandt, Mrs. H. Hart, Mrs. Japhe, Mrs. Schattman, Mrs. Phoebe Spyer, Mrs. J. Newman, Mrs. A. Slomka, Mrs. Stern, Mrs. Kapha, Mrs. Grees, Mrs. M. Rosenbaum, Mrs. Manheimer, Mrs. Erdman and Mrs. Dr. Zimansky. A snap-shot was taken of the ladies while seated at the table.

The society proposes to have one business meeting a month, and one evening reception meeting during the coming season at supper's; the dates to be announced later. The society will hold its October quarterly meeting Thursday, 22d inst.

Hebrew Orphan Asylum.

At the concluding services of the Succoth holy days, the series of pictures, very large and beautifully colored, portraying scenes from the lives of Saul, David, Solomon and Samuel, and other Bible characters, was completed. The services throughout the holiday season were very beautiful and impressive.

The fencing class, organized last winter by Mr. William F. Libman, is progressing very nicely. They have lately been fitted out with uniforms consisting of white jerseys, black trousers and white gymnasium shoes, through the generosity of Col. William B. Smith, of the Old Guard, who has recently been elected the Honorary Colonel of the H. O. A. Fencing Corps. The officers are: Commander, Wm. F. Libman; Captain, Paul N. Lazarus; Lieutenant, David W. Farber; First Sergeant, Nathan Steiner; Second Sergeant, Louis L. Sinsheimer; First Corporal, Emil Blum. The class is composed of twenty boys.

Two boys, Nathan Aaronson and Benjamin Seyman, have won merit and praise for their excellence in recitation and general knowledge in the Bible class.

On Sunday evening, Oct. 18, a talk on "Porto Rico" was given the children by Mr. Arthur Liebes, who has recently returned from this interesting little island. The children enjoyed it very much and Mr. Liebes made his talk very interesting to them.

Mr. Benjamin Levinger has been elected Grand Chaplain of the Order "Eastern Star" for the State of New York.

Amphion Theatre.

"The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," which will be brought to the Amphion Theatre for a week's engagement, Monday, Oct. 26, and which ran for three months at the Princess Theatre, New York, suggests a sprightly entertainment, which has been amply justified by the facts in the case. It is by Clyde Fitch and will be presented by Miss Amelia Bingham. This combination of our most noted native author and America's only actress-manager, leaves little doubt about the equality of this production, new to local theatre-goers. As usual, Miss Bingham has surrounded herself with the finest company which could be secured, and the production from all standpoints is said to more than equal that of "The Climbers," which established the vogue of the author and won for the actress-manager a foremost place among theatrical producers.

The New Downtown Bank.

The Maiden Lane Savings Bank, located at No. 170 Broadway, corner Broadway and Maiden Lane, will open for business to-day, Oct. 17. It has been established for a special benefit of employees in a district that contains some 150,000 clerks and workmen who have no facilities now to put their savings in any institution so easily accessible and at the same time as sound and well managed. Other savings banks downtown not so conveniently located, open late in the morning and close early in the afternoon. The Maiden Lane Savings Bank will receive deposits from 9.30 o'clock a. m. until 5.30 p. m., giving clerks and workmen a chance to stop on their way home to leave their savings.

The board of trustees is composed of well-known men of business who are inspired by philanthropic motives to give their time and attention to the institution. They guarantee by bond of indemnity to pay the expenses of the bank, and at least three per cent. per annum to depositors, and as the expenses of the bank will be small, the depositor may expect better rates than three per cent.

The bank will declare regular dividends semi-annually in January and July of each year.

The president of the bank, Mr. Louis Windmuller, is a well-known New York merchant of long standing, a prudent investor and a director of the German American Insurance Company, a trustee of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, in the organization of which companies he assisted; he also is treasurer of the Legal Aid Society and of the Reform Club; also active in a number of other societies and clubs.

Mr. W. P. Carlton, the first vice-president of the bank, is a wealthy capitalist and prominent director of the Mercantile National Bank.

Mr. Leopold Stern, the second vice-president, is one of the best known men in the jewelry district, head of the house of Stern Bros. & Co., diamond dealers and manufacturing jewelers.

The secretary, Mr. Maurice Maas, is known as a banking man of long experience; he also is treasurer and manager of the Maiden Lane Safe Deposit Company.

Trade, Mr. Charles R. Jung, of Jung Staiger & Klitz, and President of the Jewelers' Manufacturing Association, and Mr. Walter G. King, of Julius King Optical Co., wholesale opticians.

Modern methods will be substituted for the antiquated services rendered by some of the older institutions, so that the depositor may lose as little time as possible, when calling on the bank to transact his business.

"The Miss and the Lady."

The desire of the young girls to appear of an older age, and dress and carry themselves in a way which would make them look so, is very common, but not always successful. Of course, this condition obtains among those who are budding into womanhood, but are quite a good way from it.

It is useless to admonish these misses that a few inches of material added to the bottom of a skirt does not raise the age, nor make them "young ladies," as long as they believe that some people may think they are, they seem to be satisfied.

The petty quarrels about lengthening the skirt, dressing the hair, and style of hat, that a miss wants to wear, and her mother desires her to wear, are familiar enough to those families who are blessed with daughters.

There is a time that not infrequently comes to many a girl when she would wish to decrease her age period. The devices adopted to appear younger are more numerous than those employed to appear older, and they are generally more successful.

A woman who knows how to arrange her toilet, though she be of a "certain age," manages very well, as a rule, to cut down her "age appearance" from ten to fifteen years, and thus keeps many guessing as to how old she really is. This is art.

It will always be so, however, the young girl wants to anticipate, and the older girl would like to retard the movement of time.

Completion and Dedication.

Under the deft but horny hands of the laborers, the process of construction went on apace, and as the building reared itself inch by inch above the foundations in a manner almost magical, I saw myself heaped with fresh honors and a new triumph awaiting me. The thought of what was coming, all the glory of the new enterprise credited to my activity and labors, kept me in cheek and my impatience in restraint. Higher and higher rose the masonry and greater grew my elation. As the expensive work in brick and stone expanded in every direction, so did my bosom swell piecemeal, until my waistcoat seemed too confining for my growing personality.

In the meantime we sold our old building and disposed of the property at quite some profit. I had to conduct services in a near-by church owned by a congregation which was at one time during a disastrous conflagration that ruined its home of worship tendered the use of my temple in most magnanimous fashion and in a spirit of generous tolerance highly appreciated by our invited guests. Noble reciprocity between creeds I had always striven for, and this was the happy result of my teaching.

At last the towers were put in place as the crowning part of the creation due to my energy and everything was put in readiness for the grand event—the dedication. Ever since King Solomon's famous and well-known historical dedication, every preacher has longed to eclipse the glory of that far-off event in Jerusalem by services and ceremonies that would pass into the annals of mankind as an occasion of utility to humanity and the pursuit of its ideals.

I had the committee to write letters of invitation to the best known preachers of the country. No one getting less than five thousand dollars salary could take an active part in the dedication. The greatest Radical was bidden to come and make the chief address, the piece de resistance of the memorable and solemn affair. He being the highest paid Jewish minister in the country, was particularly acceptable to myself and the congregation. The others ranged in salary and corresponding interest in them to the mark I had set. Below that I would not go even as a concession to the proprieties that demanded the presence of humbler and more obscure colleagues.

To whom to give the different prayers, sermons and addresses was the subject of deep calculation and earnest thought. Of course, I had decided upon including a few Christian clergymen who were to constitute the advertisement of my broad views and liberal notions. Without the participation also of some notable political characters, like the Mayor, Governor and a member of the House, the ceremonies, I knew, would be quite incomplete. Therefore I personally solicited the attendance of as many such desirable men as I could muster for the occasion. These Christians have a distinct part to play in proceedings of the nature of my dedication. They invariably cajole their clients, tickle their vanity and gratify their pride by reference to the exemplary part which the Jews take in the economy of the municipality's citizenship. They usually speak of the sobriety of the Jews, their absence from the cell and the poor-house, and even make a strong point of the temperance of the Jew which keeps him from rolling in the gutter and becoming a tramp. These compliments are choice morsels in the mouths of Christian politicians and are as sweet toothsome gifts to the delighted listener.

The day of Dedication drew nigh. Everything was in readiness. A splendid programme of speeches and musical numbers was drafted. Three days were to be devoted to the consecration. For weeks my flock was on tip-toe of excitement and wonderment. The committees had all done their work well. Every member had performed the duties assigned to him. I had been the directing and guiding genius throughout. All would now reap a harvest of glorious results, myself in particular. So with glee and pleasure all hailed the advent of the first day of the Dedication.

At last the eventful moment arrived. Throngs flocked to the beautiful edifice that was to be the spiritual home of thousands of the city's blue-book population. The newspapers were filled with glowing accounts of what was coming. The reporters had besieged me night and day to give them as much advance information as I could of the details that were to be carried out. But I played the part of the diplomat and silent man and let them guess what was coming. So now I arranged to have a special table with seats for the news-gatherers well up in front of the altar. Let the non-attending public learn with greatest accuracy what was going on in their midst. The outside world that could not be accommodated in the building was entitled at least to the scant satisfaction to be derived from merely reading of the triumph and the appreciation accorded to my efforts.

Everything went through without a hitch. The vast audience, sitting and standing in the spacious auditorium hung breathlessly upon the words of the speakers. And whenever any one of them mentioned my name in terms of unstinted praise, there was deafening applause. It almost seemed as if the temple was dedicated to me and not to God, as if my personality evoked admiration rather than Judaism, as if the minister and humble servant and not the sacred cause of the faith was glorified and advanced. That was the note that was struck by all the speakers and the changes were rung on it by every invited guest. That was, perhaps, the acme of my apotheosis. I blushed furiously as I had not done in years, during which time I had received flattering receptions and heard most complimentary remarks passed on me and my work. It was a most glorious event for me. Such ovations had been the dream of my wildest fancies in youth. And now they were realized. My name had become one to conjure with. I had become a potential force in the affairs of the city and of my people and co-religionists the country over.

Shall I ever forget that Dedication! Even at the time, so far away from the date thereof, I feel as if the recollection is strong enough to cause the blood to course in a flood through my veins and my nerves to tingle with pleasurable memory of the victory achieved over the hearts and minds of them who associated the cause of Israel triumphant through the centuries with the glory of their rabbi.

REB PELONI.

The Mirror.

At the close of a legal argument in the Supreme Court last week a Jewish lawyer who is married to a Christian lady satirically remarked to the opposing counsel, who is also of the Jewish faith: "It is such motions as this that bring the Jewish members of the bar into disrepute."

How regardful of Jewish honor some people are and how much easier it is to remove the mote from our neighbor's eye without noticing the beam in our own optic.

The other day one of our co-religionists stood before the Moltke statue in Berlin, explaining, with many gestures, its merits to a friend. Behind him stood a Prussian lieutenant, who mockingly imitated him. When the co-religionist perceived this, he turned around to the military man and exclaimed: "Why do you want to imitate me for? Why don't you imitate Moltke?"

Coincident with the coming of the Zionist Dowie's hosts from Chicago to save New York and its wicked inhabitants, comes the report that a Professor of the Breezy City has conceived the idea of enlivening a prayer-meeting by using college football yells. This is a distinct contribution to the methods used in the effete East, and the Woolly West must be given credit therefor.

I rather like the idea, myself. As the professor thinks there is too much solemnity, assumed owl-like gravity in all matters pertaining to service and religion. Therefore some tired souls are lulled to sleep and thereby escape salvation, while others are sim-

Something New in Old Pianos.

One of the most unique establishments in New York is the Wise Piano Ware-rooms, 15 and 21 West 125th street. Here are to be found the greatest variety of old or second-hand pianos of the various prominent manufacturers in this city, and at prices that cannot be duplicated.

The Wise Piano Ware-rooms make a specialty of buying old pianos only of celebrated makes, and all are tested by experts before they are purchased; hence, only good pianos are permitted to be placed on sale, which is a wise precaution in the interest of the purchasing public.

It is therefore possible for the public to get good pianos cheaper here than elsewhere; all the celebrated makes being on sale at from $25 up.

Being large purchasers, and having a great outlet for old pianos, they are in a position to procure the best in the market, and offer them advantageously to prospective buyers. By the way, the recent slump in the financial district, caught a few Wall street men, who deemed it advisable to part with their pianos through this calamity, the Wise Piano Ware-rooms were enabled to buy five Steinway Baby Grand pianos at a sacrifice. They have been only slightly used in private families, and can be bought at a very low price. It is a rare opportunity for those seeking a good piano at a bargain price.

Distortion in Photographs Overcome.

It is well known among the photographic fraternity and by artists that all photographs are distorted in the process of mounting them. It is occasioned by the stretching of the damp picture after it has been pasted ready for mounting. This extension varies from one-eighth to one-quarter of an inch in the ordinary cabinet size photograph, and to greater extent in proportion to the size of the picture. This is, of course, a serious fault. Whenever it is necessary to enlarge a photograph, this distortion in a life-sized head is so serious as to be quite palpable and is a puzzling difficulty to artists "attempting" to copy. This has been overcome by a new French process of dry mounting, and very thin tissue is interposed between the photograph and the mount and then under pressure heat cements the photograph to the mount without the slightest stretching or other distortion. Mr. Rockwood, who brought the only apparatus to this country, is very happy in this invention, and claims that it will work a complete revolution in his art.

A Formidable List.

In a recent Sunday issue of the New York Herald, a half page was devoted to the "Queens of Musical Comedy." Everyone of the six operatic stars whose pictures appeared are at present singing the songs published by Jos. W. Stern & Co. Lillian Russell has two Cole and Johnson Bros. numbers: "The Maid of Timbuctoo" and "Flowers of Dixieland." Marie Cahill sings the following new songs this season: "Save It for me," "June," "Mudder Knows" and "I'm going to change ma man." Fay Templeton carries her audiences away with the "Congo Love Song." Hattie Williams is eminently pleased with her song success in "Viclan's Papers." "Take yo' name off ma door," while Blanche Ring and Paula Edwards respectively are starring in "The Jersey Lily" and "Winsome Winnie," the former written by Geo. V. Hobar and Reginald de Koven and the latter by Frederick Ranken and Gustave Kerker.

Grand Opening of Eisner's Restaurant.

The grand opening of Eisner's restaurant, formerly Ma's, 265 Grand street, took place Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week, and in every respect was a grand success. This elegant restaurant has been recently renovated and decorated in exquisite taste. The walls are decorated with tapestry woven in many appropriate designs, and presents an appearance unsurpassed anywhere. In addition to this, for the opening, evergreen was suspended in festoons from the ceiling and chandeliers.

During the opening days and evenings more than two thousand people were en-

The regular monthly meeting of the Hebrew Benevolent Society was held at the house of Mrs. A. Mendelson, sister of H. L. Bodine, at Elm Park. The beautiful parlors and dining room were brilliantly lighted for the occasion. President Julius Schwartz bid the members a hearty welcome, and after the routine business was disposed of, the reports of committeewomen Mrs. A. Mord, Mrs. J. Goldstone and Mrs. A. Mendelson were heard and acted upon. J. Goldstone, treasurer of the loan fund, then reported that several loans were granted, and treasurer Mrs. Leo Lander then read the report of finances. Upon motion of Mrs. A. Mord, seconded by Mrs. A. R. Gold, the Secretary was instructed to send a letter of condolence to Mrs. D. A. Schwartz, in her bereavement, caused by the death of her cousin and sister-in-law, and a vote of regret was ordered spread upon the minutes. The president then was authorized to proceed with the necessary arrangements for the eighth annual charity ball. The proceeds of these entertainments are solely devoted to help the poor, the sick and indigent, and the public will be duly informed of this important fact. Mrs. G. Strauss and Mrs. Ch. Greenwald were elected members of the society. After the meeting the dining-room was opened and the members were royally regaled with a fine collation by the charming hostess. The next meeting, to be held on the second Thursday in November, will be at the house of the treasurer, Mrs. Leo Lander, Washington Park, Stapleton.

"We heartily welcome the new members, Mesdames Strauss and Greenwald. The society, the only one of any consequence combining pleasure and true charity, needs good workers, but wants no others. The society stands for the noblest sentiments, and the public know it."

The pleasant business relations now established between the United Hebrew Charities and the Ladies' Society will insure prompt attention to all cases from New York, and save both societies' time and money. Mrs. A. Mord, J. Goldstone and the president of the society have been instrumental in establishing these relations, and care will be taken that they be properly maintained.

The following letter speaks for itself: Department of Public Charities. Bureau of Dependent Children, Homer Folks, Commissioner, Fred. E. Bauer, Superintendent. Julius Schwartz, Pres. H. B. Society, Port Richmond, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Schwartz: Referring to your communication of recent date, may I suggest that it would be very desirable if you would give the mentioned publicity through the Hebrew Standard and Staten Island papers, to work of finding homes, either boarding or free, for Hebrew children. I would also thank you very much for the names of any people coming under your personal supervision, and I should be very glad to continue any or all investigations. You will perhaps be interested to know that the work is progressing and many children have been placed in free homes, where their futures are assured. Thanking you for any favor you may render, believe me, sincerely yours, MISS SARAH MICHAELS.

MUSIC.

The directors of the Musical Art Society announce that two concerts under the direction of Mr. Frank Damrosch will be given during the season of 1903 and 1904 on Thursday evenings, Dec. 17 and March 10, in Carnegie Hall. Under the same auspices and musical direction the Symphony Concerts for Young People will take place at Carnegie Hall on Saturday afternoons, Nov. 26, Dec. 19, Jan. 9, Feb. 6 and 27, and March 26.

Here is the corrected list of the singers engaged by Mr. Conried for the opera: Soprani, Mmes. Ackte, Bauermeister, Calve, Gaski, Kronold, von Possart, Ralph, Semblich, Seygard, Terina, Weed; mezzo-soprani and contraltti, Bouton, Fremstadt, Homer, Puehlmann, Thompson, Walker; tenori, Bars, Burgstaller, Caruso, Dippel, Kraus, Masiero, Naval, Reiss; baritoni, Begue, Campanari, Dufriehe, Goritz, Guardobassi, Muehlmann, Scotti, Van Rooy; bassi, Blass, Journet, Kloefer, Plancon, Rossi.

For the popular series of symphony concerts to be given Sunday afternoons, with Walter Damrosch as conductor at Carnegie Hall from Nov. 22, Mr. Daniel Frohman, the president, announces that the following artists have already been engaged: Fanny Bloomfield Lettler, David Mannes, Leo Schulz, David Bishpan and Thibaut. A special feature will be the popular scale of prices which will rule, the seats ranging from $1 to 50 cents.

The writer of this department contributes to last Sunday's Times a letter on "The Philharmonic's New Way," portions of which are reproduced here-with: "Another season is at hand, and the society, stubbornly resisting all attempts at reorganization, hopes to regain public favor by the sensational scheme of having its concerts directed by different conductors. There will be no increase in the number of rehearsals; there will be no competent concert-master; there will be no improvement on the bag-pipey woodwinds; there will be no mellow brasses in place of the shrill ones now so carping in evidence. Two changes, indeed, will be effected, but these, unfortunately, are for the worse. The unique first horn, Mr. Reiter, has resigned, and the admirable first viola, Mr. Sam Frankl, has taken a similar step. Under these circumstances it seems a pity that some munificent but misguided gentlemen have provided a fund for the purpose of bringing over the four foreign conductors. But why prop up temporarily an old house, which sooner or later must either be reconstructed entirely or torn down? Why not give us a first class concert orchestra? The Philharmonic directors must be conscious of the fact that their scheme, savoring of circus methods, will not so readily appeal to critical music lovers, for their circular suggests the exaggerated preliminary puffing of the theatrical press agent. In this document we are told that it was 'decided to follow the plan now adopted by many of the principal orchestras in Europe.' Is this true? In London and in Frankfurt, and perhaps in one or two other cities such a plan prevails, but in Vienna the great Philharmonic orchestra has not now, and never had more than one conductor; the famous orchestra of Meiningen was organized and for years conducted by Hans von Bulow, who was succeeded by Fritz Steinbach; in Berlin the Royal Symphony Concerts are directed by Weingartner, and the excellent Philharmonic concerts of the same city are conducted by the Herr Regnleek, except a series at which Arthur Niksch wields the baton. * * * The local orchestral situation surely needs a radical change. Putting more money into the Philharmonic purse simply postpones that change."

The Kneisel Quartette will have the following soloists at its concerts in Mendelssohn Hall this Winter: Susan Metcalfe, soprano, Bauer Busoni, Gebhardt, von Inten, Randolph, pianists, and Loeffler, violinist.

ply hypnotized into rising and sitting at the proper time, and thus become unconscious participants in a dead service that awes by its stillness. In order to rouse the worshippers and make them enthusiastic something like a college football yell is needed. The "rooter" at a ball game is alert and has all his energies concentrated on the proceedings. The same man, nine chances out of ten, is likely to be found dozing off in the "Amen" corner.

The Chassidim did not believe in a dead service. Their worship is lively, energetic and full of vim and vigor displayed. They feel that they can dance and shout, sing and be boisterous while serving their God. And all emotional people receive inspiration for worship through loud and enthusiastic demonstration. Our high-toned service is a mockery. Sentiment and feeling are absent. The average high-toned citizen sheds the prayers that are uttered at him like the turtle the raindrops that fall on his back. A little more life could be injected by the utterance of an ear-splitting college yell. So, by all means, let us have something to stir up the lethargic spirit of the every-day attendant at service who goes as a mere matter of form.

More than the mere temporary result of such a procedure would be the natural outcome of penetrating yells at a prayer-meeting. It might really serve to make something more than patient automatic listeners of the auditors. They would go home and be haunted by the wild cries. They would walk the streets in full recollection of what they heard and experienced. They would never forget the loud call made to their honesty and righteousness. They would remember the piercing yells at critical moments when they would be tempted to do wrong. So I say there is more in the suggestion of the Western professor than would seem on its face. He knew whereof he spoke, because he himself probably more than once was put into a somnolent condition. Hence his well-timed remedy.

ASPAKLARYA.

Every little city must have its Jewish paper, even if it is an enterprise figured out in dollars and cents, and the venture cannot succeed. The latest addition to Jewish journalism is one such periodical in Denver, Colo. Kansas City recently fell into line and gave to the world a weekly. We expect to hear of similar aspirants for local journalistic honors arising from Squedunk, Oshkosh and Kalamazoo.

The burglars and thieves flourish under Greene as they never did before. How can they vote against Low!

The Hebrew Relief Association, of Cleveland, O., held its annual meeting Sunday last. It was shown in the reports of the work done that every one of the 129 emigrants sent to Cleveland by the removal office of New York was cared for. Employment was also secured for all.

The Albany Council of Jewish Women has resumed its work for the season. At the next meeting, Monday afternoon, Oct. 19, Dr. Max Schlessinger, rabbi emeritus of Temple Beth Emeth, will deliver the first of a series of lectures on "The History of the Ritual."

H. Krug's Restaurant Enlarged.

The well-known restaurant of H. Krug, 374 1/2 Grand street, has been newly decorated and enlarged to meet the increased patronage of this popular dining place, that has been established eleven years, and has always been noted for its excellent cuisine.

The improvement made enhances the beauty of the restaurant and makes dining therein more pleasant than ever. Mr. Krug is at all times progressive and enterprising, and will continue to serve his patrons in the best manner which his increased facilities will enable him to do to the satisfaction of all. A feature of this establishment is the regular dinner and supper. Theatre and ball parties receive particular attention and prompt service.

Low compelled thousands of newsdealers to remove their stands, thus preventing them from making a living for their families.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Mrs. S.—Shemini Atzereth in 1888 fell on Thursday, Sept. 30.

The Democratic city administration cares for all classes, poor as well as rich, and sees that all enjoy the rights that belong to them, whether they live in a tenement or in a mansion.

New Guinea Justice.

A comical vindication of the right property among the savages of Guinea was witnessed by a missionary, the Rev. James Chalmers. Service was just beginning in the little church when a native boy came in dressed with what he considered great magnificence, in a shirt. As the savages were accustomed to go nearly naked, this garment made the boy very conspicuous.

The shirt had once belonged to some white man, and the importance it gave the present wearer was tremendous. But when his glory was at its height a bigger boy appeared, hot with rage and carrying a jacket. He fell upon the first lad and began stripping off the shirt. The rest of the congregation, understanding at once that the rightful owner had arrived, gave him not only sympathy, but practical aid. They rose to their feet, and those who were near by took part in the stripping process. Presently the true owner was invested in shirt and jacket, the congregation cooled, and the service went on.

Low Church—and Salary.

"It must be understood," said the vestryman, who was extremely "low church," to the new rector, "that the rector here shall have no surplice!" "Gracious!" exclaimed the Rev. Mr. Newcome. "How could one have a surplice on the salary you offer?"—Philadelphia Press.

Needs Prodding.

"It is a great mistake, Mabel, to trifle with the affections of a man who loves you by encouraging some one else." "Well, he's a little slow, auntie. I think he needs a pacemaker."

WHY?

Do appropriations of public funds under FLEISCH exceed those under the last Democratic administration by FIVE AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS?

ADVICE TO MOTHERS. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.
