“O—E” By ACHI JOSEF

I remember, I remember, 'way back in—oh, ever so long ago! when I was a tot of six and she just twice that many months. This was 'way, 'way back, in the old Galician ghetto.

She loved me, and I—I doted on the little thing. No sooner through with Cheder than off I'd rush to Nanke, there to play with her till ma would come to take me back.

Nanke got to like me above all others. No sooner would she espy me than she would leave everything and everybody, including her ma, and rush to me, uttering wild cries of delight: “O—e! O—e!”

“Nanke, ‘love me tight!’ and Nanke would throw her little hands around my neck and smother me with kisses.

“Nanke, who loves you?”
“O—e.”
“And whom do you love?”
“O—e.”
“And whom else?”
“And Ma?”
“O—e and Ma.”
“And Pa?”
“O—e and Pa.”

And “O—e” would rush around with Nankele, vowing that there never was and there never will be such a baby.

“My Kal'le,” said my mother, catching up Nanke and kissing her.

“My cho'sen,” said her sister, Nankele's mother, as she gently passed her hand through my hair.

“O—e” at seven had crossed Germany and Holland and the English Channel, and had come to London.

Poor “O—e”! He was sent to school and there beaten by the little brats because he wore such “funny things” and because he could not understand them.

On more than one occasion “O—e” came home nursing a black eye.

Several months passed, and “O—e” began to catch the London atmosphere. He not only thrashed the little rascals in English fashion, but sang English songs with the little girls.

“O—e” began to have eyes for two little roses in particular, and for

“O—e” accompanied either the one or the other on his way to and from school. He was a gallant little fellow, was the little “O—e.” Half overtook one, and then no mercy was shown. At other times the chase proved futile, and his only reward was to see the little imps put out their tongues and apply their thumbs to their noses.

Sing-songs began to greet “O—e.” “Shame! shame! shame! I know him. He goes with girls. Shame! shame! shame!”

“Cowards! Why don't you fight me!” he would cry.

“Shame! shame! shame! Everybody knows your name!” And off they'd scamper.

“O—e” had become a harmitzvah bocher, and was strutting about the streets in his first pair of long trousers. Who was his equal, with those long trousers of his? No one, he thought.

And so did that pretty fair-haired girl, with those pretty dimples, think. And “O—e” was smitten with those dimples. And he vowed that those dimples should be his.

“But how get them?” thinks “O—e.” And after prolonged deliberation he presses a mutual friend into the service, who arranges a trysting place at the Victoria Park.

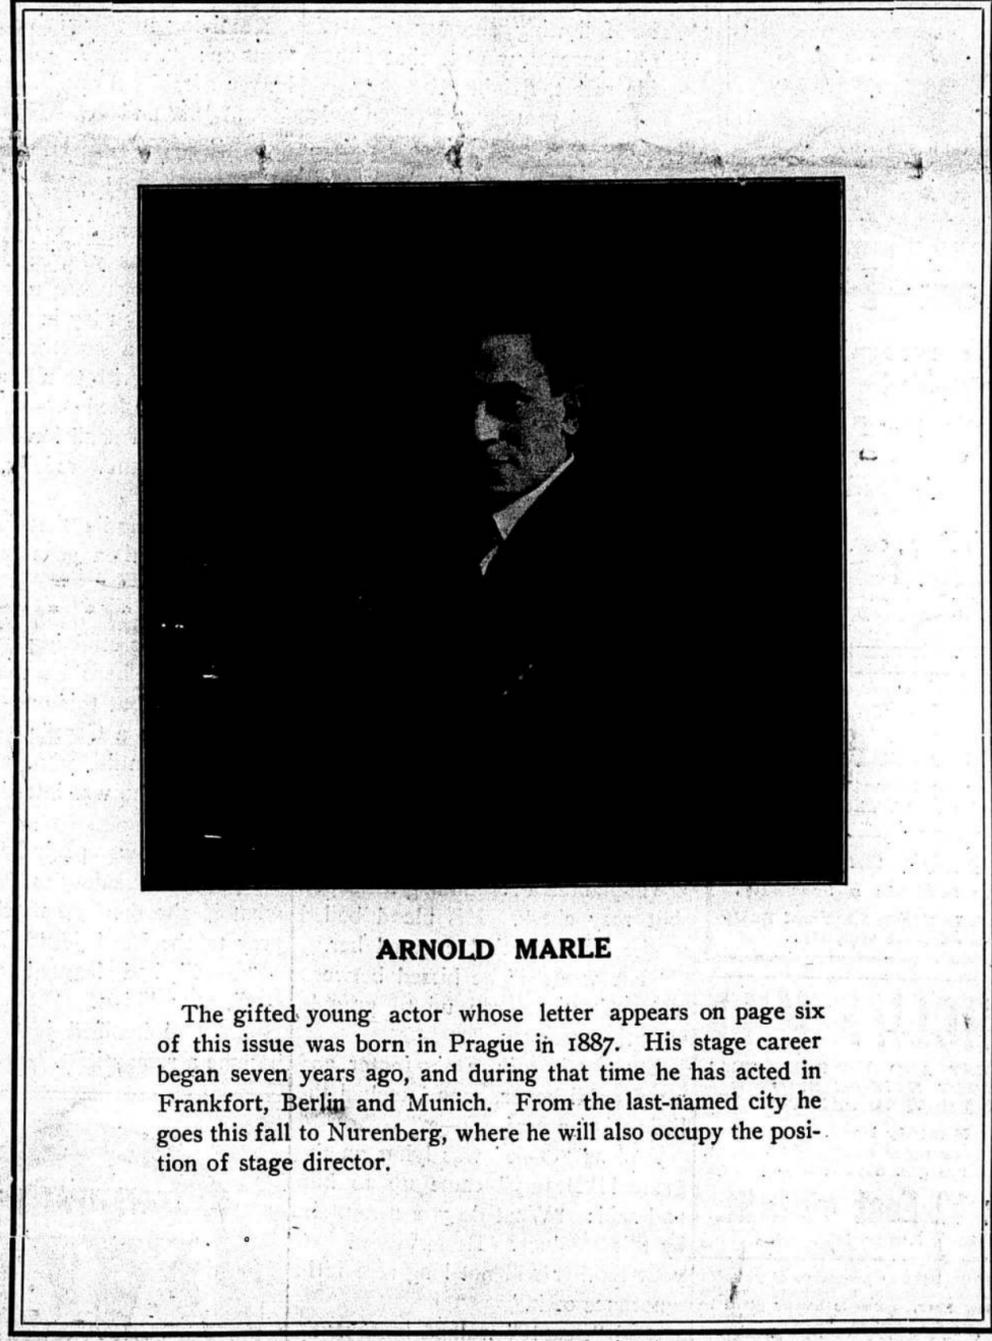

Upon nearer inspection the dimples prove still more enticing, and “O—e” goes away intoxicated, vowing to act the real grown-up from henceforth.

A billet-doux arranges a meeting-place for the following Saturday at twelve noon. From there “O—e” and “Dimples,” the former stuffed with candy in one pocket, threepence in another, and two shillings in his hand (part savings of several months), hie themselves to the “Chinese Honeymoon,” the latest musical-comedy success.

The gallery is full to overflowing, and besides “O—e” and “Dimples” there is an aunt of the latter there, who very soon espies her niece and the gallant young escort by the side of her.

News spreadeth with lightning rapidity. Ere the sun had set messages were flashed from auntie via “Dimples” mother to “O—e's” mother.

“Where have you been?” asks “O—e's” papa that evening, in the coolest tone possible.

ARNOLD MARLE

The gifted young actor whose letter appears on page six of this issue was born in Prague in 1887. His stage career began seven years ago, and during that time he has acted in Frankfort, Berlin and Munich. From the last-named city he goes this fall to Nuremberg, where he will also occupy the position of stage director.

no other reason than that one possessed intensely red and the other jet-black hair.

of his farthing's investment in candy went to the red one, half to the black one.

“O—e” would flare up, drop his books, leave his escort, and tear after the guilty ones. Sometimes he

"At Harry's" answers the boy, in an offhand manner.

"And what did you do there so long?" asks pa, still controlling his temper.

"Oh, we went over some lessons that we have to prepare."

"I see," says papa.

"O—e" is about to rush off, when papa turns around and says:

"By the way, do you know that two shillings are missing from your savings box?"

"O—e" feels a palpitation of the heart, but he tries to steady himself as he exclaims in great astonishment: "Two shillings!"

"I wonder how they could have disappeared?" queries pa.

"I wonder," comments "O—e."

"Two shillings—you can get nice things for that. Two books, or—two seats at the play."

Pa looks steadily at his 13-year-old, who begins to blanch with fear.

"Two seats at the play on a Saturday afternoon—on Shab'bos, above all! Nice play, 'Chinese Honey-moon,' eh?"

"Papa, papa, please—I'll never do it again!"

Papa's hands get active, and "O—e" begins to bellow.

A year had passed, and the memory of "Dimples" had become rusty.

A fresh "Dimples" loomed on the horizon. Markedly characteristic of this latest addition was a flat-tipped nose, a feature which did not enhance her beauty in the eyes of the public, but which made her little short of divine in the eyes of "O—e."

Betsy, dear Betsy—how she plays, how she talks, how she dances!

What a lovely Betsy!

And "Flat-tipped," not nigh 15, soon smelt the rat and thrust her head backward as an all-conquering heroine.

What strategy "O—e" employed to storm the citadel! And what heroism was displayed in defense of it!

At last the walls tottered and "Flat-tipped" acknowledged "O—e" as her "best boy."

But it was not to be of long duration. "Flat-tipped," typical of her sex in being fickle, cast amorous glances at Harry, "O—e's" friend.

Harry loved his friend, but he loved "Flat-tipped" more. And so Harry and "O—e" were friends no longer.

And "O—e," now full of hatred for both, licked Harry and told "Flat-tipped" that were she a boy he'd flatten in her nez still more. Whereupon he departed.

Harry became a friend again, but "Flat-tipped"—she had disappeared "for good."

* * *

The following summer "O—e," with his parents, went to that famed seaside resort, Brighton.

The hotel proprietor had an only daughter, surpassingly beautiful.

One look, and "O—e" was gone. He had seen beauties, but never, never such a one as this.

And in very truth such was the opinion of many.

"Beautiful," born to love and beloved, had one hundred admirers, each of whom had received a sign of encouragement, and one hundred of discouragement. "O—e" added one to the number.

One day "Beautiful" and one of the boarders, an allrightnik, went to the race track. "O—e," jealously gnawing at his heart, went to the same place.

"O—e" had eyes for but one thing, and that was "Beautiful."

After the races Allrightnik and "Beauty" walked away. "O—e" followed stealthily.

A cold sweat seized "O—e" when Allrightnik grasped "Beauty's" arm. His hair stood on end when Allrightnik implanted a resounding kiss upon that rosy cheek. His blood boiled at the little cry that escaped her.

"The wretch!" he hissed between his teeth as he ran up to grapple with that monster.

But Allrightnik, a six-footer and a powerful boxer, soon knocked the little wind out of "O—e."

And as "O—e" was lying on the ground "Beauty" came up to him and said: "What do you mean, sir, by this conduct? Rest assured that your mother will not long remain in ignorance of it."

And "Beauty" walked indignantly away. And Allrightnik thrust his arm through hers, and chuckled.

"O—e," now a well-proportioned youth, was crossing the Atlantic.

They had left port but three or four hours, and "O—e" was restlessly pacing the deck back and forth when his eye rested upon a young woman who was staring vacantly into the deep sea beyond. Beauty was hardly writ in those features, but instead there was rare refinement. A rather sorrowful look, with eyes full of pity, completed the enchantment.

"May I intrude?" he ventured.

A startled look, an effort to reply, flushed cheeks—and gone was the bird!

The following day he saw her again, but ashamed of himself for his conduct of the previous day, he passed her by hastily.

Soon "O—e," leaning back in an armchair, was deeply absorbed in a volume.

"May I intrude?" came a sweet voice. There was the offended angel in front of him!

"I noticed you did not eat any meat. Are you a Jew?"

Receiving an affirmative reply, she went on: "So am I. Now I am, no longer afraid of you."

And Lily and "O—e" became acquaintances. Acquaintance ripened into friendship; friendship into "fast" friendship; "fast" friendship into "soft" friendship.

"I shall miss you," said "O—e" to Lily as they were nearing port. Lily's destination lay in Cleveland.

Lily smiled a sweet smile.

"You will write to me, and often, won't you?" asked "O—e."

"I suppose I shall have to answer your letters," answers Lily, still smiling.

Like the candle that burns, and flickers, and then goes out, so the letters.

* * *

"O—e" was studying hard at the university. There he met another "soul mate," but this one—terror of terrors!—was a Gentile.

Jew or Gentile, what mattered it to "O—e," who was intoxicated with the draught?

The narrow, prejudiced Jews! And what if she does eat ham? And what if she does go to church and pray to the Lord Jesus Christ?

"O—e" had learned enough to scoff at religion. "O—e," tender youth, had imbibed just enough to become a romanticist.

The object of his worship, "Katy," at least and one-half times the age of the hero, was a good-looking, matronly woman, an assistant professor in one of the women's colleges out West.

"Katy," dignified enough in the classroom, gradually lost dignity when in the company of "O—e." The professor became the woman, and the woman the girl of twenty.

A walk along Fifth avenue, a glance at Temple Beth-El, started a religious conversation.

"These Jews must be very wealthy," said "Katy," after having examined that imposing edifice.

"Rather!"

"Wonder what a synagogue is like. I've never visited one. Have you?"

"O—e" had never as yet had occasion to mention his Judaism; and—with sorrow do we add this—he did not seek any occasion to do so.

"Katy's" last question made him feel uncomfortable.

"I have," he answered.

"You must have felt strangely there," she remarked.

Horrors! And so she had never suspected that he was a Jew!

The full consciousness of his guilt came over him as a thunderbolt. What? Was he to attribute his success to a masquerade?

"Not at all. In my younger days I attended synagogue quite regularly," he replied boldly.

She looked at him with wondering eyes. The truth had not yet dawned on her.

"What for?" she inquired gently. Ah! He was not mistaken. And she really thought him a Christian!

Yes; he must out with it! True; he did not consider himself a Jew, but as for being a Christian—!

"Why do you go to church?" he answered with a counter-question.

"Because a Christian is expected to," she answered with a smile.

"Exactly. And I attended synagogue for a similar reason."

With elaborate ceremonies the cornerstone of the sanatorium to be erected by the Jewish Consumptive Relief Society, of Chicago, Ill., will be laid on October 19. The sanatorium will be erected on a well-wooded ten-acre plot and will be far enough away from the city to afford pure air, and freedom from noise. The first building erected will be an infirmary, designed for advanced cases only.

The reception given to King Constantine XII. of Greece, by the populations of the diverse localities which he traversed on his return from the battlefield, was everywhere magnificent and enthusiastic. At Cavalla, the King, who was accompanied by the Royal Princes, was welcomed by a deputation of the Jewish community. His Majesty and the Princes attended a thanksgiving service which was being held in the Synagogue. The Chief Rabbi handed the King a silver key, with which he opened the ark, and it was noticed with much gratification that both in opening and closing the ark his Majesty bowed his head. Before leaving the synagogue he expressed his appreciation of the proofs which the Cavalla Jews had given of their attachment to him and the royal family.

The day commercial classes will open on Monday morning, September 15, at 9 o'clock.

Young Women's Hebrew Association.
The annual reunion of the associate members will be held on Saturday evening, September 13. The purpose of the evening is to give the associate members an opportunity to meet the instructors, club leaders, and one another, and to hear of the plans for the coming season. The president of each senior club will tell of the work of her circle. Mrs. Bertha Hirsch will sing and Miss Frances Kahn, the gymnastic instructor, will dance.

The day commercial classes will open on Monday morning, September 15, at 9 o'clock.

Isiah Temple.
Regular services will be re-instituted after the lapse of the summer months. Rabbi Samuel Greenfield was successful in securing the building formerly known as the Blooming Isle Church, West End avenue, between 106th and 107th streets, for temporary quarters for his new congregation. A more desirable or suitable location and building could not have been found, and the members of the congregation are enthusiastic concerning the outcome of the holiday season being spent in the well-known house of worship.

Bronx Congregations Amalgamate.
Two congregations in the Bronx, namely, Temple Hand in Hand and Sinai Congregation, amalgamated recently into one large organization, to be known as Sinai Congregation of the Bronx. Rabbi Max Reichler is to serve as rabbi of the consolidated congregations, which will continue to hold services in both its present places of worship, Rabbi Reichler being assisted by Rabbi Jacob D. Schwartz, of Cincinnati.

It is the purpose of the consolidated congregations to build a larger temple as soon as the present building is sold. Sinai Congregation is conducting three religious schools in various parts of the Bronx, and embraces ten energetic auxiliary societies.

The Executive Board for the ensuing year consists of Louis Fleischmann, president; Abraham Rosenstein and Samuel Grossman, vice-presidents; Joseph Loewy, treasurer; Leopold Beringer, financial secretary; Samuel Schwartzberg, recording secretary; Dr. William Boehm, William Daub, and Emil Fleischel, trustees.

Organization Meeting of the Pioneers of Woodbine, N. J.

On Saturday evening, August 30, a meeting of the pioneers of Woodbine, those who had settled in Woodbine at the time of its founding twenty-two years ago, was held in the Auditorium of the Baron de Hirsch Agricultural School, Woodbine, N. J. Thirty-two of the original fifty families have remained in this colony, and most of these, together with their sons and daughters, attended the meeting. Mr. Louis J. Cohen, superintendent of the agricultural school, who had been very instrumental in calling the organization to being, opened the meeting with an address. Professor H. L. Sabsovich, who is termed "the Father of Woodbine," was then introduced. He compared the conditions during the earlier years with those prevailing to-day. "One who comes to Woodbine to-day finds a beautifully laid out town, with streets, electric lights, and a water system, whereas in the first years, there were bushes, no lighting system worthy of a name, and water obtained under great difficulties." He spoke in the highest terms of those who had toiled and labored in behalf of the development of the town, of those who had planted the seeds and were now beholding the fruits of their labor. He also mentioned the names of these individuals whom he thought ought to be inscribed in the archives of Woodbine in golden letters. He also stated that an organization of the kind they had started would be of inestimable value for the future, in keeping them constantly united, and would fully develop the spirit of co-operation and mutual help.

Mr. H. Rosenfeld was the next speaker. He is the owner of the first hotel in Woodbine, and has given a great deal of his strength as well as means towards the building up of the town. He pointed out the hardships and struggles of the early settlers, how they had suffered and toiled together, and how they now sought to rejoice together. Mr. M. L. Bayard, who was the Mayor of Woodbine for a period of six years, was the next speaker whom Prof. Sabsovich, who had been appointed temporary chairman, called upon. He stated that he did not realize that so many of the old settlers were still residing in Woodbine, and that it was a very splendid idea to keep the ties of friendship cemented by uniting together in one body. Mr. W. Eisenberg pointed out how very few activities there were during the early years, and how many there are at the present time. Among the latter he designated the following: The Woodbine Building and Loan Association, Woodbine Land and Improvement Company, the Woodbine Brotherhood, the Synagogue of Woodbine Brotherhood, the Shearith Israel Synagogue, Woodbine Hebrew School, three public schools, one high school, Baron de Hirsch Agricultural School. Among the industrial and commercial enterprises he mentioned the following: Woodbine Hat Company, Woodbine Children's Clothing Company, Woodbine Hygrade Clothing Manufacturing Company, M. L. Bayard & Co.'s Machine Works, Coast Knitting Company, South Jersey Knitting Company, M. Subber Machine Works and Woodbine Beef Company.

Young Men's Hebrew Association.

A glee club is being organized at the Young Men's Hebrew Association, from which it is hoped to provide a young men's choir, to assist at the Friday evening services. The glee club will meet Thursday evening for the first time.

Friday afternoon the Boys' Club, which meet at the association in the afternoon, will hold an entertainment. Those interested in the splendid work done by these enterprising youngsters, who so eagerly grasp the opportunities which the Young Men's Hebrew Association affords, will be pleased to attend this affair.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association Social Room has been reopened under the supervision of Jack Nadel with improved facilities for the young men to pass an interesting evening of recreation and pleasure. Games, music and interesting reading is provided.

The work of the Inter-Young Men's Hebrew Association League is making splendid progress and this Sunday evening a mass meeting will be held at the Yonkers Young Men's Hebrew Association, where prominent organizers of the league will place before the Yonkers association the advantages of united action by our Young Men's Hebrew Associations of New York. Dr. Leo Manheimer will be the principle speaker.

New Rochelle, N. Y.

Temple Israel, of New Rochelle (Richard M. Stein, Rabbi), invites its friends to attend memorial services in honor of its late president, Mr. Benjamin Sterns. RESOLUTIONS.

SILBERMAN. — Whereas, the Board of Directors have learned with profound sorrow of the sudden death of Samuel J. Silberman, who for many years has been one of the most active and enthusiastic workers and supporters of the Beth Israel Hospital; and

WHEREAS, his sound judgment, intense sincerity, broadmindedness and wonderful grasp of affairs made Mr. Samuel J. Silberman a tower of strength and reliance to his fellow members of the board, while his genial, affable, courteous and kindly bearing have gained for him the sincere and affectionate regard of every member of the board; and

WHEREAS, his sterling character, his sense of justice, his integrity and uprightedness have earned for him the respect and esteem of all who came in contact with him, and his kindness, piety, charitable disposition and devotion to the cause of humanity have made him an inspiring example in communal life; and

WHEREAS, as a director and chairman of the Dispensary and Building Committees he assisted very largely in the successful administration of hospital affairs by loyally devoting his wise counsel, his best efforts and energies and his remarkable executive abilities, in unselfish personal service, to further the interests and welfare of the hospital, in addition to liberally and cheerfully giving of his means towards the maintenance of the institution; and

WHEREAS, we mourn with heartfelt sorrow the untimely death of a beloved colleague, a worthy and distinguished member of the community, a loyal supporter of the Beth Israel Hospital, and a devotee of the cause of humanity, be it

RESOLVED, that we extend our sincere sympathy to the members of his family and offer up our prayers that kind Providence may comfort and sustain them, and be it

RESOLVED, that these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this board, and that an engrossed copy be forwarded to the family, and a copy be sent to the press for publication.

Kehillah's Provisional Synagogues.

(Communicated.)
The Jewish Community (Kehillah) of New York city has, as on previous years, organized a number of provisional synagogues for the coming high holidays. The object of these synagogues is to provide decorous and impressive services for persons of limited means and to eliminate the holding of services in non-suitable places and the cheap advertising which is employed in connection with synagogues conducted by private individuals. A larger number of provisional synagogues than ever will, this year, be conducted by the Kehillah. There will altogether be twelve synagogues, located in different parts of Greater New York. Three of these synagogues will be conducted in the auditoriums of Jewish institutions, which have been granted to us for this purpose, and the nine other synagogues will be held in large halls, which have been hired by the Kehillah. The synagogues of the Kehillah will be located as follows:
Downtown: Clinton Hall, 151 Clinton street; Manhattan Lyceum, 164 East Fourth street; Lafayette Hall, 8 Avenue D; Stuyvesant Casino, 140 Second avenue; auditorium Hebrew Technical School for Girls, corner Second avenue and Fifteenth street.
Harlem: Auditorium Young Women's Hebrew Association, Lexington avenue and 100th street; auditorium Amelia Relief Society, 113 East 101st street; Metropolitan Hall, 160 East 112th street; Majestic Hall, 115 East 125th street.
East New York: New Palm Garden, 219 Sackman street; Independence Hall, 87 Osborne street (two Kehillah synagogues will be located in this building).
Well qualified Chazanim and hal Tevliath have been engaged to conduct the services of the Kehillah. Tickets will be sold at a nominal cost. These tickets will be placed for sale at the offices of the different halls and at the homes of the members of the committee who are now completing the arrangements for the holding of the series. Applications for tickets will also be received at the office of the Kehillah, 356 Second avenue, New York city. Those who are unable to pay for tickets will have to apply in writing to the office of the Jewish Community.

Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary.

The rare occurrence of a sixtieth wedding anniversary took place last Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. Harris Cohen attained that milestone and appropriately celebrated the event with a dinner at the residence of their daughter, Mrs. P. Sobel, No. 1887 Seventh avenue. Mr. Cohen is eighty-three years of age and his wife is one year his senior. They are both in the best of health.
Mr. Cohen came to this country in 1849 and engaged in the tailoring business. He was married in New York City to Ernestine Sobel, on September 8th, 1853, and lived in Greenwich Village for the first twenty years. He retired from active business about thirty-five years ago.
The Cohens have nine children, all of whom are living; twenty-two grandchildren and six great-grandchildren, most of whom attended the celebration. The oldest child of the couple, a daughter, is fifty-eight, and the youngest member of the family, a great-grandchild, is six weeks old. At the reception last Sunday was Samuel Sobel, a cousin of Mrs. Cohen, who was best man at the wedding sixty years ago, and Elias Sobel, her brother. These two, besides the bride and bridegroom, are the sole survivors of the many guests at the wedding.

Bronx Orthodox Synagogue Nearing Completion.

The new edifice of the Congregation Beth Hamedrash Hagodel of the Bronx, which is now in course of erection at Nos. 827-829 Forest avenue, Bronx, is rapidly approaching completion and preparations are being made for the dedication services, which will take place before the holidays. The synagogue will be the handsomest synagogue located in the Bronx and will fill a long felt want. The services will be conducted according to strict Orthodox ritual and no doubt the completion of the building will see a rapid gain in the congregation's membership.

He looked wondrously brave.
 "But you're not a—" She stopped and looked at him with wonder-gazing eyes.
 "A Jew? Yes; I was born one."
 "I would never have thought it," she muttered.

The dream was shattered.

A dainty schoolgirl this, lovely as the rose.
 Hard task this, when "Schoolgirl" has never looked a boy straight in the face; when "Schoolgirl" has thought of nothing so far but school.

But fortresses were made to be stormed, difficulties to be overcome. The sweet innocence of youth but adds zest to the attack.

"Till now mine were ephemeral fancies," he thought.

But "Schoolgirl"? With her he had reached the topmost pinnacle of love.

"Thus far and no farther!" cried he.

"Thou couldst not, even if thou hadst a mind to," Cupid answered, he thought.

If frequency of the images of the beloved one, if frequency of sleepless nights, if frequency of day and night dreams, if frequency of acute suffering peculiar to the love-sick be criterions, then "O—e" truly loved.

And "Schoolgirl"?
 Love slumbered peacefully till "O—e" came. A slow but sure awakening resulted with his arrival.

The day came when "O—e" was to "Schoolgirl" what "Schoolgirl" had long been to "O—e."

And "O—e" vowed that earth plus "Schoolgirl" was the Garden of Eden.

And "O—e" worshiped at her shrine daily. And "O—e" loved the world and all that there is in it.

Loved it till—the cold waters of Logic were poured upon the burning embers of Romance.

* * *
 And Nankele?
 She has grown, and is a maid rapidly approaching twenty.
 Does she still recall "O—e"?

How I Became a Zionist
 By Arnold Marle

(Translated by Jacques Mayer.)

My Dear Mr. Mayer:
 You were kind enough to ask me why I became a Zionist, and I can understand your interest in asking the question. While it is easy for me to answer, you must permit me to go back a few years.
 I belong to a very pious Jewish family and was brought up according to strict orthodox principles. Thus I passed the days of my childhood in the uniquely beautiful city of Prague, where I was taught German, and, later on, was strongly influenced by German culture. The intellectual revolution of that time, with its realism in literature and art, knocked also at my door, and quite unconsciously I felt that the orthodox point of view was joyless and inimical to a high standard of living. What could such a youth of fourteen or fifteen years of age do but become an Athelst? And, in fact, I became a very radical one. You must not, however, suppose that this was due to environment, or through outside influence. No; I brooded constantly and found everything too narrow, and that my tumultuous youthfulness was being stifled in an orthodox atmosphere. There resulted violent arguments with my dear, good father, for what father is prepared to agree to ideas which he regards as thoughtlessly adopted and which are in radical contradiction to his own? The battle began when I refused to attend synagogue. But, naturally, my father was shrewder than his son with youthful sturm und drang (storm and stress). In a manner he allowed me to go my own way, and he was wise in so doing, for he retained the affection of his son, and knew that in later life the atheist would change into something else.

YOU MANS HATTER
 Has opened a new store in the Arcade of the Longacre Building on 42d Street at Broadway, opposite the Knickerbocker Hotel.

Orthodox ideas cast aside, I, to whom German literature had become an intellectual possession, felt that it was shameful that we Jews, grateful for such a grand cultural blessing, did not amalgamate with the people to whom we were indebted for it and in whose midst we dwelt.

Years passed. I was still at home, and in daily promenades in my native city the fine architectural monuments of various styles afforded me intense aesthetic pleasure. The idea of assimilation had become deeply impressed upon my mind. But the realities of life did not touch me; my father provided for me, and my school fellows were the only non-Jewish people whom I knew.

At the age of nineteen I absolved the "Gymnasium," and my father, though at first greatly against his will, permitted me to study for the stage, for which I had an unconquerable predilection. To him alone have I to be grateful that now, after seven years, I have won a position, though perhaps only a modest one, in my profession. After studying with the famous master, Alexander Strakosch, I obtained an engagement in Berlin, where I met a class of people quite different from my acquaintances in Prague. Most of them were Christians, and these were enthusiastic Germans.

Although German culture was a vital part of my intellectual outfit, I gradually began to recognize the enormous difference existing between my new friends and myself. I perceived the vital dissimilarities in traits and character, which I had never before noticed, and I began to reflect upon the matter, though unable to thoroughly comprehend it. In the first few years my engagements were in various places, and I came constantly into touch with men and women of another race.

I felt keenly how the German was averse to racial mixture, how averse he was to Jews doing their share in German cultural work, which indeed he opposed and rejected when such a thing was possible.

And now where were my favorite ideas regarding assimilation? What was I to do with them? Can I offer a man a ripe, juicy pear, when he continually turns his back to me? The most I could do would be to smuggle it into his pocket without knowing it. But that would be hypocritical.

I must here state emphatically that I was never approached by a Zionist for the purpose of converting me to his opinions, nor have I ever read anything on the subject of Zionism. Some of its war cries, to be sure, came to my notice, such as: "The Kingdom of Zion can be attained," "All Jews may return to the Blessed Land," etc. These appeared to me as ideals, and on that very account incapable of realization. Finally, I came to Munich, where I formed the acquaintance of a very estimable man. Though a Zionist, we never discussed Zionism, even indirectly, for whenever the conversation seemed likely to approach the subject, I indulged in a rather disdainful smile, and talked of an "impossible scheme," "an unrealizable dream," and so forth. But one day we discussed the matter at greater length, and our views regarding it were expressed more freely. Of the theory of Zionism I had hitherto been quite ignorant, and now its practical side appealed to my heart and soul. "The Kingdom" was not considered at all, or whether the Jews of Germany, Austria, England or America were to return to Palestine. The object aimed at was to give the Jews their own culture state (Kulturstaat), where they need no longer strive for a fruitless and aimless assimilation. And in Russia—God be thanked!—we have a hostage that will enable us to obtain the necessary material, so that we remain God's people. The Jews will never disappear from the face of the earth. In this I believe with heart and soul, and in many other things I again believe, for from atheism I have found my way—it was a long way!—back to God. To be sure, it was not the path that orthodoxy was able to point out to me, but it is the path to the God of the East, of the sun and of hope.

 Very sincerely yours,

 MT. CLEMENS, MICH.
 STRICTLY KOSHER
 I respectfully invite your attention to the superior advantages afforded by REH'S HOTEL ANNEX for the accommodation of visitors to the Baths of Mt. Clemens. I have expended a large sum of money in their improvement and furnishings. They have no superiors in the city. Hot water in each room.
 Hotel and Annex are connected, and both have direct and heated passageway connections with the Baths of Arcthusa, comprising the latest and finest addition to the bathing interests of Mt. Clemens. The Baths of Arcthusa are furnished with every approved idea for the administration of these healing waters, and in addition is a beautiful and luxurious establishment where it is delightful to take the treatment.
 I shall be glad to receive your valued patronage when coming to Mt. Clemens and assure you of every care and consideration. Rates, $15 to $25 per week for room and board.

God's Thunderbolts
The peasant shook his head skeptically. "I should not care to be caught in it myself," he grunted, and passed out of Simon's yard, leaving him leaning against his wagon in a disconsolate mood. He watched Bronik until he disappeared from sight altogether. Simon was fearfully downcast. The temporary exultation due to his dream had left him. His depression was all the more heavy on him by reason of his former momentary joyousness. And Bronik's ominous words gripped his heart as in a vise. Bronik was not the man to drive his cows back to their sheds unless he feared a particularly bad storm. And he, Simon, would have to drive through many miles of a bad road, into the ruts of which his cart would sink pretty frequently at the best of times. And now that he would have the storm blinding him, it would be next to impossible to keep out of the ruts. Probably he would have to get out every few minutes to lift one wheel or another, or even both, from the holes. It was true that here and there an odd piece of board covered the worst of the rut, but it was equally undeniable that one must see the boards in order to take advantage of them, else they only caused one as much trouble as did the deep holes that they were meant to cover up. No detail of the discomforts of his intended journey escaped him. On the contrary, his mind was peculiarly alive to each and every one of them. And Bronik's words kept echoing and re-echoing within him. The atmosphere was moist and chilly, and miserably oppressive. Simon's heart felt as if it were supporting the whole super-incumbent weight of the sky's cloud roofs. Though it was four o'clock of a May morning, the sun was nowhere to be seen. Once or twice he made an attempt to break his prison walls and rush into the sky in order to annihilate with his burning beams the black clouds which had gathered together as if with the intention of quenching the glory of the sun's rising. But the banded powers of darkness seemed too much for him—for the sun, that is. And reluctantly, sullenly, he retired from the field of battle and submitted to a temporary abdication. The tiny hamlet in which Simon lived was still fast asleep, though the inhabitants were field and dairy yard laborers, and started to work long before the sun was high in the heavens.

EXPLANATION—MATTER IN ITALICS IS NEW. STATE OF NEW YORK, OFFICE OF THE Secretary of State, Albany, July 22, 1913.—Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred and ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section seven of article one of the Constitution of the State of New York is to be submitted to the people for approval at the next general election in this State to be held on the fourth day of November, nineteen hundred and thirteen. MITCHELL MAY, Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE. Concurrent Resolution of the Senate and Assembly, Proposing an amendment to section seven of article one of the constitution, relative to taking private property for public use.

Whereas, The legislature at its regular session of nineteen hundred and twelve duly adopted a resolution proposing an amendment to section seven of article one of the constitution, relative to taking private property for public use; and Whereas, Such resolution has been duly published in accordance with law and the constitution and referred to this legislature for action, therefore Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article one of the constitution be amended to read as follows: § 7. When private property shall be taken for any public use, the compensation to be made therefor when such compensation is not made by the state, shall be ascertained by a jury, or by the supreme court with or without a jury, but not with a referee, or by not less than three commissioners appointed by a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law. Private roads may be opened in the manner to be prescribed by law; but in every case the necessity of the road and the amount of all damage to be sustained by the opening thereof shall be first determined by a jury of freeholders, and such amount, together with the expenses of the proceeding, shall be paid by the person to be benefited. General laws may be passed permitting the owners or occupants of agricultural lands to construct and maintain for the drainage thereof, necessary drains, ditches and dykes upon the lands of others, under proper restrictions and with just compensation, but no special laws shall be enacted for such purposes. The legislature may authorize cities to take more land and property than is needed for actual construction in the laying out, widening, extending or relocating parks, public places, highways or streets; provided, however, that the additional land and property so authorized to be taken shall be no more than sufficient to form suitable building sites abutting on such park, public place, highway or street. After so much of the land and property has been appropriated for such park, public place, highway or street as is needed therefor, the remainder may be sold or leased. § 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and thirteen, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

State of New York, In Senate, May 2, 1913.—The foregoing resolution was duly passed, two-thirds of all the Senators elected voting in favor thereof. By order of the Senate, MARTIN H. GLYNN, President.

State of New York, In Assembly, March 26, 1913.—The foregoing resolution was duly passed, two-thirds of all the members elected to the Assembly voting in favor thereof. By order of the Assembly, ALFRED E. SMITH, Speaker.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss.: I have compared the preceding copy of concurrent resolution on file in this office, and I do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole thereof. Given under my hand and the seal of office of the Secretary of State at the city of Albany, this twenty-second day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. [L. S.] MITCHELL MAY, Secretary of State.

FORM FOR SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO. Shall the proposed amendment to Article One of the Constitution, designated in the election notice as Amendment Number Two, providing that there shall be no constitutional limitation upon the power of the legislature to enact laws for the protection of the lives, safety or health of employees; for the payment of compensation for injuries to or death of employees resulting from such injuries; and for the adjustment of suits arising under such legislation, be approved?

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO. Concurrent Resolution of the Senate and Assembly, Proposing an amendment to article one of the constitution, relating to laws for the security and protection of the lives, health or safety of employees.

Whereas, The legislature at its regular session of nineteen hundred and twelve duly adopted a resolution proposing an amendment to article one of the constitution, relating to laws for the security and protection of the lives, health or safety of employees; and Whereas, Such resolution has been duly published in accordance with law and the constitution and referred to this legislature for action, therefore Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article one of the constitution be amended by adding at the end a new section, to be section nineteen, to read as follows: § 19. Nothing contained in this constitution shall be construed to limit the power of the legislature to enact laws for the protection of the lives, health, or safety of employees; or for the payment, either by employers, or by employers and employees or otherwise, either directly or through a state or other system of insurance or otherwise, of compensation for injuries to employees or for death of employees resulting from such injuries without regard to fault as a cause thereof, except where the injury is occasioned by the willful intention of the injured employee to bring about the injury or death of himself or of another, or where the injury results solely from the intoxication of the injured employee while on duty; or for the adjustment, determination and settlement, with or without trial by jury, of issues which may arise under such legislation; or to provide that the right of such compensation, and the remedy therefor shall be exclusive of all other rights and remedies for injuries to employees or for death resulting from such injuries; or to provide that the amount of such compensation for death shall not exceed a fixed or determinable sum; provided that all moneys paid by an employer to his employees or their legal representatives, by reason of the enactment of any of the laws herein authorized, shall be held to be a proper charge in the cost of operating the business of the employer. § 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and thirteen, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

State of New York, In Assembly, April 3, 1913.—The foregoing resolution was duly passed, a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly voting in favor thereof. By order of the Assembly, ALFRED E. SMITH, Speaker.

State of New York, In Senate, March 25, 1913.—The foregoing resolution was duly passed, a majority of all the Senators elected voting in favor thereof. By order of the Senate, MARTIN H. GLYNN, President.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss.: I have compared the preceding copy of concurrent resolution with the original concurrent resolution on file in this office, and I do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole thereof. Given under my hand and the seal of office of the Secretary of State at the city of Albany, this twenty-second day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. [L. S.] MITCHELL MAY, Secretary of State.

FORM FOR SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO. Shall the proposed amendment to Article One of the Constitution, designated in the election notice as Amendment Number Two, providing that there shall be no constitutional limitation upon the power of the legislature to enact laws for the protection of the lives, safety or health of employees; for the payment of compensation for injuries to or death of employees resulting from such injuries; and for the adjustment of suits arising under such legislation, be approved?

EXPLANATION—MATTER IN ITALICS IS NEW; MATTER IN BRACKETS [ ] IS OLD MATTER TO BE OMITTED.

STATE OF NEW YORK, OFFICE OF THE Secretary of State, Albany, July 22, 1913.—Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred and ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section four, ten of article six of the Constitution of the State of New York is to be submitted to the people for approval at the next general election in this State to be held on the fourth day of November, nineteen hundred and thirteen.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE. Concurrent Resolution of the Senate and Assembly, Proposing an amendment to section four, ten of article six of the constitution, in relation to the county courts.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur). That section fourteen of article six of the constitution be amended to read as follows: § 14. The existing county courts are continued, and the judges thereof now in office shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective terms.

In the county of Kings there shall be [two] four county judges. The number of county judges in any county may also be increased, from time to time, by the legislature, to such number that the total number of county judges in any one county shall not exceed one for every two hundred thousand, or major fraction thereof, of the population of such county.

[and the additional county judge shall be chosen at the next general election held after the adoption of this article.] The additional county judges in the county of Kings shall be chosen at the general election held in the first odd-numbered year after the adoption of this amendment.

The additional county judges whose offices may be created by the legislature shall be chosen at the general election held in the first odd-numbered year after the creation of such office. [The successors of the several] All county judges, including successors to existing judges, shall be chosen by the electors of the counties for the term of six years from and including the first day of January following their election.

County courts shall have the powers and jurisdiction they now possess, and also original jurisdiction in actions for the recovery of money only, where the defendants reside in the county, and in which the complaint demands judgment for a sum not exceeding two thousand dollars.

The legislature may hereafter enlarge or restrict the jurisdiction of the county courts, provided, however, that their jurisdiction shall not be so extended as to authorize an action therein for the recovery of money only, in which the sum demanded exceeds two thousand dollars, or in which any person not a resident of the county is a defendant.

Courts of sessions, except in the county of New York, are abolished from and after the last day of December, eighteen hundred and ninety-five. All the jurisdiction of the court of sessions in each county, except the county of New York, shall thereupon be vested in the county court thereof, and all actions and proceedings then pending in such courts of sessions shall be transferred to said county courts for hearing and determination.

Every county judge shall perform such duties as they may be required by law. His salary shall be established by law, payable out of the county treasury. A county judge of any county may hold county courts in any other county when requested by the judge of such other county.

Resolved (if the Senate concur). That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and thirteen, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

State of New York, In Assembly, Feb. 11, 1913.—This resolution was duly passed, a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly voting in favor thereof, three-fifths being present.

By order of the Assembly, ALFRED E. SMITH, Speaker. State of New York, In Senate, March 17, 1913.—This resolution was duly passed, a majority of all the Senators elected voting in favor thereof, three-fifths being present.

By order of the Senate, MARTIN H. GLYNN, President. State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, etc.: I have compared the preceding copy of concurrent resolution with the original concurrent resolution on file in this office, and I do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole thereof.

Given under my hand and the seal of office of the Secretary of State at the city of Albany, this twenty-second day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. [L. S.] MITCHELL MAY, Secretary of State.

FORM FOR SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE. Shall the proposed amendment to Section Fourteen of Article Six of the Constitution, designated in the election notice as Amendment Number Three, providing for an increase of two in the number of county judges in Kings county; also providing that the legislature may increase the number of county judges in any county not to exceed a total of one judge for every 200,000 population or major fraction thereof; prescribing the time of election of additional county judges; and providing that the term of all county judges shall begin on the first of January following their election, be approved?

Observing the Holy Days.

Editor HEBREW STANDARD:

The Day of Atonement is the Jew's holiest day. Will the Jewish butchers and bakers one and each of them—as well as some Broadway people—keep their stores closed on that day, at least? Honest, respectable Christians will surely buy a day before the Jewish New Year, and the most sacred Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur) all they need if requested. Your Christian exchanges will kindly see to that, as well as the Christian preachers, who talk to sinners and of sins.

Very truly yours, REV. J. SCHWED. New York, Sept. 7, 1913.

SOCIAL.

The Bar Mitzvah banquet of Master Jacob Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Harris, of New York and Arverne, was held at the Hotel Nautilus, Arverne, L. I., Sunday evening, September 7. The spacious, beautiful dining room of the Nautilus resembled a tropical garden, with its rare flowers, plants, miniature lake, tiny rivers and fishes. And to this, the gorgeous gowns and exquisite jewelry of the ladies, made the place seem—in the words of one of the speakers—"a palace of a king." A large and distinguished assemblage attended, among them being Rabbi M. S. Margolies, Judge Otto H. Rosalsky, Mr. and Mrs. David Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. L. Unterberg, Mr. and Mrs. S. Liebovitz and Mr. and Mrs. M. Phillips.

The Bar Mitzvah of Master Seymour Bayer, son of Mr. Nathan Bayer, was celebrated with a reception to a large number of guests at Shapiro's Hotel Britain, Arverne, L. I., last Sunday. Mr. Alex Mayer, the toastmaster, spoke feelingly to the young confirmant who, in turn, made a fitting address to his parents and the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Goodman, who have just concluded a pleasant sojourn of 14 weeks at Atlantic City, N. J., are at present spending a few days with their son, Mr. I. Goodman and family at Avon, N. J. They will then pay a two weeks' visit to their daughters, Mrs. D. Cowen and Mrs. Wm. Maler, of Bensonhurst.

After a stay of three months at the Manhattan Hotel, Sharon Springs, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. S. Klein and family, of 60 St. Nicholas avenue, returned to New York on the 8th inst.

Rev. Dr. D. de Sola Pool arrived home last Monday after a four months' European vacation. Dr. Pool was accompanied by his parents, who will in future make their home with him.

Rabbi and Mrs. Moritz Speter and daughter have returned to their city home, 24 East 99th street (Hoffman Court).

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oshinsky and their son, Kassel, of 19 East Ninety-fourth street, who have been abroad for the summer, are due to arrive on the "Imperator" next Wednesday, September 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Ignatz Margaret, and family, who have been spending the summer in Long Branch, N. J., are now at their city home, 212 East Seventy-ninth street.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Engelman and family are at Philadelphia, Pa., attending the Bar Mitzvah of their nephew, Master Irving Bendiner.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The programme of the New York Philharmonic will, as usual, be enhanced by the appearance, as assisting artists, of the most distinguished of the great artists who will be heard in America the coming season. The names already announced by the management make up a well balanced list of vocal and instrumental artists and are as follows:

- Vocalists: Margarete Matzenauer, Mme. Gerville-Reache, Mme. Ottilie Metzger, Julia Culp, Jacques Urieu. Violinists: Mischa Elman, Carl Flesch, (first tour of America); Jacques Thibaud, (return of the great French violinist); Leopold Kramer, (new concertmaster of the Philharmonic). Pianists: Teresa Carreno, Harold Bauer, Max Pauer. Violincellists: Jean Gerardy, Leo Schulz, Beatrice Harrison.

Also to be heard are Mr. Henri Leon Leroy, first clarinet, and Xavier Reiter, first horn. Miss Kitty Cheatham will be the soloist at the Young People's concert.

The Philharmonic will also have the co-operation of the St. Cecilia Club, Mr. Victor Harris, conductor, in the performance of the Liszt "Dante" symphony.

Sutorius & Company announce that they have secured the exclusive management of Modest Altschuler and his Russian Symphony Orchestra. This well known organization, now in its eleventh season, has been booked extensively. Beginning at Pittsburgh, September 22nd, for a week at the Exposition, the orchestra will tour Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, as far west as Peoria, returning by way of the Middle West in time for the first of its regular subscription concerts at Aeolian Hall, which will take place November 25th, January 6th and February 17th. Between these New York concerts tours of shorter duration will be taken and subscription concerts in the suburbs and nearby cities will be given. The sixth annual spring tour will start on Easter Monday.

The Palace, which truthfully calls itself "The Home of the Best Vaudeville," presented a bill of peculiar strength to their patrons the past week, and for the present week it offers a programme of equal excellence. So genuine was the success scored by Fritz Scheff, "The Little Devil of Grand Opera," last week, that she has been retained for another week. Horace Goldin, the royal illusionist, whose feats of legerdemain and whose stupendous spectacle, "The Tiger God," in which Horace Goldin and a company of forty, including a Royal Bengal tiger, created a sensation, also appear, as do Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield, in "Change Your Act," Joe Jackson, Bowers, Walters and Crocker, known as "The Three Rubes," Six American Dancers, Cameron and O'Connor, Matilda and Elvira and the Palacescope, showing new and exclusive films.

Two musical comedy successes within four days is the distinction which Adolph Philipp, the German-American manager and producer, has earned and one which would make any playwright and Broadway producer envious. Mr. Philipp's American version of "Adele" was successfully produced at Frazee's Longacre Theatre, while at his own cozy little playhouse on East Fifty-seventh street, the popular comedian is meeting success with his latest adaptation from the French called, "The Midnight Girl." In the latter production Mr. Philipp appears in the leading male role, assisted by Grete von Mayhof and melodies of the whistling kind.

"Oh! Oh! Delphine" will be the next attraction at the Grand Opera House, New York City, when Klaw & Erlanger will offer the musical comedy for the commencement of its second season in New York City. This engagement begins on Monday, September 15th, and continues for the week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. Despite the phenomenally successful records of "Oh! Oh! Delphine" it will be offered at the Grand under the scale of prices which makes this theatre the distinct popular institution of Greater New York theatricals. "Oh! Oh! Delphine" ran for a year on Broadway. It was first seen at the Knickerbocker Theatre and then was transferred to the New Amsterdam Theatre. It is the musical comedy of the hour, and sets a new pace for this style of entertainment.

The company includes the same strong cast that assisted in the run of the piece on Broadway, and in the roster will be found Frank McIntyre, Frank Doane, Scott Welsh, George A. Beane, George Stuart Christie, Alfred Fisher, Octavia Broske, Grace Edmond, Stella Hoban and Dolly Allwyn.

A farce is a dramatic work reinforced with absurdities in the matter of snappy lines and unexpected situations, constructed for the sole purpose of exciting laughter. "Stop Thief," another of Cohan and Harris' successes, possesses all of these attributes. This is the play that scored such a pronounced hit at the Gaiety Theatre all last season, and will be the offering at Cohan and Harris' new Bronx Opera House, Third avenue and 149th street, all next week, beginning Monday evening and with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. "Stop Thief" is from the pen of Carlyle Moore, and the story he tells has to do with two people who, imagining themselves kleptomaniacs, are continually obsessed with the fear of being found out.

The bill announced for next week at the Alhambra is in line with the policy of better shows at lower prices inaugurated this season. Frank Sheridan and company are the headliners and will present Richard Harding Davis' one-act play, "Blackmail." Sharing the premier position will be Belle Baker, who has rapidly forged to the front as America's foremost character singer. Charles and Fanny Van will give "From Stage Carpenter to Acker," and Henry Tighe and his ten colleagues will offer "Taking Things Easy." Other acts announced are the Three Keatons, Miller and Mack, the Juggling Mowatts and the Stanleys.

After a very successful season at Arverne, where he conducted the Marlborough Court, Mr. J. Prown announces that he will again conduct the Rose Villa at Lakewood, N. J., for the fall and winter season.

The Rose Villa will be open for the reception of guests beginning with September 25, and the same close attention to details and the comfort of the sojourner which has done so much to build up the patronage of this establishment will again be in evidence.

Jewish Religious School Union of New York. The Jewish Religious School Union, of New York, organized last spring, and of which the Rev. Dr. Rudolph Grossman, of Temple Rodeph Shalom, is President, has taken up its work again and has sent during the past week the following letter to the minister and chairman of every Religious School in New York City and vicinity:

Dear Sir:—The Committee on Methods of the Jewish Religious School Union of New York begs to recommend for your consideration:

That inasmuch as the Day of Atonement should mean so much to every one of Jewish birth, old or young, and as in most congregations little, if any, opportunity is given to the children connected with the Religious School of the Congregation to take any part in the services upon that Holiest of Days, that the Religious School Board of each Congregation should recommend to the trustees, that in view of the influence which the Congregation should exert upon the children directly in your charge, it is advisable to make some special provision for reaching the children upon the Day of Atonement.

In furtherance of this purpose it is suggested that a children's service be held during this day, preferably in the afternoon, during the Mincha service.

It is also suggested that this service may be introduced either after Page 234 (Union Prayer Book) or after Page 253 (U. P. B.). At this time and place in the service the special "Children's Service" arranged by Marion L. Misch may be utilized, or Pages 154-163 may be repeated, the children singing the responses, and one or two appropriate hymns from any of the hymn books used in the Religious School; which is then to be followed by the reading of the Torah (Pages 277-290), and a sermon directed especially to the children.

We shall be pleased to learn how these services result, as we believe that they will tend to the spiritual stimulation not only of the children, but of their parents as well.

Respectfully yours, CLIFTON H. LEVY, Chairman of Committee on Methods of the Jewish Religious School Union of New York.

United Junior Zionists of Greater New York.

The United Junior Zionists of Greater New York are a combination of thirty clubs closely welded together into a council for the purpose of running an entertainment on a grand scale. The proceeds of this entertainment will go toward the establishment and maintenance of two Zionist centres in the city, one in Brooklyn and the other in New York, from which will be carried on thorough and effective work for the Jewish youth.

Kessler's theatre has been reserved for the night of December 30, and it is hoped to entertain an audience of about 2,000. Among other things, the programme will contain a Yiddish play in one or two acts and a Hebrew play in three acts. The executive committee trusts that the Jewish public will readily and willingly respond to the efforts of the Junior Zionists, and will help make the entertainment an unqualified success.

Rabbi Eleazar of Modin

Dear Children:

Rabbi Eleazar of Modin said, "He who profanes the holy offerings despises the solemn feasts, puts his neighbor to the blush in public, makes void the covenant of our Father Abraham, or puts a construction on the Torah that is not in accordance with the Jewish laws, although he be possessed of a knowledge of the Torah and meritorious actions, has no share in the world to come."

"Has no share in the world to come!" Dear children, can you realize the meaning of these terrible words? To think that this world's human existence, be it happy or sorrowful; be it long or short; be it filled with sweet visions of beloved faces of our cherished ones who have gone before, or the precious ones whom we will leave behind, shall, after our eyes have for the last time closed upon this earthly scene, be nothing to us any more, and we nothing to them—that it shall all be obliteration! all annihilation! No! No! This is a horrible, an agonizing thought, and at the very outset of the Ethics have we been taught that "All Israel hath a share in the world to come." Then what terrible crimes have those guilty of the five sins described above committed that they shall meet with such a horrible fate?

Rabbi Naphtali Herz Wesley, of blessed memory, in his masterly commentary on the Ethics, explains this as follows:

Epicurianism is divided into five degrees, each of which makes its adherent unworthy of life in a future state; each of these degrees is characterized by the five sins mentioned by Rabbi Eleazar of Modin, the first degree of disbelief and the most radical in its viciousness is Atheism—they who deny the existence of a Divine being, or if they do acknowledge Him, they circumscribe his powers. The second degree of disbelief is possessed by those who, though believing in a Divine Being and that His powers are unlimited, still do not believe that He created the world, but that it always existed together with Him, which is the belief of some of the Greek philosophers. The third degree of disbelief is possessed by those who, although they believe that the world was created by the blessed Creator according to His will, yet do not believe that man was created in the Divine image, and in their estimation man and beast are on an equal scale, that the human soul is an outcome of the body and will perish with the body. The fourth degree of disbelief is possessed by those who whilst believing that man was created in the Divine image, and that his soul is immortal, still do not believe that the Holy One made a distinction between sacred and profane in this world by choosing one nation above the other nations to be unto Him a Holy Nation and a Peculiar People, and that the light of Prophecy shone upon some of them, and that He had given them the Torah from heaven, statutes and ordinances that are not products of the earthly administrations but highly exalted above them, as they emanate from the Most High, but instead of that they believe that all are equal and should be guided by natural laws only according to human intelligence. The fifth degree of disbelief is possessed by those who, although they believe that the Holy One chose Israel and sanctified them by His commandments, yet cast doubts upon the Torah given us through our lawgiver Moses, of blessed memory, with its interpretation which we have accepted with perfect faith, and they revile its narrations and commandments and so forth. There is no form of skepticism or Epicureanism that is not embraced in these five degrees of disbelief. 1. He who profanes the holy offerings, because he does not believe in anything holy, neither in the heavens above nor on the earth below. 2. He who despises the solemn feasts because he does not believe the world was created, therefore he despises the Sabbath that testifies to creation, and all the solemn feasts which celebrate the wonderful deeds of the Creator. 3. He who puts his neighbor to the blush in public because he does not believe that man was created in the Divine image, and he does not esteem a human being any more than a beast. 4. He who makes void the covenant of our father Abraham, because he does not believe that the Holy One, blessed be He, chose Israel as a holy nation unto Him, and that He spoke to them from heaven, and therefore does he violate the covenant of Abraham, which is the commandment of circumcision that the Holy One, blessed be He, had commanded Abraham to perform, whereby he and his seed were to be distinguished from all other nations as Holy unto the Lord. 5. He who puts a construction on the Torah that is not in accordance with the Jewish law, because he does not believe that the Torah is from Heaven, or that he says that certain portions of it are only the products of a human mind. Although they have a knowledge of the Torah and some meritorious deeds, yet their thoughts have taken such a form that they do not believe in life eternal, and as they are repaid measure for measure—in what they do not believe that they will not enjoy.

When General Grant was in Japan the Japanese Premier, Prince Kung, desiring to compliment the General by telling him that he was born to command, tried it in English, with this result:

"Sir, brave General, you was made to order."

"Are you ambitious to die rich?"
"I'm not ambitious to die in any condition."

"Come on, Essie. There's no use arguin' with her. She kin make twice as bad faces as you kin."

"I wonder what that Chinaman is doing up so late."

"Shirts, I suppose."

She (cooly)—How did you come to propose to me? He—by street car, darling.

Teacher—Who can tell me what sailors live on? Willie Bright—Water, most of the time.

Benham—He called me a driveling idiot. Mrs. Benham—Well, don't drivel.

"How much does your wife pay for her hats?"

"Too much."

Employer—Are you afraid of early hours? Applicant—No, sir. You can't close too early for me, sir.

EXPLANATION-MATTER IN ITALICS IS NEW. MATTER IN BRACKETS [ ] IS OLD MATTER TO BE OMITTED. STATE OF NEW YORK, OFFICE OF THE Secretary of State, Albany, July 22, 1913.-Pursuant to the provisions of section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section two hundred and ninety-five of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section seven of article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York is to be submitted to the people for approval at the next general election in this State to be held on the fourth day of November, nineteen hundred and thirteen. MITCHELL MAY, Secretary of State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR. Concurrent Resolution of the Senate and Assembly, Proposing an amendment to section seven, article seven, of the constitution, in relation to storage reservoirs and hydraulic developments in the forest preserve. Section 7. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section seven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows: § 7. Forest preserve. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired [ ] constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest land. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. But the legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines hereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen. § 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be submitted to the people for approval at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and thirteen, in accordance with the provisions of the election law.

State of New York, In Senate, April 14, 1913.-The foregoing resolution was duly passed, a majority of all the Senators elected voting in favor thereof. By order of the Senate, MARTIN H. GLENN, President.

State of New York, In Assembly, April 30, 1913.-The foregoing resolution was duly passed, a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly voting in favor thereof. By order of the Assembly, ALFRED E. SMITH, Speaker.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss: I have compared the preceding copy of concurrent resolution with the original concurrent resolution on file in this office, and I do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole thereof. Given under my hand and the seal of office of the Secretary of State at the city of Albany, this twenty-second day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. [L. S.] MITCHELL MAY, Secretary of State.

FORM FOR SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR. Shall the proposed amendment to Section Seven of Article Seven of the Constitution, designated in the election notice as Amendment Number Four, providing for the use by the state of not to exceed three per centum of the forest preserve lands for the construction and maintenance of state-controlled reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and for the regulation of the flow of streams, and imposing regulations for the apportionment between property and municipalities benefited of the expense thereof, be approved?
