

B'nai Israel Congregation

NORTH HIGHLAND AVENUE AND RIPPEY STREET

The increasing population in the East Liberty section soon necessitated the organization of an East End congregation for the Orthodox followers, and hence came about the incorporation of the B'nai Israel Congregation. For years services were held in a building on Penn Avenue. Finding these quarters inadequate the congregation soon moved to the Masonic Temple, Collins Avenue. These quarters were used until the property at Highland Avenue and Rippey Street was purchased. Rabbi S. M. Neches presided over the congregation until the coming of Rabbi Benjamin A. Lichter, native Pittsburgher, from Far Rockaway, N. Y. In 1912, the Ladies' Auxiliary was founded. The coming of Rabbi Lichter has brought about a decided change in the prospects of the B'nai Israel. He has injected new enthusiasm into the members. The Latovah Society, an organization of Young People started by Rabbi Lichter, is making a name for itself in Pittsburgh.
